THE ACTUAL WORK OF LISTING POLLS

According to a schedule drawn up by Thomas H. Atkinson, superintendent of police and chairman of the Lowell listing board, 62 regular patrolmen of the police department will do the actual work of listing polls in this city, beginning next Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock.

In discussing plans concerning the listing today, Supt. Atkinson said he will use regular patrolmen for the job as he believes they are more familiar with streets and persons than supernumeraries and will be able to complete the work more rapidly. He plans to use two patrolmen in each of the city's 21 voting precincts, although in three or four particularly large districts a third officer may be put on as an assistant. Day and evening work as well will be ordered, for it is in the evening that the majority of people in some precincts can be found at their homes.

The patrolling of day routes will be done by supernumerary officers during the listing period and while it will be more or less a skeleton organization, the superintendent feels it will be adequate from the standpoint of protection. While regular patrolmen are doing listing work they will not be required to ring any duty calls, except in event of an emergency.

WILL NOT HOLD LOWELL
DAY OBSERVANCE

Lowell day will not be observed in the grammar schools of Lowell next Monday but it is expected that exercises commemorative of that day will be held one week from Monday, April 2. This postponement is necessary as the essay contest among the school children, sponsored by the chamber of commerce, has been postponed until next week, and the Lowell day exercises usually take the form of the reading of these essays to the school. The high school will hold its exercises on Monday morning as usual. Although the schools do not officially celebrate the day next Monday, many teachers will hold informal exercises in their rooms.

TRIED TO HANG HIMSELF IN CELL

The timely appearance of Police Officer Joseph L. Lamoureux at the cell in the local police station in which Robert E. Fato, 30, of Lawrence, was confined, was the means of averting a probable suicide about 11 o'clock this morning when Fato, a victim of delirium tremens, attempted to hang himself from a bar of the prison door by means of an improvised halter manufactured from his coat lining and overalls.

Fato was arrested in Providence last night by Edward Cheney and John T.

GAVE LECTURE ON HEALTH AND HYGIENE

Dr. G. O. Sappington, industrial research worker for the Harvard School of Public Health, declared that there Colby, Harry Lomas, Warren Hoad is a great need today of a more balanced life with health placed upon a real business basis. In an address on health and hygiene delivered last evening before the members of the First Baptist church Round Table, work and spoke on personal hygiene. Supper was served at 6:30 o'clock by from the time of primitive man to the present day. The foreword was of interest because it referred to industrial centers like Lowell. The speaker's present field of activities has mostly to do with cities where there are large industries and the scope of the service is far-spreading, many benefits being realized at the very start. Dr. Sappington described "the biological changes" which human beings have passed through from the time when a man took an erect posture and ceased vegetarianism, until he developed in the 11th stage to a personage who substituted for close concrete fears, a longer range of vision and a solitude of provident life. The speaker explained the need of greater mental, physical and spiritual health. These must be grouped together in order that happiness and good health may be realized—real health meaning, in a broad sense, "to live most and serve best."

HISTORY OF NEW ENGLAND

HAT AND CAP SHOP

About two years ago a new idea was presented to the people of Lowell, Hats and Caps direct from maker to wearer. Like all new ideas the people take to them gradually and with caution. But gradually the people of Lowell woke to the fact that they could purchase hats and caps which were not only superior as regards style, quality and workmanship, but at a price that was far below the actual value.

The originator of this new idea was The New England Hat and Cap Shop at 296 Middlesex Street.

Hats and Caps were manufactured before the very eyes of the people of Lowell. Anybody could look through the front show windows and see the machinery humming and turning out your finished Caps. Perhaps some of you can remember this familiar sight.

However, like all pioneer industries, they must begin small and educate the public to the advantages and value of the new idea. The concern finds that it must expand because of the LARGER demands of the product.

Such has been the case with the New England Hat and Cap Shop. The need for more store and manufacturing space has necessitated the removing of the machinery and equipment to a room in the rear of the store, where your Hat and Cap is now being manufactured. This enables the better handling of customers, free from noise from the humming motors and interference from the bulky machinery.

Indeed it was not a pleasant feeling to one who had been engaged for eight or nine hours of a fatiguing labor during the day to have himself reminded of a factory when he came into our establishment to purchase a Hat or a Cap. This condition has been done away with and you will be greeted by more pleasing surroundings when you come to buy of us.

Moreover, our stock is in better condition now, the stirring up of dust by busy and tireless machinery being done away with by their removal to a more advantageous and convenient spot.

Furthermore, the increased production space enables a better Cap to be turned out and in greater volume, thus bringing an added saving to our consumers.

Not only does the New England Hat and Cap Shop make Caps for stock orders, but it makes them custom made with or without your own material for those people who want to have an exact match to their suit or overcoat or for those who want to be a little out of the ordinary.

The New England Hat and Cap Shop expects and will receive your patronage in the future in their new up-to-date renovated quarters.

The biggest Hat and Cap store—always largest, variety in color and shapes.

PROF. BUSHNELL ADMITS FAULTS OF PURITANS

HOSTON, March 30.—"It is clearly established that in the midst of the Puritan communities there was much drunkenness, dissipation, debauchery and uncleanness."

With these words, Albert Bushnell Hart, professor of government at Harvard university, writing in the New York Times Current History for April, backs up some of the remarks made in the same magazine, a month ago, by President Emeritus Charles W. Eliot, who created a stir by asserting that there was much drunkenness among the early Puritans, and that many of the leading Puritan families went down hill through the drunkenness of their members.

Prof. Hart writes of Rev. Cotton Mather, chiefly known as a leader in the movement to maintain a law and order by the execution of witches. "He had a terrible experience with an absolutely worthless, drunken son," says Prof. Hart. "Liquor was cheap, plentiful and freely used, especially the hard kinds. The earliest colonies, therefore, began the course of restrictions and limitations of liquor selling and liquor premises which gradually expanded into our blue laws."

About Puritan blue laws, the professor says: "Puritan penalties were in general no more severe than in the other colonies, but Massachusetts must bear the terrible responsibility for the only executions in all the colonies for witchcraft and for the heresy of the Quakers."

"Thank God the public whippings, the branding of the forebrow and the torches of fire, known throughout the American colonies as legal penalties, grew milder as the descendants of the colonists went westward. And yet nowadays those discarded cruelties have been taken up by secret societies and lawless lynchers. Lynch law is a return to all the worst that was in the law of our ancestors, without the protection of courts and juries."

Of the Puritan government, Prof. Hart says: "They made the church the state. Thus they created a government that was nowhere as free as it looked. The Puritans cherished strong, repulsive beliefs. They intensely enjoyed damnation, preferably that of others; but some of the Puritan divines insisted that the highest type of Christianity was to be willing to be damned for the glory of God. It was not their theology, however, that made the Puritans so strong. Their doctrine, all things considered, was not so much more severe than the present religious point of view, of, say, William J. Bryan."

Nevertheless, Prof. Hart believes that the Puritans played one of the major parts in building America. He points to Puritan influence in movements like the Antislavery movement. Then he says: "The great question with regard to the Puritans, after all, is not whether they were consistent or temperate, but how far they did their job in the world and taught later generations to do their jobs. As a descendant of a line of New England ancestors, the writer feels a natural pride in the part played by the Puritans in our national life."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
The matinee performance at the B. F. Keith theatre began at 3 o'clock, instead of the usual hour. The evening performance will begin at the usual hour. The bill is of unusual brilliancy, with special favorites heading it as Seed & Austin, Rae Eleanor Hall and Brother, Hank Brown & Co., and Hartley & Patterson. Others on the bill are Ethel Linkins, Lester Noel & Co. and the Roma Duo.

RIALTO THEATRE
But two more days remain in which to see "The Greatest Showman," which has been drawing capacity audiences to the Rialto theatre all this week. The picture is one of the best of the entire season and carries a decidedly strong moral. Today and Saturday are the last days.

THE STRAND
Conway Tearle in "The Referee" and Grace Darmond in "The Midnight Guest" are the contributing features in a high-grade program at the Strand. The former is the story of a reformer, John McArdle, who makes good his reputation for honesty, under most trying circumstances. The second picture is also an intimate and forceful reflection of life itself. The usual comedy and weekly are good.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Only a few opportunities remain for Lowell people to see "Dark Secrets," a notable Paramount dramatic production, starring Dorothy Dalton at the Merrimack Square theatre. The other feature of the current program is "All the Brothers Were Valiant," a Ben Ames Williams story. On Sunday the great Cecil De Mille spectacle, "Adams' Rib," will open a week's engagement.

Total cost of the League of Nations last year was more than $5,000,000.

CALVARY CHURCH HAS ANNUAL MEETING

Deacon Louis Browning was honored for faithful service in Calvary Baptist church religious work by being tendered a unanimous vote of thanks at the annual meeting of the church, workers held in the vestry, last evening. He was re-elected again and informed that no one shall be elected to fill his place. This is a special honor for faithful service. William Morgan was the retiring deacon.

Rev. Henry K. Vye was moderator of the church meeting, which was largely attended. Deacon Richard Gumb acted as moderator of the church corporation meeting. These officers read reports that were promptly accepted: Clerk Charles E. Lalline, Collector Louis Browning and Treasurer Sterling B. Crosby.

At the church corporation meeting, urser Sterling B. Crosby, Mr. Brown, who is to remove from the city, was replaced by Alfred W. Phinney. The other officers chosen included Assistant Collector Eleanor G. Dows, Treasurer Sterling H. Crosby, Finance Committee Charles E. Thurston, T. Harold Hanscom, Richard Gumb; auditors, John G. Gordon, Mildred Bixby, Kenneth A. Stewart, nominating committee, Mrs. F. M. Beck, Richard Gumb, George R. Myers, Sterling B. Crosby and Ernest Craig.

A rising vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Browning for his ten-year service as collector of the church. A resolutions committee to draw up and formally present a permanent expression of the members' feelings toward the departing deacon, included J. O. Phinney, John G. Gordon and Charles E. Lalline. At the church corporation meeting,

Over 6 per cent. of the total expenditures of Great Britain is for wars, old and new.

CONCERT BY BOSTON SYMPHONY ENSEMBLE

The committee in charge of the Stages Greeley Parker lectures announces that arrangements have just been made for the postponed concert by the Boston Symphony Ensemble which has been definitely scheduled for Wednesday evening, April 26, at the Lowell Memorial Auditorium. The program which was prepared for March 3 will be presented and Mr. Henry Gideon will carry out the lecture feature of the entertainment.

The committee also states that it became necessary sometime ago for Mr. B. R. Baumgardt to cancel his date announced on the second series tickets for April 1, because he was recalled by the University of California to start immediately upon his lecture tour throughout the state to prepare the people of California for an understanding of the approaching eclipse of the sun. This is an interesting experiment in which a great state university undertakes to educate all the people of the state and get them ready for the proper understanding of an extraordinary natural phenomenon. It is probable that nothing of the sort so large a scale has ever before been attempted. The committee deemed it the proper thing to release Mr. Baumgardt in order that he should carry on this great work.

Wall-paintings which have been hidden under whitewash for 600 years are now being restored, at Easton church, Norfolk, England.

REAPPEARANCE OF COLIN O'MORE

The coming concert by Colin O'More, the celebrated lyric tenor, is expected to prove one of the outstanding musical events of the season. Next Thursday night is the date upon which this famous artist, who made such a deep impression here on Feb. 11, is to make his reappearance by popular request. Judging from the advance demand for tickets, a great crowd will be on hand to greet Mr. O'More, who in this his first season on concert tour has scored brilliant successes in New York, Boston, Providence, Lowell and elsewhere. In fact, in every city in which he appeared return engagements followed.

Tickets are on sale at Steiner's store in Merrimack street.

Women friends of Grand Army veterans entertained in Post 120 hall, Merrimack street, yesterday afternoon and evening, the program including a successful supper and two whist parties arranged for the benefit of the Lowell association of New Hampshire G. A. R. veterans. The affair was organized by Mrs. John V. Daniels, whose husband is a G. A. R. veteran, and Mrs. W. A. Coburn. They were assisted by many friends glad to aid the entertainment planners and be of service to the war veterans and their supporters. Whist was played in the afternoon, beginning at 2.30 o'clock. Prizes were awarded during intermission at 5 o'clock. Mrs. Ada Myrick had direct charge of the supper that followed. Afterward a candy counter was patronized by many. At 8 o'clock tables were cleared for whist again. First prize, a table lamp, donated by the John L. Robertson Co., was won by Charles Barker. A second prize, bouquet lamp, was awarded Miss Amy Stanley, and a booby prize, basket of candy, was captured by Miss Sarah Peabody. The winners of the ladies whist

WINS HONORS IN ENGINEERING SCHOOL

Mr. Henry H. Harris, headmaster at the high school, has received a letter from the head of the school of engineering, Northeastern university, stating that David C. Milne, a former resident of Lowell who entered the army while attending the local high school and later was injured fighting in France, has won high honors in his department at school.

Although Mr. Milne no longer resides in Lowell, there are many of his friends here who remember him and will be interested to hear of his success in the engineering school.

The letter follows:

Dear Sir:—You will no doubt be pleased to learn that David C. Milne is an honor student in the School of Engineering of Northeastern university for the period ending March 3, 1923. This means that he has received an average of 80 per cent or over in the subjects in the engineering curriculum pursued during the current year for the period ending on the above date.

We are glad to have Mr. Milne as a student in the school.

COMMUNICATION

Editor of The Lowell Sun,
Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:—I would like you to publish in the columns of your paper this letter in fairness and justice to the patrons of dances and managers of dance halls in this vicinity.

For the past month at different dates, articles have appeared in our local papers on conditions at dance halls which have been a detriment to the business.

Prohibition has made conditions that never existed before, but nevertheless conditions in dance halls in Lowell are better than any city in New England and much better than they ever were.

There are many young ladies and gentlemen in Lowell and vicinity who have to work for small wages and they find pleasure in dancing and come to the hall to enjoy dancing as ladies and gentlemen should, without spending much money as they have to in the Auditorium, where the prices are too high for their earnings.

The Auditorium has been used for dancing and has been praised by your paper for the dances held there, and in one of your articles in "The Man About Town" one of your writers inferred that dances are not seen there in the Auditorium that are allowed in the other dance halls.

Now, for my part, I wish to state that I have co-operated with clergy, police women and social workers on the dancing question and personally supervise all parties in Associate hall, and any suggestion offered to help the morale of these people always was put into effect if possible. I have tried to give to the people of Lowell a hall second to none for dancing at the smallest admission possible and in the course of my lease, which is four years, will across a financial business and it would be foolish of me to at-low these conditions to exist that are being referred to now.

I would like you to visit Associate hall when we have capacity crowds and see conditions as they are and notice the deportment and manners of these young ladies and gentlemen that have been praised highly by every social worker, police woman and orchestra that came here from out of town.

Trusting that you will find time to give us a visit and I am sure you will find a happy, decent and respect-table party, with one thought for all and that is the motto of Associate hall, "On with the Dance."

Thanking you in advance, I remain
Yours truly,
FRANCIS J. ROANE, Mgr., Associate Hall.

No Other Face or Figure Exactly Like Yours

Not within a thousand miles—possibly not in the whole world—is there another man with exactly the same face and body as yours.

MITCHELL CLOTHES ARE CUSTOM CUT

Each suit and overcoat individually tailored to YOUR BODY—cut for you only—not thousands at one time.

I sell to the wearer direct at only a small margin of profit.

ATTENTION!

If your garment was promised for Easter, it will positively be ready.
Signed, MITCHELL.

And yet there are Men in this city who are what might be termed swell dressers—and there are those who have the idea that to be in that class they must go to Boston or New York and patronize a Fifth Avenue shop. Now I would like to dissipate that idea. I want all men to know they can get as fine service right here in this city as they can get in Boston, New York, Paris, or London, and this is not an idle statement, but an honest-to-goodness truth. Here's my proposition:—I am classed as a popular-priced tailor, and truthfully so, but I will duplicate any $50.00 garment made in Boston or any other place for $35.00. I'll fit you as well as human ingenuity and skill will permit. I'll guarantee the cloth will be the best that can be procured, and if in making the garment I fail to measure up to what you think the garment ought to be, I'll keep it and thank you for the courtesy of having given me the chance I've longed for. That's about as far as anyone can go. Think so?

I've never been ashamed of the patterns shown in my shop, and I believe I have exercised more care in cloth selection this season than ever before, and there are thousands of yards of the most beautiful patterns on display. Needless to say that every fabric will stand the acid test. When a manufacturer will weave his name in the selvage of the cloth and the original ticket is on the bolt, it means something—and I have hundreds of such patterns. All I ask is: Look my line over; get samples before you make any definite choice elsewhere.

Suit or Overcoat to Order

My organization is ready to serve you, ready to take your measure, cut the cloth, then tailor the garment to your individual requirements, and I have over three hundred different patterns, including blacks and blues, to select from. Easter Special to order—

Indian War Has "Movie" Color

PIUTE INDIANS ENGAGED IN WARFARE AGAINST WHITES IN UTAH. INDIAN AT RIGHT ABOVE IS "BISHOP'S BOY," WHOSE ARREST CAUSED THE WAR AND WHO LATER WAS KILLED. INSET SHOWS UNITED STATES MARSHAL J. RAY WARD.

By NEA Service
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, March 29.—

All the picturesque features that characterize Indian warfare as depicted in "penny dreadfuls" and wild west movies have been resurrected in what is probably America's last Indian war, now being ended in the mountains near here.

"Old Posey," reputed leader of the warring Piutes and Utes, took part in warfare against the whites when the war was young.

He is said to have surrounded himself with a body of old-time scalpers who are ready to amputate the hair of any whites that come within their grasp.

War Paint Used

War paint and the traditional war attire of the tribes is being used.

Fighting on both sides is being carried out from behind trees, stumps and rocks. The locale of the battle is the wildest part of the Utah mountains.

But this last flash of insurrection on the part of the fast vanishing Redskins is doomed to failure. For even now the mountains have been wiped almost clean of renegade Redskins by forces under the direction of United States Marshal J. Ray Ward.

There have been frequent clashes between the settlers and the Indians of San Juan county during the last few years and now the settlers are determined to rid the country of the Indian menace.

The present trouble started when "Old Dutch's Boy" and "Bishop's Boy" were seized for robbing a sheep camp. The Piute Indians surrounded the village of Hlanding, opened fire on the town and rescued the two youths.

Instigator Killed

Later "Bishop's Boy" was shot and killed by the white posse.

Formerly the Indians of Utah camped close to Salt Lake city and were seen frequently in the streets. Gradually they retreated and were placed on reservation.

The Old Posey gang, composed largely of young renegades from several tribes as well as the Piute and Ute, never stayed long on the reservation.

BILLS DEALING WITH LIQUOR

Legislative Committee on Legal Affairs Soon to Report on Two Measures

One Calls for Referendum on the Volstead Law—The Other to Enforce Law

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, March 30.—That the legislative committee on legal affairs is soon to report two bills dealing with the liquor traffic is disclosed in letters received by members of the legislature, and signed by a representative of the Anti-Saloon league.

One of the bills to be reported will provide for a referendum on the Volstead law; the other will provide for additional state machinery to be used in enforcing the law.

The Anti-Saloon league declares, in its letter, that the two bills are inconsistent, and urges defeat of the first and passage of the second.

"House 314 (the first) calls for a referendum on repealing the 18th amendment and amending the Volstead act to make legal the manufacture, transportation and sale of beer and endow has any value, and the content," the letter reads. "We urge you to oppose this bill for the following reasons:

(1) Such a referendum is futile, as Massachusetts alone cannot effect a change in either of these particulars. Nothing short of a nation-wide referendum has any value, and the constitution of the United States has no provision for a referendum.

(2) For the legislature to enact this bill would discourage law enforcement

WOMEN SHOULD ACT QUICKLY

When a woman finds herself afflicted with headache, dizziness, nervousness, dragging-down pains, pain in her side, irregularities and irritability, dark circles appear under the eyes and her complexion gets sallow, she may be sure the underlying cause is some ailment peculiar to her sex. Such women should act quickly and take the great American remedy for such conditions, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and they may be saved years of suffering. For generations this old-fashioned root and herb medicine has been restoring ailing women to health, and it may be relied upon with perfect confidence.—Adv.

support came almost solely from a few individuals.

(4) The Association Against the Prohibition amendment last year polled the senators and congressmen on the matters involved in house 314 and the electorate in their districts in effect approved their views on this subject in electing them last fall. No further referendum is necessary.

(5) If a referendum should carry in the state, but not in every congressional district, what position would a congressman then take? This shows the referendum is nothing but a straw vote.

(6) The 18th amendment prohibits intoxicating beverages. A congressman should not be asked to violate his oath to uphold the constitution by supporting a bill legalizing beer and wines admittedly intoxicating. Such a referendum, if a majority of the votes cast thereon should be affirmative, would virtual demand violation.

As to its own bill, house 641, the league writes:

"House 641 is the minimum of law enforcement. We trust the legislature will pass it for the following reasons:

(1) Because the existing state law deals effectively only with the sale of intoxicating liquor. There is no state law relative to the manufacture and transportation of intoxicating liquor, although there was a transportation law which was omitted in the recent codification of the general laws.

(2) Necessity for this legislation was strongly urged before the committee by the president of the Association of Chiefs of Police of Massachusetts. It was further urged by the attorney general and by district attorneys reporting upon the matter to the attorney general, and by representatives of organizations whose membership run into the thousands.

(3) Without this legislation the 4000 to 5000 police officers of the state, together with the various courts of the state cannot be effectively utilized to deal with the increasing violations of the law, because of the lack of sufficient federal officers. This existing state machinery can be used with little, if any extra expense to the state and there will be a large revenue from fines.

(4) Massachusetts ratified the 18th amendment and is now one of the only two states that have failed to pass concurrent legislation. It is clearly the duty of the legislature to have Massachusetts keep faith with her sister states by passing house bill 641.

(5) In house 1557 of 1922, a minority of the committee on legal affairs opposed to the enforcement act upon the ballot last November stated in section 3 of their report: "By amending the law as it stands now with the insertion of the words 'manufacture and transport' in the appropriate sections to make it a crime to manufacture and transport intoxicating liquors, the commonwealth of Massachusetts could have all the enforcement of the law which the 18th amendment demands."

"In drafting house 641 this year, the petitioners kept in mind the suggestions of the minority members of the committee on legal affairs of last year."

Pimples Are Impurities Seeking an Outlet Through Skin Pores

Pimples, sores and boils usually result from toxins, poisons and impurities which are excreted in the blood and then absorbed into the blood through the skin pores which should absorb only nourishment to sustain the body.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine, but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can eliminate; then the blood uses the skin pores as the next best means of getting rid of these impurities, which often break out all over the skin in the form of pimples.

The surest way to clear the skin of these eruptions, says a noted authority, is to get from any pharmacy about 1/2 lb. of salt and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water each morning before breakfast for one week. This will help prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels. It also stimulates the kidneys, thus coaxing them to filter the blood of impurities and clearing the skin of pimples.

And salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with alkali. Here you have a pleasant effervescent drink which usually helps make pimples disappear.—Adv.

Baldness is More
Ever Before

You cannot stop falling hair, relieve dandruff, itching or dry, scaly scalp by any sort of shampooing, alcoholic soaps, ointments or greases. To get up a lather, you must have soap. All soaps and shampoos contain ALKALI which is VERY INJURIOUS to hair and scalp. Vaseline and Grease ABSORB the water from the skin and, therefore, are harmful. It is absolutely IMPOSSIBLE to relieve dandruff by washing the head. This only cures MORE dandruff and destroys the natural oils. Alcoholic remedies likewise are harmful to skin, hair and natural oils. Crude Oil, like kerosene, contains too much naphtha to be of any value. Olive and other commonly used oils simply OIL the scalp. They lack the stimulative properties that are necessary to put SNAP into the roots of the hair. Griff-Penn's Hair Grower is ALF oil; without almost any rubbing with the fingers, it gives the PROPER STIMULATION. It will stop falling, relieve (not cure) dandruff WITHOUT harming you in the least. It will, however, and is promoting GROWTH of HAIR for many men, women and children of Lowell and HUNDREDS of others throughout the country. YOUNG ACTRESSES
APPEAL TO FANS

BERLIN, March 29.—Germany's Hollywood lies in the very heart of Berlin. It is on the edge of the zoological garden and is overlooked by the Kaiser Wilhelm memorial church, which the Kaiser used to attend before his hurried flight to Holland.

Films are produced also in Munich and several other places in the German republic, but the greatest film-producing company has its indoor and outdoor studios together in the very center of the best section of Berlin. Many street car lines converge at this point and passengers are able to see over the stone walls surrounding the outdoor studio.

It is not uncommon for Julius Caesar, Lucretia Borgia, Frederick the Great, Henry the Eighth and Mary Queen of Scots and their supporting companies to appear before plaster walls and plaster palaces with as great a gallery watching over the walls as may be found outside an American ball park when a championship series is on.

The movie park is not as large as Universal City and many of the other parks in California, but it has a background of beautiful forest trees and shrubbery and the adjoining zoological gardens afford a great variety of animals.

Elephants, camels and giraffes can be produced on short notice for Hannibal and the Pharaohs. There are also small lakes within easy reach for water scenes.

Epstein, with his many palaces, is a favorite place with moving picture producers. Sans Souci palace, especially, is frequently used as a background for French dramas of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, and the Potsdam city palace, with Frederick the Great's old parade ground, is a popular setting for German films with a military background.

Actors and actresses of the legitimate stage are used in the German movies far more than they are in America. There is not the same demand here for extremely youthful heroines that exists in the United States, and the Germans like to see their favorite legitimate actresses in films even if they are not as beautiful as the juveniles who have claimed the spotlight in the American movie world.

But there are indications that the taste in Germany is changing with the importation of more recent American films which feature actresses in their teens. Historic and character films, which afforded excellent opportunity for actors without either youth or beauty, have been somewhat overdone, and the German movie fans are turning toward lighter pictures.

FARMERS' SUCCESS SETS NATION'S PACE

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The urgent need for a better understanding between the important groups of citizens engaged in agriculture, in industry, and in general business is forcefully pointed out by Henry C. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, in a statement discussing their relationship.

"As our civilization becomes more complex," he declares, "the relationship between agriculture, industry and general business becomes more and more intimate. What hurts the one will certainly hurt the others. In general, what helps one will help the others. They must work together for the common good."

"There has always been a tacit recognition of our national dependence upon agriculture. We have given an intellectual assent to such statements as, 'the farmer is the backbone of the nation,' 'a prosperous nation depends upon a prosperous agriculture,' 'agriculture is the basis of national life,' and so on. The truth of such statements has never been driven home to us as effectively as during the last two years."

The drop in prices which began early in 1920 is familiar history. Farmers were the first to suffer and suffered most. Taking prices of 1913 as representing 100, the prices of farm products in May, 1920, stood at 238. During that month they began to fall, and before the decline could be arrested they had dropped below the 1913 level, standing at 94 in December, 1921. Then we had a terribly vivid illustration of our dependence upon agriculture and the intimate relationship between agricultural prosperity and business prosperity. Many farmers could not pay present expenses. The ratio between prices of things the farmers produced and sold and prices of the things they bought was so distorted that they were forced to practice the most rigid economy and reduce their buying to absolute necessities. Great industries which depend directly upon farm buying were plunged almost immediately into prostration and depression. Thousands of manufacturing plants had a similar experience. The railroads suffered through reduction in freight on things farmers buy. Businesses of every sort shared the disaster. Hundreds of banks failed. Thousands of banks tottered along the edge of bankruptcy. Perhaps three million men were thrown out of work. The financial depression was widespread.

"The turn was reached in the winter of 1921-22, since which time there has been a gradual increase in the prices of farm products. Gradually farmers have been able to pay some of their debts and resume their buying. As a result there has been a steady improvement in business, until now there is general optimism. The ratio between prices of farm products and prices of other commodities is still abnormal. Until this ratio becomes more nearly normal the full measure of prosperity will not be restored."

"While the experience of the last three years has brought sharply to our attention the intimate relationship between business and agriculture, the existence of such intimate relationship is no new thing. A comparison of the farmer's purchasing power with business failures during the last third of a century tells the story in a graphic way. During the 10 years 1890 to 1900 the purchasing power of the farmer was below the 30 year average; the percentage of business failures was considerably above. From 1900 to 1920 there was a gradual increase in the farmer's purchasing power. From 1901 to 1905 this purchasing power was almost the average of the 30 year period, while from 1905 to 1920 it was considerably above. The percentage of business failures dropped below the 30 year average from 1920 to 1922 with the exception of two short periods, one in 1908 and the other in 1914 and 1915.

"We have about 8,000,000 farms. More than one-fourth of all our people who are engaged in gainful occupations work on the farms. The capital invested in farming is about 70 billion dollars. The money invested in farm buildings, machinery and live stock, not including the value of the farm land, would buy all the railroads in the United States and in addition a considerable number of the mines."

"The number of people engaged in farming is 30 per cent greater now than in 1870, but the volume of crop production in 1920 was 250 per cent greater than in 1870."

"Business and agriculture are dependent upon each other. A prosperous agriculture means a prosperous nation. It is to the advantage of the business man that the farmer be fairly prosperous. Conversely it is to the advantage of either that either the one or the other should be so prosperous that it stimulates, because adversity always follows such a period."

Fight for Cemetery Waged By Farmers and Oil Men

VIEWS OF THE CHURCH AND CEMETERY AT PRAIRIE VIEW, OKLA., BASIS OF A FIGHT BETWEEN FARMERS AND OIL INTERESTS. NOTE THE DERRICKS PUSHED UP TO THE VERY BORDER OF THE CHURCH GROUNDS. INSET, SAM MCKEE, FARMER MADE RICH THROUGH OIL, WHO IS FIGHTING WITH THE FARMERS AGAINST THE OIL INTERESTS.

By NEA Service
PRAIRIE VIEW, Okla., March 29.—With the possession of a country church—a white frame structure—and its adjacent cemetery as an issue, armed warfare has broken out in this hitherto peaceful community between two rival groups.

On the one hand are the farmers of Prairie View, who have resolved the sanctity of their church and of the last resting place of 250 pioneers of this region shall not be desecrated—and they are ready to back up their determination with shotguns.

They are opposed by a powerful oil corporation which claims it has secured a lease to the property occupied by the church and graveyard and demands the right to sink oil wells on the hallowed ground.

In Itch Oil Region
Prairie View is in the heart of the rich Tonkawa petroleum region. Where wheat fields peacefully waved two years ago, a gaunt forest of derricks stands today.

Farmers have become millionaires over night. Derricks rear their heads to heaven in the very back yards of farmhouses. Oil wells were sunk within a few feet of the church and cemetery fence.

Farmers watched all these changes come and were not disturbed until—

One oil company announced a few days ago it had secured the right to drill on the land occupied by the United Brethren Church, built in 1901, and the churchyard where the bones of this community's ancestors have been consigned to rest.

A representative of the oil company advanced into the churchyard and started an excavation. A group of farmers arrived, picked the oil man up by the seat of the trousers and deposited him unceremoniously outside the confines of the sacred soil.

Armed Guards Posted

Then the farmers organized a body, armed with revolvers and shotguns, to maintain a 24-hour watch daily over the sacred spot.

At the same time the oil interests answered by posting a patrol on their property adjoining the church.

So today on one side of the fence the farmer patrol paces ceaselessly while on the other side the oil company's watchers mount guard, making the humble churchyard fence take on the appearance of an international boundary.

J. B. Thompson is captain of the farmers' guard. He has divided his men into groups and four are kept on "picket duty" at all times.

Sam McKee, a farmer who has made thousands in oil royalties, is one of the leaders in opposing desecration of the cemetery by oil interests.

While the armed guards continue their patrol, the whole matter is being threshed out in court. The circuit court has just issued a temporary order restraining the oil interests from drilling on the church property. A further ruling is expected within a few days.

PHILIPPINE EXPORTS INCREASE

MANILA, P. I., March 30.—Exports from the Philippine Islands to the United States in 1922 exceeded those of 1921 by more than $13,000,000, but the imports from the United States decreased approximately $26,000,000, according to the figures just compiled by the bureau of customs.

The total trade with the United States in 1922 amounted to $111,849,000, of which $64,116,000 was exports and $47,733,000 was imports. The total trade in 1921 was $124,486,000, the exports being $50,356,000 and the imports $74,130,000.

British ships carried the largest portion of the total trade of the Philippines in 1922, their cargoes being valued at $67,786,000, while American ships carried goods valued at $62,000,000.

PLAN WORLD'S LARGEST ELECTRIC PLANT

CHICAGO, March 30. (By the Associated Press).—Electrical engineers the world over are watching Chicago in her attempt to rear the largest electric plant in the world—a station whose ultimate capacity will be approximately 900,000 horse power, or 600,000 kilowatts. The largest plant now in operation anywhere has a capacity rating of 230,000 kilowatts.

The new station, the project of the Commonwealth Edison company, purveyor of things electrical to almost the entire Chicago territory, is expected to be in operation by August, 1924. The generating room, which is in house 10 huge steam turbo-generator units, each capable of producing 40,000 to 50,000 kilowatts, will be slightly more than 800 feet long and 125 feet wide. Each generator will produce 60-cycle current at 12,000 volts. The entire plant, comprising three principal units in addition to the turbine room, will occupy 72 acres of city property. Storage space for 350,000 tons of coal is provided. Fuel requirements for the anticipated normal operation, which is expected to reach capacity, will be about 125,000 tons of coal daily, or approximately 2,000,000 tons a year.

Economy of fuel was a chief aim of the designers, and to what extent their efforts in this direction were successful is indicated by the announcement that the same electrical output under the most efficient operating practice developed in years ago would be required close to 3,500,000 tons of coal, or 50 per cent more than will be required in the new plant.

Availability of super-high-pressure steam boilers with which to operate the turbo-generators was the principal factor productive of the higher mechanical efficiency. The specially designed steam plant will feed the turbines at 150 pounds to the square inch, which compares with a pressure of 225 pounds in the local station of the Commonwealth Edison company, the largest and generally accepted as the most efficient fuel-power producer now in operation. Fifty boilers, five to each generating unit, make up the energy center. Five steel smoke stacks, 19 feet in diameter and 175 feet high will carry off the smoke from their insalubrious throats.

Still another superlative appendage of the new plant will be its primary feed cables to other generating stations, designed to facilitate the switching of loads during abnormal "peaking periods" at the smaller plants. These cables, 16 in number, and entirely underground, will be operated at 33,000 volts, to four small power houses.

ASK EQUALIZATION OF HOURS AND PAY

Employees of the water works have asked the board of public service for an equalization or adjustment of working hours and pay with that of men of the street department and the matter will be taken up for discussion at the board meeting next Thursday afternoon. Ash division men also request an adjournment of working hours and this, too, will be talked over next week. Both requests were received by the board yesterday at a meeting held after a motion picture demonstration of a tractor snow remover.

City Engineer Stephen Kearney was instructed to prepare loan orders for $50,000 for paving, $50,000 for sewers, and $10,000 for sidewalks for presentation to the city council.

Supt. Robert Gardner of the water works submitted a report on the West Sixth street pumping station and stressed the need of a new boiler. His report was tabled for later consideration.

Engineer Kearney reported the condition of the Alken street bridge and recommended repairs at an early date. He was asked to submit an estimate of proposed work at the next meeting.

Routine matters were disposed of and a batch of sewer and sidewalk petitions were referred to hearing on April 12, at 7:30 p. m.

Activities at the Girls' City club have been discontinued during Holy Week but will start up again on next Monday. Rehearsals for the revue that is to be given at the Auditorium, April 19, will be resumed next week and Messrs. Brydon and Wentworth, directors, have been in Lowell recently arranging for the groups of singers and dancers. It is expected that the leading parts will be assigned during the coming week.

Many invitations have been sent to the men-folks asking their attendance at the Saturday night invitation dance and it is expected that Saturday's party will be one of the best. Miss Whitford Haggerty will be hostess at this party.

BIG TREAT IN STORE FOR MUSIC LOVERS

Werrenrath, the baritone, who is shortly to appear here under the management of the Lowell Choral society has long been a favorite in Boston where he has sung many times, in recital, with orchestra and in oratorio but never did he receive such an ovation as when last November he appeared with the Boston Symphony orchestra, singing some new songs by Daniel Gregory Mason. The critical comments were extraordinarily enthusiastic. Philip Hale in the Herald said: "It is not easy to forget the singer in speaking of Mr. Mason's songs. Mr. Werrenrath has made them his own, what would other baritones do with them?... Mr. Werrenrath's part in the performance was worthy of the highest praise. The singer redeems Mr. Mason's music." H. T. Parker in the Transcript wrote: "If Mr. Mason has done his feat of illustrative music still more has Mr. Werrenrath done his of characterization in tones. All his powers of voice, command of songs, vigors of imagination join together to this single end and accomplish it. The propulsive force that poet and composer miss he summons. They are heard and noted. He vanishes, while through him these Russians speak." The other papers spoke in like manner of these performances.

Later during the season, in the holidays, he was summoned to Boston to sing in the performances of "The Messiah" given by the Handel and Haydn society. Of his performance the Herald said: "Especially noteworthy was the singing of Mr. Werrenrath because he made the arias which so often are sung as mere decorations take on a thoroughly emotional character. Surely the cyclonic Handel would have relished the spirit and the gusto and the intelligence of this singing."

THRILLING RESCUE AT SOUTH BOSTON FIRE

BOSTON, March 30.—Lieut. Thomas F. Twomey of Ladder 13, who lives at 57 Etna street, Brighton, was rescued by his comrades yesterday afternoon from what seemed sure death in the flames, while fighting a fire in the lumber drying building of the J. F. Paul company, 81 Bristol street, South End.

At the height of the fire he was on the roof of the four-story building, directing the work of his men, when the roof fell in and he was carried headlong into the mass of burning lumber below. His men, acting with great coolness, turned their line of hose upon him and he was covered with a curtain of water. Lieut. McKeever then lowered a plank to him and, aided by a life line and belt hooks, Lieut. Twomey was pulled out of the fire.

At first it was feared that he was seriously burned, but he was reported as being in no danger following treatment at the City hospital. He suffered painful burns on the face, however.

The English language contains about twenty thousand words which are of French origin.

MINERS THREATEN TO STRIKE IN HALIFAX

PITTSBURGH, March 30.—Philip Murray, international vice president of the United Mine Workers was in close touch today with the labor situation in the Halifax district, where dispatches said, Union miners were threatening to call a strike in sympathy with the steel workers.

"The situation in the Halifax district has been called to my attention by Selby Barrett of Glace Bay, N. S.," he said, "and I have wired him that no strike can be called without violation of the international constitution until it has been investigated under our laws by officers authorized to do so. If the district organization makes the complaint there is no reason why the investigation should not be ordered immediately. If there is a strike without authorization—well, that is a bridge we will cross when we reach it."

COLLIE PUP HAD RIVER ADVENTURE

Considerable excitement was caused this morning in the vicinity of the East Merrimack street bridge over the Concord river when a dog was seen floating down the river on a piece of driftwood. Police and Humane society officials were notified and Mr. Baker, an agent of the latter society, went in haste to the rescue of the animal. Upon his arrival there he saw that the dog was out of danger, being in shallow water near the side of the Massachusetts mill's dye house. He went to the dye house and, with the aid of Edgar Ally, an employee of the mill, lowered a ladder down to the shallow water. Mr. Ally donned a pair of rubber boots and waded from the ladder to the dog and passed it to Mr. Baker, who had remained at the foot of the ladder, and he carried it to safety. The dog was a collie pup and had no collar, so Mr. Ally kindly volunteered to take the dog and give it a home.

While the rescue was being effected and just prior to it, a great crowd had gathered on the bridge and along the walks of the Auditorium and a great sigh of relief went up from the gathering as they saw the dog rescued.

The dog did not appear to be exhausted when found, and as collies are considered exceptionally good swimmers, it seems odd that the pup made no attempt to reach shore, unless it was that he had spring fever and desired to travel to new scenes and considered a trip down the river on driftwood much easier than walking.

India has a small fish, the gourami, which gives an audible croak when on the surface of the water.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

The play without a title has been unusually successful at the Lowell Opera house this week. It is one of the brightest and cleverest plays that has been produced in some time. The lines are bright and sparkling and the situations are the kind that get the most out of the story development. The plot is based on the successful efforts of a young inventor to produce a substitute for gasoline despite the many obstacles in his way. Mary Anne Dentler and Richard Morgan in the leading parts give thoroughly artistic portrayal and Arthur de Lord as the young inventor, shows exceptional ability. Next week the famous Hawaiian production, "The Bird of Paradise," will be presented, with the original Hawaiian quintet assisting. The advance sale for the show is already very heavy, and patrons are requested to order their seats as early as possible in order that they will not be disappointed.

THIEVES TAKE FUR COAT

Who Chased Them—Escaped in Auto

BOSTON, March 30.—Four thieves who took a valuable fur coat from the rack in Lamson & Hubbard's store on Boylston street, today, fired a shot at Carley Prout, a clerk who chased them, and then escaped in an automobile which they had left nearby.

The two men entered the store together and while one discussed a sale with Prout, the other took the most valuable coat in sight, and started for the door. Prout pursued and the second man, overtook and passed him, ordered him to stop and then fired. Prout escaped injury.

BLINDING SNOWSTORM
OTTAWA, March 30.—A blinding snowstorm, accompanied by gales, ushered in Good Friday today, interfering with transportation and telephone service.

SCHOONER CONDEMNED AND SOLD
MACHIASPORT, Me., March 30.—The schooner P. C. Lockhart of St. John, N. B., which went ashore on Liberty island during a snow storm, Monday, was condemned today after a survey and sold at auction. The cargo of fertilizer, destined for an eastern port, is a total loss. It was insured for $20,000.

QUEEN OF RUM-RUNNING FLEET LOST IN STORM

HIGHLANDS, N. J., March 30. (By the Associated Press.)—The queen of the Highlands rum running fleet was lost during the heavy northwest gale Wednesday.

The queen ship, the largest and fastest putting out from Highlands to the rum armada, off shore, was lost while making her second trip to the maritime liquor mart.

When she started for shore with 100 cases of liquor having an estimated retail value of $7500, she encountered a 45-mile gale which forced her to return to the pier, a British steamer which once served as a yacht for Robert Goebel from which she had purchased her cargo.

The runner managed to come alongside the liner and her water soaked crew was taken off. The boat, valued at $3000, foundered with her cargo. The liner took care of the crew until the gale abated. Then they were landed by a rum-runner from New York.

OFFICERS OF THE 376TH INFANTRY

The officers of the 376th regiment are holding a supper and get-together at the Hotel Bellevue in Boston tomorrow evening. Major General Andrew Browder, commanding officer of the First Corps Area, Col. Bowles, commanding officer of the 376th and

Lieut.-Col. Doyle, executive officer of the 376th are to be present and will address the gathering on various subjects relative to their work in the Organized Reserves.

Several officers of this regiment are located in Lowell and have received invitations to be present. One company is located here and is under the command of Capt. Joseph Kelly, and four second lieutenants.

The local officers do not know just what form the entertainment will take but it is expected that it will be in the form of a theatre party after the supper.

HELD MEETING IN WORCESTER

E. Gaston Campbell, secretary-treasurer of the Merrimack Valley Farm Loan association, attended the meeting of secretary-treasurers of the various loan associations of New England yesterday. The meeting was conducted in Horticultural hall and in attendance were 39 men from various points of New England.

Several important items concerning the associations were discussed and particularly the so-called "New Rural Credit System" bill, which was recently enacted by the federal government at Washington, and which has to do with the federal land bank. The meeting proved of great interest to all present.

British boys will be sent from England to Australia at the rate of 500 a month if a scheme of emigration recently launched by the Australian government proves successful.

to the lake cottage to secure some of his valuables and bring them to Lowell.

The former police official today offered a reward of $25 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the house-breakers who made the Mount Dale Goodwin camp cottage a hideout. The thieves, who combined there, recklessly turning the house contents upside down and breaking valuable articles of furniture besides carrying away many personal belongings.

Included in the loot carried away were stores of eggs, butter and crackers, 15 pounds of sugar, jewelry of value and personal trinkets, including a valuable pearl necklace and a pocket watch.

Although former Inspector Goodwin had visited the cottage at the lake side just off Bowen avenue and not far from the park pavilion, no later than Sunday last, as has been said, nearly all winter, there was no evidence of anyone having been in the cottage before that time, with the exception of one day late last fall, when thieves broke in but took little of value. The break is believed to have been made Wednesday night of the present week. Entrance was effected by smashing a low cellar window in the rear. The cellar door was locked, but two axes were found and the break was made.

PAINTERS' UNION
A regular meeting of the Painters' union was held last evening in Trades & Labor hall, Central street with Pres. Shaw in the chair. There was a large attendance, routine business was transacted and the proposed wage increase question was discussed.

readers quickly snatched the doorpanes and gained entrance to the hallway. They forced the other doors to the different rooms easily, and looted the house from top to bottom.

The former police official kept numerous articles of clothing in the cottage regularly, as he visited the cottage frequently during the winter, going back and forth sometimes twice a week.

The thieves first started fires in the stoves and cooked at least two meals of eggs, using crackers and plenty of creamery butter as "fillers." The floors and tables in the kitchen were covered with debris of dried food scattered about.

From the Goodwin wardrobe were stolen a dress coat, a pair of new shoes, trousers, neckties, handkerchiefs and other articles of everyday clothing. Other rooms were visited and considerable jewelry that had been left there temporarily in what was thought to be a safe place, was found by the thieves and carried off.

Mr. Goodwin found the electric lights burning both in the cellar and upstairs when he visited the place yesterday. The thieves must have turned them on freely when working through the various rooms and failed to turn them off when they departed from the house.

The kitchen table was found to contain various weapons of defense carefully laid in a row when Mr. Goodwin visited the place and discovered the break. Two axes, newly sharpened, lay across one side of the table, a four-foot poker lay close by, and a huge broad knife also rested on the table for apparent emergency in case of a sudden surprise.

The beds and beds were left in at least one night, the authorities report. From the imprints of shoes in the snow still remaining just outside the lake cottage, the police say there must have been at least four men or boys in the house-breaking party.

None of the cottagers in the vicinity remember anyone walking carelessly in the week toward the little eminence of land where the Goodwin cottage—Mount Dale camp—is located. Visitors to the pond shores are usually scarce in the winter time, although fishermen travel through the lonely streets and fields occasionally in order to reach the shores of Mascoupee and fish through the ice.

Frank Goodwin joined the Lowell police department March 2, 1872, and although retired on half-pay 12 years ago, proudly claims the honor of having never been officially relieved from police duty and is subject to call any time, he proudly claims. He still wears on his "dally vest" a solid gold police badge that was presented to him by a Lowell newspaper that conducted a contest for the "most popular Lowell policeman." Goodwin made an easy win securing just 223.40 votes. During his life-time on the local force, he was advanced from patrolman to sergeant and then inspector, he patrolled districts down in "The Acres" and elsewhere. He was for years on the "liquor squad." He has won other local contests for popularity "firsts" and captured such prizes as a full uniform, badges, caps, belts and arms.

Luckily, the former inspector said today, the "scamps" who got away with his other valuables from the Mount Dale camp, didn't get their fingers on his prize clothing and badge. That badge is something that he highly prizes along with the other mementoes of his police work of a former period in the life of Lowell.

causes of one of the most spectacular street gun battles here in years.

It was a case of two members of the force, strangers to each other, one a detective, the other a police sergeant, both in plain clothes and both off duty, who mistook his fellow officer for a bandit. The sergeant, James McNamee, escaped unhurt.

Sergeant McNamee and a woman companion were promenading when the policeman noticed two men whose appearance aroused his suspicions. When they darted into a cigar store, McNamee watched them through the window.

He did not have a clear view of the whole room. If he had, he would have seen the two step up to the counter to make a purchase. He did not see what Detective Cordes saw. For the "suspects" were Cordes and his brother Harry.

Cordes saw three men, two of them furnishing near the store safe. He knew them for bandits, so he drew his revolver and said: "Stick 'em up!" What Sergeant McNamee saw was Detective Cordes pull out his gun. He thought he was a bandit, so he darted in and, standing behind Cordes, said: "Now you stick 'em up!"

Thinking McNamee was the "outside" man of the burglars, Cordes wheeled to fire. He met bullets from the bandits and from McNamee. As he fell he grabbed the legs of one of the fleeing bandits and shot the other. Whitten, in the abdomen. As Cordes lurched, McNamee fired at the detective's brother, striking but not wounding him seriously. The other bandit was caught by pedestrians.

Lew Grabs Mustache and Answers Third Film Alarm

LEW CODY AS ARTIST E. R. HIGGINS SKETCHED HIM AND AS HE APPEARS IN (TOP TO BOTTOM) "SECRETS OF PARIS," "WITHIN THE LAW," "VALLEY OF SILENT MEN," "JACQUELINE" AND "RUPERT OF HENTZAU."

By JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, March 29.—Lew Cody, fresh as a daisy and with California's famous sun burned deep into his face, opened the door, grabbed my hand and parked himself on the corner of my desk.

Having grown somewhat pasty and frangible in this sunless New York of the past few months, Lew's crisp appearance made me somewhat testy.

"Pretty soft for you!" I growled at him. "You movie guys run out to California for the winter, make a picture or two and get enough to live the life of Riley for the next six months. Then you come around here to make a putty-faced, hard-working devil like me feel—"

"Now wait a minute!" Lew interrupted. "Let me tell you what I've been doing and you'll see it hasn't been so easy as you think."

"I've just finished making three pictures at the same time and rushed on here to start work in 'Lawful Larceny' right away. No rest for the wicked, you know?"

"That's right, I've never seen you in a film in which you weren't wicked."

"Well, I like my role in 'Within the Law.' You see, as Garson, I give up the woman I love and die a martyr."

"What else you been doing?"

"I was playing Rupert in 'Rupert of Hentzau' when I started on 'Within the Law.' I told Rupert Hughes, who was producing 'Souls for Sale' about my mustache problem and he obligingly inserted a scene showing me cutting off my mustache to disguise myself."

"Was the disguising episode in the story?"

"No, my character wasn't even in the wrong ones on."

"You have had a tough time, Lew. How can a fellow get into character and out of character so frequently and exchange character and still do effective acting?"

"That's just part of the game," Cody answered. "It's like being a fireman. He puts on his helmet and boots and rushes to a fire. He knows just where to hook up the hose and where to look to rescue people. He returns to the engine house and gets a call to another fire. It's a different sort of fire, but he knows just what to do there. An actor's just like a fireman. Pretty rough simile, but anyway I feel like a fireman."

"That's a poor excuse of a mustache you've got there, Lew."

"I cut it off for 'Within the Law,' and I'm growing it for 'Lawful Larceny.'"

"Well, if you were making three pictures at once, how did you arrange that?"

"I had just completed 'Rupert of Hentzau' and was half through 'Souls for Sale' when I started on 'Within the Law.' I told Rupert Hughes, who was producing 'Souls for Sale' about my mustache problem and he obligingly inserted a scene showing me cutting off my mustache to disguise myself."

"Was the disguising episode in the story?"

"No, my character wasn't even in the written story. The screen story isn't anything like the printed story. The story as Hughes wrote it wasn't much force as picture material, so Hughes changed it."

"That's a good one. Author changes his own story for the movies. Shades of Fanny Hurst and 'Star Dust' say, Law, when you see Rupert Hughes, you tell him he's about the only writer I know of who retained his common sense after going into the movies. He's the only one who seems to realize that the screen has a form of expression distinctive from the expression of the printed word."

STINNES JOURNEY TO ROME WAS A FAILURE

ROME March 30.—(By the Associated Press) Indications are that the journey of Hugo Stinnes to Rome was a failure. Everybody seemed afraid of being approached by him, fearing that a meeting might be misunderstood.

It is learned authoritatively that Premier Mussolini has not seen Herr Stinnes, and it is doubtful whether the visitor saw Elbert H. Gary. In fact the only certain point is that Stinnes had a conversation with Fred I. Kennerly of the Bankers' Trust Co., of New York. Judge Gary is on the way to Spain.

ENGINEERS CONTINUE STUDY OF SNAKE RIVER

The study of the power resources of Snake river begun in 1920 by an examination of the river between Huntington, Ore., and Lewiston, Idaho, by engineers of the U. S. Geological Survey of the Interior department was continued in 1921 by a similar examination of the river in southern Idaho, between Milner and Weiser.

The report on this work will not be published for several months, but in the meantime in order to make the data that it contains available manuscript copies of it will be open for public inspection at the office of the Geological Survey in Washington, D. C., and at the office of the district engineer at Boise, Idaho, in room 616 of the Idaho building.

In its western course across southern Idaho Snake river has cut through the basalt and the stratified sediments that make up the extensive plains bordering the river, and between Milner and Weiser it has a total fall of nearly 2000 feet. Of this drop 310 feet is concentrated at two points—at Twin falls, where the fall is 140 feet, and at Shoshone falls, where it is 200 feet. At high stages of the river both these falls compare favorably in grandeur with Niagara. Shoshone falls is now utilized for the development of power, but Twin falls and many other places, which are fully described in the report, are valuable potential power sites not yet developed.

Prior to 1854, when the main line of the Oregon Short Line railroad was completed across southern Idaho, the Snake River Plain from Pocatello westward was a sagebrush desert. Boise had a population of about 50, and other points at which there are now large villages or cities were little more than stage stations. By 1890 the total population of the plain was perhaps 15,000, and a small amount of land was being irrigated. About 1900 the country began to realize that desert lands could be reclaimed by irrigation, and between 1900 and 1910 many extensive government and private irrigation systems were put into operation in southern Idaho and in other western states. Tracts in southern Idaho amounting to more than 1,200,000 acres are now being irrigated.

The report contains maps and descriptions of 19 sites at which 250,000 horsepower could probably be developed, even during times of low-water flow. It sets forth the amount of water available for power development and the schemes by which the fullest use may be made of the water. Chapters of the report are devoted to the physiography and geology of the river valley and to the surface along the river.

"PAGEANT BEAUTIFUL" AT THE AUDITORIUM

Final arrangements for the "pageant beautiful" at the Mathew temperance institute's Easter Monday party have been completed and everything is in readiness for the big event. The following teachers of dressmaking in the evening vocational schools have entered their classes in the competition: Mrs. Katherine Burns, Mrs. Mary Durand, Mrs. Helen House, Mrs. Elvina White, Miss Caro Allen, Miss Mary Bradley, Miss Marion Taylor, Miss Katherine Macdonald, Miss Olevia Monaghan, Miss Mildred Mulquoney, Miss Margaret Tunison, Miss Dorothy Ward, Miss Rose Ward and Miss Helen Zolinski. Teachers and pupils have been extremely busy of late, putting the finishing touches on the costumes and now that they are completed, are anxiously waiting for Monday night's test. Great success is still maintained regarding the nature of the costumes and supreme confidence is expressed in every quarter relative to the outcome of the competition.

The unusually strong concert program which will be an additional attraction will be announced tomorrow. Among those who have consented to participate will be found several of the city's favorite entertainers, all of whom were connected with the Mathew's musical show earlier in the season. The long dance program, always a popular feature, will extend until 1 o'clock, with the latest dance music featured by an orchestra which is very popular with the dancing public. The advance demand for tickets indicates a record attendance, and the Mats are confident that their first Easter Monday party in the Auditorium is to be an unprecedented success.

MILK WAGON IS REGULAR SALOON

WARE, March 30.—John Pabgalski, a farmer who lives on the so-called Starvation farm in the west part of Harwick, yesterday morning fell into the clutches of Wain and Gilbertville police about two miles outside of Ware on the Gilbertville road.

A search of the cart revealed 20 quarts of moonshine in cans, mixed in with the milk cans, and this was confiscated.

The officers then proceeded to the Pabgalski farm and found one room of the farmhouse equipped for distilling purposes, a large still being in operation. Moonshine was found in many quantities.

Detective Cordes a Tragic Victim of Policemen's Zealousness to Duty

Two Members of N. Y. Force Mistook Each Other for Bandit

NEW YORK, March 30. A tragic victim of policemen's zealousness to duty, Detective John Cordes was in a critical condition today in a Protestant hospital with four bullets in his body, while alongside him lay an 18-year-old boy, James Whitten, the were delegated to notify the various societies and labor organizations of the city and urge their co-operation and interest. Sec. Davis is in charge of the labor department of the federal government and his talk will be of the greatest importance to the workers of Lowell. It is to these people, more than anyone else, that his visit is of interest. Sec. Davis will be entertained at luncheon at Liberty hall at 4 o'clock and will give his address at 5:15. Secretary Davis' arrival in Lowell will mark the first visit of a cabinet officer to Lowell for many years, and as he is considered the best speaker of the cabinet, his address will be well worth hearing. Secretary Wells of the chamber of commerce is to see to it that the chamber is well represented, and Roy Proulx is to take the matter up with the Middlesex Women's club and endeavor to have them present in a body at the Auditorium. Each and every person in the city who can get into the Auditorium will be welcome Monday afternoon and there is little doubt but what the hall will be filled to capacity. Students of the high, Normal and Technical schools are invited to attend also, and announcements will be made to them when school convenes next Monday to this effect. The committee which met today consisted of H. Hutchins Parker, president of the Rotary club; Dr. Herbert E. Davis, vice-president of the club; Willard Parker, Roy Proulx, Alvah H. Weaver, George F. Wells, Harry G. Polard, Benjamin Pouzner, and representatives of the various papers of the city.

PROBE REPORT FIRE SET FREE STATE GOVERNMENT

Theory That Blaze at Nantasket Was Work of Incendiary Being Investigated

BOSTON, March 30.—A theory that the fire which burned most of Paragon Park and several scores of houses at Nantasket beach Wednesday night was the work of an incendiary, was still under investigation by the state fire marshal's staff today. There were reasons for believing that the fire was set, possibly in several places, it was said. The officials explained that they were proceeding on the assumption that if the fire was set, it was the work of a maniac rather than of a person who might have been financially interested in Paragon Park, where flames started.

NO. ATLANTIC LANES FREED OF ICEBERGS

WASHINGTON, March 30.—As a result of the beneficent activities of the fleet stream the North Atlantic steamer lanes have been freed for the time being at least, of the menace of ice fields and bergs drifting down from Newfoundland. The coast guard cutter Tampa, on ice patrol duty has informed the navy department that "the bergs and growlers" recently reported are in the gulf stream and slowly disintegrating.

South Street Tailor "Sewed in" by Federal Officer

also sew on a button for an additional 25 cents. There were two other men in the shop at the time, according to Officer Sullivan's testimony, with whom he had some conversation on subjects far removed from liquor. One of the men left eventually, and when the sewing operation had been completed, the other man in the party disappeared to Schliebus about a little drink. The federal officer "smelled a rat" and followed the proprietor and the "other man" into an adjoining room where the federal officer requested that he be allowed to have a drink, too. "Let me pay for the drinks," he said, and handed Schliebus 50 cents for a round of three. "Did you take a drink yourself?" questioned Attorney Edward J. Tierney. "I did not," replied Agent Sullivan. "Schliebus offered me a drink, saying, 'This is good stuff,' but I told him I was going to catch a train at the depot and that when I kissed my wife good-bye, I didn't want her to smell liquor on my breath. But I'll take a half-bottle if you'll sell it to me." Schliebus said the federal agent, thereupon procured a half-bottle for which he received 55 cents, payment being made with a marked dollar bill. Agent Sullivan then left the shop and signalled Officers Bagley and McElroy. All three entered the store, Sullivan reminding the proprietor that he forgot to tell him he was a federal agent. The proprietor denied having seen the man or having sold any liquor. He was asked to produce the marked dollar bill and he replied that he had not received any money from Sullivan. It was then that Officer Bagley picked up the missing bill from behind a near-by stove. Schliebus stoutly denied having thrown it there. "You put that marked bill there yourself, Mr. Sullivan, did you not?" queried Atty. Tierney. "I did not, I did not," emphatically replied Mr. Sullivan. "Do you mean to say you didn't throw that money there, and didn't you take four drinks from Schliebus while you were there?" "I have never tasted of liquor, your honor," was Mr. Sullivan's response. Mr. Sullivan then added, and his testimony was corroborated by Officers Bagley and McElroy, that defendant, while being taken to the police station in the wagon, had bewailed his fate, saying it was a shame that his family should be disgraced in such a manner. He also said, according to the officers, that the occasion in question was the first time he had sold any liquor. Speaking for himself, Schliebus testified on the witness stand that he was a married man and has been living in South street since 1915. On the particular day in question, he said, the federal agent and another man, a friend of his, thus Ellason by name, entered his store, Ellason introducing Mr. Sullivan and asking that his coat be sewn. Ellason then proposed a round of drinks, and all drank, he said. "Did Mr. Sullivan drink?" "Yes, he drank a little, saying he didn't want his breath to smell." Schliebus further stated that the bottle afterwards, in Mr. Sullivan's possession was taken from his friend Ellason, to whom it was originally given him. The bottle containing the liquor, he said, he had picked out of an ash barrel in a nearby alleyway. He denied talking with the officers on his way to the police station, but admitted to Deputy Downey that he was the Otto Schliebus who was arrested, convicted and fined $100 for illegal keeping on Dec. 6, 1922. Bonds were fixed at $500 for his appearance in the superior court on the first Monday in April.

WILL HELP DEFRAY EXPENSES OF CENSUS

At a largely attended meeting of the members of the Pawtucketville Social club held last evening in the quarters of the organization in Moody street, it was voted to donate the sum of $50 to the permanent naturalization committee to help defray the expenses of the census which will soon be conducted under the auspices of the committee. The plan of the naturalization committee is to make a thorough canvass of Lowell's population, the number of French-speaking residents and also the number of those whose names appear on the check list as well as those who are eligible to vote. To help along its work the committee has requested the various local social and fraternal organizations to help in the building of a fund, and the Pawtucketville Social club has led the march by voting a $50 subscription. President Alphonso J. Fortier was in the chair and considerable business was transacted. Three new members were initiated, several applications for membership were received and the committee in charge of the smoke talk for the benefit of the Boston & Maine strikers announced that April 18 has been set as the date for the event.

CHANGE HOME RAIMENT IN SPRING

Now that spring is officially here, spring and summer raiment for our homes as well as ourselves must be considered. Many a window is fairly meaning to have its heavy winter wear taken off and some light, new draperies supplied. Town should come all the heavy curtains of rep, velvet and even silk with which stately drawing rooms have been curtained during the winter. Town should come even the light taffeta curtains now so popular in well furnished homes, particularly for the bedroom. And up should go the lightest, airest, thinnest nets to be found, for soon the heat will be upon us and every window will be counted upon to do its bit toward cooling the room behind it.

Net Curtains
The handsomest net for living rooms, dining rooms and halls is undoubtedly the new popular square meshed net called tulle. It comes in a most beautiful and practical dull ecru, that shade best loved by the interior decorators because it looks so well in almost any room with any kind of furniture and at any type of window—from the tall, narrow window set in a deep recess to the swiftest of short casement windows. For the room furnished in antique pieces of either walnut or mahogany, a finer curtain of saunter lace net or casement net is more suitable because those types of net have quaint, faintly done flat figures which harmonize perfectly with the spirit of the antique.

One of the newest and best window coverings now on the market is a sturdy, yet dainty, net known as Oxford cross. This comes in a delightful sunshine ecru, the main threads being a golden ecru, but an occasional thread of dull rose or blue being woven into the mesh.

Can't Look In
These curtains are practical for the whole house, and while being almost unbelievably transparent to one indoors, they positively shut out all view of the house interior to anyone outside.

Overdrapes for summer should be simple and dainty rather than rich. Cretonne is always good style if the colors chosen are harmonious and their cool greens, restful browns and delicate yellows with soft gray and taupe and tan for backgrounds.

For summer cottages and bungalows, checked gingham or plain chambray in pretty shades of blue, green, yellow and rose make charming overdrapes for the bedrooms. Gingham and chambray are suitable for nursery and children's rooms either for the summer home or the permanent winter residence.

243 MILES AN HOUR IN PLANE

Maximum Speed for One Trip Was 281.4 Miles an Hour—Average 243

DAYTON, Ohio, March 30.—(By the Associated Press) Lieut. Lester J. Maitland, army aviator, winner of second place in the Pulitzer cup races at Detroit last fall, today will be declared holder of the world's airplane speed record, accomplished yesterday when he piloted a Curtiss racing plane over a one kilometer course four times at an average speed of approximately 243 miles an hour.

Maitland's maximum speed for one trip across the course was 281.4 miles an hour, the fastest any human has ever traveled, according to officials of the United States Army air service connected with McCook and Wilbur Wright fields here. In attaining this speed he was aided by the wind.

The record made by Maitland beats the previous record of 233.61 miles an hour held by Sadi Lécroq of France. As an official of the Fédération Aéronautique Internationale, Orville Wright, co-inventor of the airplane, is expected to certify Maitland's record today. The speed trials were held over the same field on which the Wright brothers perfected the first heavier-than-air machine. Shortly after Maitland established his record, Lieut. R. J. Maughan, winner of the Pulitzer races last fall, established a record better than that of Lécroq, when he averaged 236.5 miles an hour in four laps.

A new propeller, designed and built at McCook field, is said to be responsible in part for the record.

PRES. HARDING CONSIDERS FARM SITUATION

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 30.—Congress having moved, just before adjournment this month, to assist to a greater degree the agricultural and livestock interests of the country, President Harding, it was said today by members of his vacation party, is giving considerable attention to the farm situation.

The prompt selection of Henry M. Dawes of Chicago to be comptroller of the currency, which was announced last night, although it had not been expected for several weeks, was interpreted as an indication of the president's desire that the government render all possible aid to the farmers and livestock men.

As comptroller of the currency Mr. Dawes, who is a brother of Charles G. Dawes, a former comptroller and later budget director, will have supervision of the formation of the agricultural credit corporations provided for in the recently enacted Capper-Lea-roth-Anderson bill.

Pending the time when such credit institutions can begin to function, the war finance corporation will continue to make agricultural and livestock advances, and the policies to be pursued by this governmental agency were the subject of a conference here this week between the president and Fred Starck, acting managing director of the corporation.

Mr. Starck is making a trip of in-

EXPECT HAGEN TO WIN NORTH AND SOUTH TITLE

PINEHURST, N. C., March 30.—Walter Hagen, American holder of the British open golf title, seemed certain today to have another title before nightfall—North and South open champion.

Having won various tournaments and broken sundry records in his leisurely tour northward toward New York, whence he sails in a month or so to defend his British crown, he started the big field in the 72-hole tournament here by doing the first 36 holes yesterday in 70-81, four strokes under par and seven ahead of his nearest competitor.

Investigation through southern states.

"I have found thus far on my trip," he said, "that agricultural conditions are rapidly improving in the south, and I believe that if the ravages of the boll weevil are not widespread in the cotton sections, not many applications for advances will be received from this section during the coming year."

"Conditions in both the cotton and livestock industries in the south and New Mexico have shown great improvement since the war finance corporation began to operate as indicated by the fact that nearly 60 per cent of the total advances of nearly $30,000,000 made in that section have been repaid, and this is about the average throughout the United States."

CONFERENCE OF HEADS OF RESERVE BANKS

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Although conditions bearing on the possible need for increased Federal reserve discount rates, were generally admitted to have been discussed, the semi-annual conference of the governors of the 12 reserve banks appeared today to have developed no immediate prospect of an increase.

Beyond a formal statement issued with the concluding session of the conference yesterday in which members of the Federal Reserve board participated setting forth that credit conditions among other matters concerning the Reserve bank operations had been discussed, the governors themselves declined to disclose the views expressed on present inflation tendencies.

That attention had been given, however, to the possible need for increased discount rates should this condition continue was indicated by the board's statement that members had discussed with the governors the conditions of reserves open market rates for various classes of paper and credit demands at the present time.

Deliberations at the concluding session also dealt with amendments to the board's regulations now being drafted to carry out provisions of the new farm credits act, these amendments being indicated as in general of a perfunctory nature.

RICH MAN DIES OF BULLET WOUND

F. W. Burnham, Wealthy New York Contractor Shot by Girl Who Killed Herself

Tragedy Believed to Have Followed Girl's Discovery That Man Was Married

NEW YORK, March 30.—Frederick W. Burnham, 44, a contractor, socially, financially and professionally prominent, died early today, the victim of a gun in the hands of Miss Helene Zeigler, 20, daughter of a well-to-do Riverside Drive family, who shot herself dead after having mortally wounded Burnham in his offices late yesterday.

The tragedy was believed to have followed the girl's discovery, after a 10-year friendship with Burnham, that the contractor was married.

After having lunch with Miss Ida Murphy, a girl friend, Miss Zeigler went to Burnham's office in the Grand Central Terminal yesterday but he was too busy to see her. The girl returned two hours later, when the terminal was thronged with commuters. Then Miss Zeigler gained access to the office and Miss Murphy waited outside.

Miss Zeigler was inside 15 minutes when H. S. Cox, the employee who had admitted her, and Miss Murphy outside, heard two shots. Miss Murphy ran away and disappeared. Cox summoned Dr. E. Ames of Yonkers, one of Burnham's superintendents, who he left the office a short time before.

They found the two on the floor. Miss Zeigler was dead. A pistol wound in her right temple, a small, new Deringer in her clenched hand. Burnham was shot in the right temple but was still breathing. He died at Bellevue hospital at 1 o'clock this morning without having regained consciousness.

Twenty Million Women and Girls In Europe Denied Husbands and Homes

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1923, NEA Service, Inc.)
LONDON, March 30.—Nearly 20,000,000 girls and women in Europe are denied husbands and homes.

They are sentenced to sex-starvation; no husband, no home, no motherhood. It is a situation without precedent in history. It is the biggest human interest story in the world.

Yet governments close their eyes to it, statesmen and politicians ignore it, reporters and authors avoid it. It is too vast in all its aspects—political, economic and moral—for them to grapple with.

There are 20,000,000 more females than males in Europe today because of the vagaries of the birthrate, the survival of more girl infants than boy babies, the decimation of men by war and the heavier toll of males taken by famine and pestilence.

These millions of so-called superfluous women are creating questions involving everything of fundamental importance: the sanctity and preservation of the home, the social and political equality of women, work and wages, and the next generation's heritage of good or evil.

In the British Isles the superfluous women number 2,000,000. In Russia, 8,000,000.

Through 10,000,000 sisters are scattered throughout the other countries.

Not only are there no legitimate mates for these 20,000,000 superfluous women but eligible young men are deterred from marrying by lack of work, cuts in wages, security of houses, higher cost of necessities and threats of new wars.

The result is that a spirit of after-the-war recklessness pervades Europe. Men and women alike spend more of their wages, they are keener in pursuing pleasure, they are more defiant of the conventions and lax in their morals.

The male is supreme. At dances he has six girls to pick from, where formerly he had to compete for a partner. Everywhere you see many girls dancing together; hostesses giving balls have a hard time getting as many men as women.

A new type has developed: the paid male escort. In Paris, in Nice, even in Monte Carlo you'll see him dancing with well-to-do women of middle age while charming girls are wallflowers.

In every class of society girls will put up with almost any sort of a man for the sake of having him to go out with.

To make themselves companionable girls smoke, drink, get and risk other indiscretions.

More children are being born out of wedlock than ever before. In England the increase has engaged parliament's attention, but the latest official figures show England least badly off in this respect.

Out of every 10,000 babies born, the number of illegitimate was as follows:

England and Wales ..... 459
Scotland ..... 711
France ..... 873
Italy ..... 471
Belgium ..... 641
Holland ..... 213
Norway ..... 639
Sweden ..... 1494
Denmark ..... 1043

Throughout Europe is an increasing movement to assist unmarried mothers and to give children born out of wedlock rights they never had before.

Maud Royden, the great British woman preacher, says:

"The right to motherhood is a claim based on the belief that the creative impulse is more—or more consciously—present in the sexual nature of a woman than of a man; and that in consequence the satisfaction of that impulse is to a great extent the satisfaction of a need which makes the disproportionate number of women in any country a real tragedy."

"I realize the cruelty of a civilization in which war and its accessories create an artificial excess of women over men and in consequence deprive many women of motherhood."

To attribute the luxuriance in illegitimacy to this yearning for motherhood is at least the charitable viewpoint.

Legislation has been undertaken in several countries including England, Norway, Sweden and Germany to require fathers to support children born out of wedlock and to make such children's right more broad and secure.

But France and the Latin countries are doing nothing along this line though legitimate births decrease while illegitimacy increases.

The various countries are striving in diverse ways to stimulate the birthrate among the married. In France, for instance, business associations combine to pay a million employees bonuses for each child. Christiana, the capital of Norway, pays pensions to widows, women divorced or separated from their husbands and unmarried women who have children.

Single girls and women who must support themselves are finding it increasingly difficult to obtain employment or to hold jobs.

Millions were engaged in war work or in replacing men who went to war; the armistice, the return of the soldiers and the industrial slump threw the majority of these out of jobs.

Those that remained had to compete with men. They found the soldiers demanding their jobs back. Those that held their places found their pay cut. Many were given the choice of showing personal favors to unscrupulous superiors or seeking work elsewhere.

Laws passed for the protection of women workers proved a handicap to them; employers rather than comply with statutes requiring creature comforts or forbidding night work discharged the women and hired men.

Willingness of many women to work for less than men demanded soon developed. This resulted in many instances in reduced wages for men supporting families. It kept single men from marrying.

Unquestionably thousands of women have died of starvation, or of diseases bred of hunger; but many others have taken "the easy way," with the result that divorce records, as in England, show more homes broken up by unfaithfulness of husbands.

The woman lucky enough to have a husband has to fight to hold him

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.

The 20,000,000 superfluous women stand in the path of political progress of their own sex.

The law of supply and demand seems to operate harshly as elsewhere. The more wheat there is, the less the farmers can get for it. The more women there are, the less they can get for themselves.

So women politically have added little to the gains they made in the way of suffrage and equal rights before the war. They have less political influence, if anything, than before.

In 40 or 50 years—after two or three generations—matters probably will readjust themselves. Europe's attitude despite the religious forces at work seems to be very largely—"Let nature take its course."

JAPAN APPROPRIATES FOR ROADS TOKIO, March 30.—The Japanese government contemplates spending 200,000,000 yen, or approximately $150,000,000, during the next 3 years to improve the roads of the empire.

This includes the new Yokohama-Tokio and Osaka-Kobe automobile roads now under construction, which will eventually form part of a main road connecting Tokyo, Yokohama, Nagoya, Kyoto, Osaka and Kobe, the width of which will be 26 feet near the cities and 30 feet in the country.

At present motor travel is made difficult in Japan owing to the narrowness of the roads and the fact that they pass through thickly populated villages.

GERMANS SAVE POSTAGE STAMPS REHLEN, Mar. 30.—One of the most popular forms of investment for Germans anxious to guard against depreciation of the mark has been the collection of postage stamps. Large sums have already been spent in this way by the well-to-do and the stamp business in Germany has made new records.

The German government has established an official department for stamp collectors, which supplies stamps to subscribers as soon as they are issued and attempts to revive as many of the old issues as possible for sale purposes.

DRUG STORES CLOSE WEDNESDAY EVENING

In view of the fact that the annual banquet of the Lowell Druggists association will be held next Wednesday evening, all the drug stores of the city will close at 7 p. m. on the evening of that day. The banquet committee this year consists of William H. Noonan, Charles Devine and Frank Plummer. Among the speakers who have already accepted their invitation of being present are State President Timothy Shea of Worcester and Attorney James C. Cavanaugh of Boston.

BODY OF MISSING WOMAN IN RIVER

BALDWINVILLE, March 30.—The body of Mrs. Christine S. Smith of Athol, who disappeared on the afternoon of Jan. 23, was found shortly before 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in Otter river, near the shore, a short distance above Baldwinsville common and about a half mile beyond where the search had been made for her. The body was discovered by Earl C. Wilson, who is employed in construction work on the new high school. It was viewed by Medical Examiner Edward L. Sawyer of Gardner, who pronounced death due to submersion. Mrs. Smith suffered a mental break down following the birth of her second child and had been under treatment in a sanitarium. She left the sanitarium and came here to be nearer her husband, Arlington Smith, who is a foreman in charge of construction on the high school.

On the day following her disappearance, searchers saw traces in the snow near the river's edge the words: "I can't make it. Good-bye, Arlie."

LOWELL BOSTON COLLEGE CLUB

At a recent meeting of the Lowell Boston College club, it was decided to hold the annual dance in Associates hall on the evening of April 5, and the following officers were appointed to take charge: General Manager Timothy Tully; assistant general manager, Walker Shea; floor director, Fred Leary; assistant floor director, James Grosman.

The Boston College dance is always looked forward to by the younger set of the city and is one of the most popular social events of the season. This year's affair is being planned with an enthusiasm which surpasses that of any previous year, and the officers feel assured that success awaits their efforts. The affair will be informal.

Modern Miracle Performed By World War Antiseptic

Zonite Clears Infection of Five Years' Standing From Throat of New York Child

Nothing in connection with the tremendous success of Zonite has given its manufacturers as much satisfaction as the letters which come to us in every mail describing the experience of the public with the World-War antiseptic.

The following report is from Mr. W. L. Larned, Vice President of The Ethridge Company, 23-25 East 26th Street, New York City.

"Our family has had two interesting demonstrations of the invincibility of Zonite. To us it is more than a name—more than 'something in a bottle.'"

"For five years our little daughter has been afflicted with a baffling throat trouble. Its inception seemed to be rooted in the removal of her tonsils, for an aggravated and diseased condition dated from the operation which would not respond to either home treatment or expert medical skill."

"Everything humanly possible was done. But it became obvious to us at least that chronic bacterial infection had fastened on the child's throat. It was always red and inflamed and frequently coated with white, dangerous patches. This continuous inflammation produced a raggy throat-clearing habit objectionable to her and to those around her which was steadily growing worse."

"More as an experiment than anything else a solution of Zonite was made up and the child made to gargle her throat unfailingly three times a day. At the expiration of the fourth day the patches had disappeared, the inflammation gone and a healthy, normal throat purged of all infection had resulted."

"The throat trouble has gone, so has the irritation and its consequent habit of throat clearing. Naturally we are as grateful as we are profoundly impressed there was much of the miracle in what took place."

"With all good wishes for the continued success of your remarkable product."

Very truly yours,
W. H. LARNED.

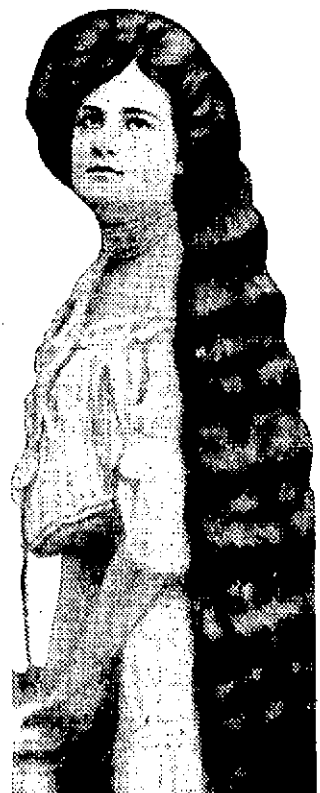

During the great war and afterwards in hospitals throughout the civilized world the form of antiseptic of which Zonite is an example has been working miracles in the hands of expert surgeons. The above letter indicates what this magic fluid is accomplishing now that it is available for use in the home—Adv.

rescuing occupants of the blazing tenements. The dead firemen are Julius and several paper box concerns. The flames spread to the five story building occupied by the Triangle Sheet & Metal Co. In a short time both buildings were a mass of flames.

Twelve families in adjoining tenements fled in their night clothing. An explosion of gas blew a tottering brick wall into the street and buried a score of firemen.

At one time when it appeared the Bellevue hospital, a block and a half away, might be endangered by flames, the call was sounded for fire drills and nurses and physicians prepared to remove the patients.

A Bellevue hospital ambulance was smashed by falling bricks and Dr. Elizabeth Wright, a Bellevue surgeon, was lightly injured.

A sudden shift in the stiff wind carried the flames from the blazing buildings to the rear of the three story building occupied by the J. H. Tooker Printing & Lithographing company in East 27th street and this structure was wrecked.

When the fire was finally checked, six buildings and the two upper floors of a tenement had been destroyed. Early estimates of the loss ranged from $500,000 upward.

guarded that the evidence in the case of Monsignor Butchkevitch showed his direct treasonable connection with an enemy of the state.

The decision was signed by President Kalinin and Secretary Sapronoff. It read as follows: "The court had fixed the guilt of Citizen Zepiak, who had been acting contrary to the interests of the working class and to the fundamental gains of the proletarian revolution. By consistently directed action he had made use of the laws which guarantee equality for everyone the freedom of religion.

"These actions are very heavy crimes in the revolutionary republic which as before is surrounded by numerous enemies. There cannot or could not be another penalty except that which was fixed for Zepiak by the court.

"However, taking into consideration that Zepiak is the representative of such a religion, which at the time of the late czarist government and at the time of the Bourgeoisie republic was suppressed, application to him of a penalty very well earned might be interpreted by a certain backward element of the Catholic citizens of soviet Russia, whose religious feelings he tried to exploit and direct as directed against the priests and their religion.

"We, therefore, as an exception from the penalty policy of the republic have decided to change the sentence fixed by the court to 10 years' imprisonment in strict isolation.

"As regards Citizen Butchkevitch, who in criminal activity on the ground of religion, combined very clear counter-revolutionary action with a direct connection with an enemy Bourgeoisie state, and who used his position as a priest to carry on a direct and active state (treason, the request for a reprieve is left without consequences."

"Hands Off," Says Soviet Press
MOSCOW, March 30.—(By the Associated Press) The newspaper Pravda says today that the Central executive committee "complying only with the revolutionary conscience and the revolutionary welfare" has commuted the sentence of Archbishop Zepiak.

The journal adds that the same standard could not be applied to Monsignor Butchkevitch because he "was the agent of the Polish government and carried on his activity, not because of religious fanaticism, as did Archbishop Zepiak, but in the interests of a foreign state."

Both Pravda and Izvestia publish lengthy replies to the foreign protests against the sentencing of the Catholic prelate, sounding a general warning: "Hands off."

Izvestia interprets the activities of the Polish diet and the British parliament as constituting clear intervention in the internal affairs of Russia. The newspaper gives notice that whatever cover the counter revolution might take it always meets with a merciless repulse by the soviet regime.

"To the threats of the Polish premier, Gen. Sikorski," and Pravda, "we answer 'hands off. Please do not think that you can to the slightest degree influence the decisions of the soviet government."

CAT RESCUED

Humane society officials received a telephone call the other day to the effect that a cat was up a tree on Beech street and couldn't get down. Mr. Baker of the society cranked up the trusty machine and hived his way up to Beech street and found that the telephone message had been correct. The cat was about 40 feet up an elm tree and either couldn't or wouldn't come down. After a tour of inquiry throughout the neighborhood, he located a long ladder at the Varnum school and returned to the scene of activity. He finally got within reaching distance of the feline after a long and dizzy travel up the ladder and found that the cat did not treat him as a rescuer should be treated. After coaxing the cat for a while Mr. Baker finally managed to get it to the ground without receiving many serious scratches.

If You Haven't a Poke Bonnet for Spring Wear—Get a Veil

VEILS, BONNETS AND OTHER ALLURING ITEMS IN THIS SPRING'S FASHIONS

By MARIAN HALE
If your spring hat is a poke bonnet, good. If it isn't, buy a veil—the hat doesn't matter.

To be sure, the poke bonnets are many and various. They range from tight little shapes with round brims out in back to flaring scullies that extend 12 inches or more beyond one's bangs.

They are made of all manner of straws and fabrics, no one of them more fashionable than another. What of the days when straw was the only thing one wore in summer and velvet the only winter wear? For the spring season of 1923 there are straws, tulle, fells and printed fabrics—and every single one of them is right.

Flat applique flowers are used for trimming—dashing bows, trailing ribbons, small flowers and fruit. The brims of the poke bonnets are often lined with a color to contrast with that of the hat.

Deley, agent of the department of correction, who took him to Lowell at the request of Elmer Giles, superintendent of the state prison camp in Tewksbury, from which institution Fafe is alleged to have wilfully and intentionally escaped on the evening of March 24. When taken into custody the prisoner displayed only minute symptoms of indisposition and it was not until some time after his confinement in the local station that the symptoms began to assert themselves to the fullest extent. He sat in his cell apparently resigned to his fate and calmly and intently reviewed his humble surroundings. Suddenly he began to froth at the mouth and fell violently to the floor where he remained in a convulsive mood until eventually restored to partial sensibility by court officials. Believing the man to be secure, he was left temporarily alone, and it was the vigilance of Officer Lamouroux on one of his occasional visits to the cell that prevented the possible suicide, for Fafe had removed his overalls and the lining of his coat, tied them in a knot and wound them around the cell door, and was in the act of placing the noose about his neck when the officer interfered. Without the least resistance, Fafe was subdued and sat back in his cell to await the arrival of a physician. If his condition warrants, he will be taken back to Tewksbury. Fafe was transferred to Tewksbury some months ago from the New Bedford house of correction where he had been committed for one year on a conviction for breaking and entering and larceny. He has also served time in the Rhode Island state prison and the Springfield house of correction.

HOW TAXES AFFECT MILL PEOPLE

In their reply to the demands of the mill operatives for higher wages, the mill officials of Fall River made a statement that should be remembered by every mill worker in New England because it calls attention to the question of increased municipal taxation in keeping down wages in the manufacturing industries. Too often it happens that mill people think it is none of their concern if the tax rate is boosted, if everybody at city hall gets an increase in salary and if certain crafts in the employ of the city get twice as much for their labor as do those of equal skill for harder work in the factories and workshops.

We do not object to every craft getting what it deserves, but what we would impress upon the factory workers is that they suffer by an increase in taxes in two ways. First of all, if the tax rate be advanced, the owners of property will advance their rents and the laboring people will have to pay or get out. That is where they feel the increase in taxation in their home expenses, or in other words, in the cost of living.

But there is another and a more serious way in which they are made to suffer from a jump in the tax rate. That is shown in its effect in keeping down wages. Why should it have that effect? Some will ask. The answer to this question was clearly given by the Fall River mill officials in their reply to the demand of the unions for an increase in wages. They gave as one of the main reasons why they could not meet the demands of the unions, the great increase in their tax bills during the past few years. At present, they say they have to earn $100 for every operative employed to pay their taxes, before they can put away anything to meet dividends or necessary expenditures, whereas in 1913, it was necessary to save only $33 per operative for taxes.

High taxes increase the cost of production and consequently make it more difficult for the mills to grant an increase of wages. What is true in this respect in Fall River is equally true in this city, so that every mill operative has a personal interest in keeping down taxes. When Mayor Donovan adopts a policy of retrenchment in municipal expenditures, there will be a howl from those who think that the city owes them a living, but in pursuing this policy he is helping to keep down house rents and lessening the cost of production in the mills so that the management will find it more feasible to pay higher wages.

We commend these facts to the consideration of every class of workers in the city, particularly because a vast number of hard working people believe that it is none of their concern if taxes bound upward. "The other fellow has to pay the bills," they say. There is the delusion under which a great many of our people labor. The mill worker, as we have shown, has to meet an increase in taxes by paying higher rent and the mill owners, finding the cost of production increased, will be less able to pay fair wages—all of which should cause everybody to favor a policy of economy as directly in the interest of the working man and equally so the working woman.

THE WAGE QUESTION

It is gratifying to find so many of the cotton mills following the example of the American Woolen company and granting an increase of wages. Although the 12 1/2 per cent is not as much as the operatives think they are entitled to, there is more satisfaction in getting that amount voluntarily than there would be in getting a considerably higher percentage as a result of a long struggle or a ruinous strike. This increase would add just one-eighth to the present wage, so that for every eight dollars now received in wages another dollar would be added.

Of course the mills of Lowell will not lag behind the procession in the matter of advancing wages. They have always paid as high wages as most other mills and will doubtless do so on this occasion. The local operatives expect to get at least as much as the Fall River mills will offer their operatives. The Textile council of that city has demanded 15 per cent and the mills at first asked that the matter be held in abeyance till April 20, but they have now asked for a conference on Monday and will then probably grant a 12 1/2 per cent increase. If they can induce the operatives to accept that amount, they will have accomplished more than some expected as feasible.

BERNHARDT'S POWER

Now that the critics have expressed their views on the genius of Sarah Bernhardt as an actress and upon the secret of her success, it seems that the general consensus of opinion is that it was her great will power that enabled her to achieve the triumphs in dramatic art that stand to her credit during her 50 years on the stage. At no time in her career was her indomitable will power shown more clearly than in her declining years. It will be remembered that during the World war, she met with an accident which resulted in the amputation of one of her legs. With her usual courage she resumed her work on the stage and seemed to take on added enthusiasm as a result of her temporary disability and the suffering she had experienced. Under such conditions most other women would have retired for life, but not so with the "Divine Sarah." In her final illness the courage with which she fought against disease was equally admirable and it simply goes to show that enormous will power combined with courage and almost any difficulty, even in spite of physical infirmities.

STRICT ENFORCEMENT

Much criticism has been directed against the federal officials who are enforcing the prohibition law in Washington. It is reported that Commissioner Haynes has issued an order for the arrest of all persons traveling on trains who are caught drinking liquor for federal agents. Chief Yellow, key of the enforcement staff has been instructed to pass the word to all his agents. This does not refer particularly to liquor that is sold on railroad trains, and travelers have been under the impression that when allowed to retain liquor in their homes, they should be free to drink it. The Volstead act permits parties to retain what liquor they had before prohibition became effective and forbids the manufacture, sale, transportation, importation and exportation of intoxicating liquors. It does not, however, forbid the possession or the drinking of it and if the parties are to be arrested for transporting liquor it would seem that the railroad trains would be liable to seizure and search. This order has resulted in a reaction that is likely to do more harm than good. It is suggested that the federal officials should be more lenient in their enforcement of the law.

Tennessee has had an egg nine inches around. Old timers claim it is as big as an old stone.

Very Fond of Soap

"When there's anything edible to be had you can count Noveborac on it," remarked Jinks. "Soap will suit him; he is especially fond of it." "You're returned Jinks. I know, but as far as he is concerned soap isn't edible, it's audible."

Just Like a Woman

"I can't raise $25 for you," declared Mr. Brooks, "that's all there is to it. I received a notice from my bank that I had overdrawn." "Well," suggested Mrs. Brooks, "try some other bank. They can't all be overdrawn."

Burning Love Letters

"I want to get some money for these love letters," said the fair visitor. "They're the scorching kind, too." "In a branch of promise suit?" asked the young lawyer. "Certainly. Did you think I mistook you for a publisher?"

Her Favorite Poet

"Who is your favorite poet, Miss Gash—Longfellow or Whittier?" asked the professor. "O, neither of them, mine is much more wonderful. I am quite in love with him, and the strange part of it is that I don't even know his first name. Can you tell me, professor? His name is Anon."

Short on Legs

A party of friends entered a restaurant and inquired of a waiter what was on the menu. "We have only chicken left," said the waiter, "except upon the party of friends all exclaiming at once, 'I'll have a leg.' 'O, it's chicken, gentlemen, not a caterpillar,' explained the waiter."

No Doubt About It

"What a terrible thing it must be," said he, "for a woman to discover a love letter in the pocket of her coat. I can't imagine how she could find it so easily and lovingly." The woman smiled. "That could never happen," she said. "The woman would find the letter first—then she would not mind the coat."

Her Just Deserts

Louise was a maid of unusually high disposition. She belonged to Joe, a man possessed of a truly remarkable fund of patience. But he needed it all. If Joe wanted to go to the bank, Louise invariably felt impelled to go down. If Joe wanted to ride to the shade, nothing but sunshine would do for Louise. If he expressed a wish to go forward, the maid was immediately seized with a desire to "crawl" in the opposite direction. Yet Joe bore with her for six long years. Finally, however, Louise, having at a time when she was washed down with two bags of lime, backed off the dock into deep water, and forever vanished from sight. "To Louise," breathed Joe, fervently, as he leaned over the edge of the wharf to shake his fist at the rising bubble. "I hope for 'naces' you've got 'ya' most complete satisfaction."—Harper's Magazine.

Capitol Jokes

U. S. Representative Walter P. Lindsay of California likes this story: Under the California primary law a man can run for office as many times as he wishes, if he gets the nominations. For example, in a former campaign the man I was opposing was on the socialist, democratic, prohibition, social-labor and progress tickets. So, in fighting him, I often used this story. I told him I had a pet character which he used to exhibit to his friends and boast about. But one day he appeared without it. "Zassah," he explained, he'd lost it. I was showing him to a man down in the general stock, and he'd lost it. I told him I had a piece of yellow cloth and he'd lost it. I told him I had a piece of green cloth and he'd lost it. I told him I had a piece of red cloth and he'd lost it. I told him I had a piece of blue cloth and he'd lost it. I told him I had a piece of white cloth and he'd lost it. ## Girl and Seven Cats in Ghost Mystery That Parallels the Famous Nova Scotia Case

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
LONDON, March 29.—Ghost experts are at loggerheads. They can't agree about the Scrimshaw spook. Weird and uncanny happenings in Joseph Scrimshaw's farmhouse in Cambridge-shire, paralleling the famous Nova Scotia case that stirred America a year ago, still remain a mystery.

Night after night, always after 12, these things happened:
Chairs toppled over. Tables moved. Crockery fell and broke. Pictures fell from their pegs. The 400-pound piano did a jass from one side of the room to the other. Chests of drawers fell and spilled the contents. A clock that had not run for years suddenly ticked and tolled seven.

Spiritualists, experts in witchcraft and representatives of the London psychical research society descended upon the farmhouse. They held seances, kept all-night vigils, and questioned Scrimshaw, his aged mother, and his 16-year-old daughter, Olive.

Still the mystery of the haunted farm remains unsolved. The uncanny antics stop for a while and then begin again.

Three different kinds of ghosts have been "seen," spiritualist investigators say:

CHESTERTON PREPARES TO COMBAT MONOPOLY

LONDON, March 30.—Gilbert K. Chesterton, the author, is going to start a new weekly magazine to combat monopoly and support his stand for scattered property with as many small owners as possible. "There is no organ today that presents this view," Mr. Chesterton explains, "and there should be one."

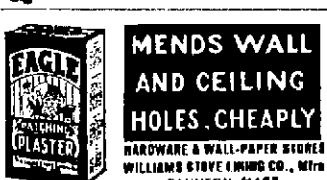

"I think that the modern evil is monopoly," Mr. Chesterton continues. "My objection to socialism is that it is really only the culmination of capitalism, and my objection of capitalism is that it is likely to turn into socialism, because what they have in common is that they both make wealth impersonal and centralized."

"The point is that both forms in the modern world, and particularly the industrial world, tend to keep power in the centre, because either in the form of socialist officials, as in Bolshevik

LOVE QUADRANGLE SEEN IN DEATH OF FIREMAN

By NEA Service
CHICAGO, March 29.—In the shooting of a city fireman here police believe they see the climax of the most unusual love plot with which they have ever dealt—not a triangle but a quadrangle!

Michael McGinnis, the fireman, is dead from a revolver shot. Annabelle McGinnis, his widow, and Miss Myra McGinnis, his sister, are being held without bail booked on a charge of murder.

And two youths, Francis Nee and Charles Schade, both 19, are held in $10,000 bail as accessories.

At the coroner's inquest Mrs. McGinnis testified the shot that killed her husband was fired in self-defense when he sought to attack her. As a result of this testimony, both women were released after the inquest.

When police questioned the two youths, however, the women again were taken into custody on the strength of the boys' statements.

With these statements and other evidence, police will attempt to prove Mrs. McGinnis and Miss Schade McGinnis in order that the two women, untroubled, might enjoy the love of the two youths—Miss Myra that of Nee and Mrs. McGinnis that of Schade.

every they use, and they pay them a wage.

"The cure for this evil of monopoly is a reversal of the whole procedure, and an attempt again to scatter private property and to create as many small owners as possible."

"It seems extraordinary that there is no organ of opinion to express this idea, and all the more because it is the most sane and simple and ordinary of all human ideas. There is nothing particularly faddish about saying that a field should be of reasonable size, or that the family farm should belong to the family."

Neighbors are keeping clear of the haunted house. Sightseers from London call the weird pranks a hoax, and point to the statement of a woman spiritualist who declared the ghost of her little man with the brown hair came to her kitchen window next door, said "booi" and promptly vanished.

Russia, or in the form of trust magnates, as in industrial America, for instance, a few men in practice not only rule but own the lives of all other people; they own the things they eat and drink, as well as the machine-

When in a rundown condition, due to overwork and general debility, I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it built me up in a good healthy condition. I gained in weight and never felt better in my life than after taking this medicine. And for constipation or sluggish and inactive liver, I always take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. ## DONAHUE THE GREATEST EVER, SINCE MATTY

ORLANDO, Fla., March 30.—The greatest pitcher that has broken into the National league since the days of Mathewson.

The greatest pitcher of "Big Six" I ever expect to see. He reminds me of Matty every time I see him wind up. There is ease and grace to every motion.

The remarkable thing about that fellow is that he stepped right from the college diamond to the big league, a finished pitcher.

There you have the opinion of Joe Tinker, relative to Pete Donahue, star pitcher of the Cincinnati Reds. It was an unsolicited testimonial as Donahue was busy pitching in batting practice.

Pete Donahue is the youngster who joined the Reds several years ago direct from Christian Brothers college in Texas and won fame overnight. After his first game he was voted a star recruit, a real big leaguer, and he has since lived up to that reputation. Donahue is expected to carry much of the Cincinnati pitching burden this year. He is a trifle heavier than last year, which is good news to Manager Moran, who would like to add even 15 pounds more to his star pitcher's weight, well realizing that Donahue has a busy season ahead of him.

"A great pitcher and a fine boy," is Manager Moran's sizeup of Pete Donahue.

EAST VS. WEST IN WRESTLING MEET

AMES, Ia., March 30.—The East and West, ancient foes of the gridiron, diamond and track, will meet here tonight in what was regarded as another test of athletic supremacy between the two sections.

Iowa State college, claiming undisputed wrestling championship of the west, will meet Penn state, regarded as one of the best of the eastern teams although defeated by the army and navy and Cornell.

Iowa state has won every dual meet entered this season.

AL MELLO MAKES HIT

Lowell Boy Put Up Great Battle in Amateur Bout—Award Not Popular

BOSTON, March 30.—"Red" O'Grady, champion of the U.S.S. Florida, had the battle of his life in the final of the 147-pound class last night at the Boston Hotel of 13th amateur tournament when he clashed with Al Mello of Lowell.

In the first round, after an exchange of blows Mello knocked O'Grady through the ropes. The second round also went to the Lowell boy, but in the third O'Grady, who appeared to be the stronger, went to the front.

While O'Grady received the decision, many of the spectators thought Mello should have been given the award.

Twelve bouts were staged and there were five knockouts. There was also an exhibition bout between Sam Fuller and Young Spark Plug Delmont of the North End, a comedy affair of three rounds which the large gathering enjoyed.

The results in the finals of the five classes follow:

112-pound class—Sam Fuller, Boston, beat Johnny Vaca, Newton, in three rounds.

118-pound class—John Moore, North End, beat Joe Moore, Allston, in one round (knockout).

126-pound class—Terry Parker, North End, beat Vincent Donovan, U. S. S. Florida, in two rounds (stoppage).

135-pound class—John Lombardi, Watertown, beat George Caswell, Charlestown, in three rounds.

STASIAK EXPECTS TO WIN RED SOX TO SUE DETROIT

Jocko Conlon Makes Hit That Scored Winning Run for Braves

BOSTON, March 30.—The Boston American league club will file a claim for $15,000 from the Detroit club for the failure of Pitcher Carl Holling to report, according to advices from Hot Springs, Ark. Holling was traded to the Red Sox with Pitcher Howard Egan and Babe Hartman in exchange for Sox Captain Paul Hanks and Pitcher Rube Collins. Holling has informed the Red Sox that he preferred to stay in California and play independent baseball.

At the St. Petersburg training camp of the Braves the team was hard pushed yesterday to defeat the St. Petersburg Saints in a 11-inning contest. Jocko Conlon, former Harvard captain, figured in the victory, going into the game in the sixth inning, singling in the 11th to score the winning run.

When Rejects Contract

NEW YORK, March 30.—Zack Wheat, veteran Robin outfit and star slugger, today was generally conceded to have lost his final chance to sign up with the Brooklyn club because of President Ebbets's refusal to add to his last year's salary, which was $8500.

The Robins left Clearwater, Fla., yesterday for the north and Wheat was left behind. Wheat told his errand mates that he would return to his polo, Mo. home today if Ebbets hadn't changed his mind on the salary advance by nightfall. Ebbets has also refused to accede to Wheat's request for a two-year contract at last year's salary.

Two of the Yankees' young pitchers went down under a bit of a fusillade delivered by the New Orleans Pelicans at New Orleans yesterday, losing their game, 10 to 2.

Babe Ruth cheered up the American champions, however, by lifting one for a home run.

Practice in Streets

CHICAGO, March 30.—Streets and vacant lots near the Chicago American league club's hotel at Regent, Tex., formed the training ground for the White Sox's final workout in the spring training camp. All this week the athletes have been kept from the ball park either by rain or cold. The game with the New York National league club at San Antonio was called off yesterday because of rain.

BROWN PITCHER IS SARAZEN HAS 18 CLUBS STRIKEOUT WONDER IN GOLF BAG

By NEA Service
BRADENTOWN, Fla., March 31.—The experts in discussing my club are overlooking one of the best bats in my recruits, Pitcher Fred Wigington, says Branch Rickey, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals. Wigington is a big bushy right hander, who pitched for Hastings in the Nebraska State League last year. With a club that finished third in the first half of the pennant race, with a percentage of .377, Wigington managed to win 18 and lose 11, for an average of .621, far in advance of his club's record. However, the most remarkable feature of Wigington's work was his strike-out record. Working in 34 innings, he struck out 260 men, an average of better than a man an inning, a truly remarkable performance, that stands out as the banner feat of the year in that respect in organized ball. While Wigington lacks experience, and may not prove to be as good as he looks like a great prospect. Manager Rickey has turned Wigington over to the veteran catcher, Joe Sugden, who, like Rickey, expects great things of the husky youngster as soon as the rough spots are polished off.

GAME TRANSFERRED TO SHAWNEEN

Because of the foggy conditions of the playing field at Forge Village, the scheduled soccer game for tomorrow between the Abbot Worcesters and the Shawneen team has been transferred to Shawneen. The contest is one in the state cup series and the play-off of a scoreless tie engaged in between the two teams last December.

PRACTICE BY COLLEGE TEAMS

CHICAGO, March 30.—Baseball practice in the western conference starts off in major league style today. The University of Illinois squad is invading the south for a series of games with leading university teams, is scheduled to play its first game, meeting the Mississippi A. & M. at Starkville, Miss. Illinois will play eight games in the south. Wisconsin which is also expected to be a strong contender for "Big Ten" honors, will start its trip through the south next week, while Michigan, always a dangerous entry for diamond honors, will invade Dixie for practice games April 6.

Golf experts tell you that it is foolish to carry too many clubs in your bag. Most of them say that a half dozen is plenty. Others stretch the figure to 10, allowing for duplication of certain clubs in case something should happen to your driver, brassie or mid-iron.

Most professional players say that the amateurs are too funny about their clubs, that the moment they go bad they blame the slump on the clubs rather than their poor playing. Of course such a system makes business good for the club professional, for they really shouldn't offer any advice to the contrary.

While most of the leading professionals insist on clubs in plenty to play around, few of them live up to the doctrine they preach. The next time you attend one of the big tournaments at the age of 18.

At a recent tournament in the south, it was noted that Champion Gene Sarazen had only eight clubs in his bag. When some friend commented on the number, Sarazen replied: "The boy is traveling a bit light today, for sticks are in my club house locker."

In golf you hear a lot of things that don't mean what they seem to.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Willie Stars sent in the following announcement:
Lowell, March 29, 1923.
Sporting Editor, Lowell Sun.
The Willie Stars, who claimed the 16-17 year-old championship last year by defeating the Belmonts, the only logical claimants, three out of five games, have reorganized and are out to meet the best in the state at the age of 18.

This team which is composed of boys from the Ave is one of the fastest in Lowell, having won 42 out of 50 games played. They are now out to better this record.

Bill, who is a veteran, will do the receiving. Coaster of the champion Green school team with Richards, a much sought-after youngster, will do the hurling. Lafamme, a Vocational school star will hold down first base. Nowak who will enter the Twilight league this year, will take care of the shortstop sack. Davey, to whom the Belmonts have made all kinds of offers to sign with them, will play short stop. Chase, of whom little need be said as he is well known, will take care of the hot corner. In left field is Tom Boyle, the most likely-looking youngster in the high school squad. Center and right field are taken care of by Ileson and Cronker, two boys who have hung up some notable records as fielders.

There may possibly be some chance in this line-up as there are numerous candidates trying out for the team. Thanking you for your valuable space, I remain yours,
EDWARD BELL,
Manager, Willie Stars.

Billy Evans Says Pittsburg Club Will Make Giants Step Some to Win

By BILLY EVANS
HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 30.—Mingling with the Pittsburg Pirates takes you back to the good old college days.

Enough musical equipment to outfit a jazz orchestra is carried by the Pirates. Several of the boys finger a mean banjo and guitar, while there are enough good voices on the club to shame some of the highly touted quartets that are playing high time.

Manager Bill McKeech is strong for music. Bill has a fine voice himself, and is a much sought after individual when the athletes get ready to put on some close harmony.

Once upon a time, not so long ago, there existed a rumor that the Pittsburg club was hungover with cliques, that discipline was a lost art, and that training rules were made to be laughed at.

Pirates One Happy Family
Possibly such a condition once existed, but no more. The Pirates are one happy family. On the training trip, with the day's grind over, music forms the chief recreation of the athletes. A part of the players take an active part, and the music which such charms that the others stick around to listen.

There are no specific rules on the Pittsburg club. It doesn't seem as if any are required. McKeech is a real manager. The players are strong for him.

In return McKeech simply puts it up to the players to behave themselves, emphasizing the fact, however, that the player who fails to do so will suffer, not only because he has affected his own play but more so because his selfish tactics have injured the chances of his teammates, who are giving their best efforts.

Kind Words for Schmidt

The Pittsburg club is going to be very much in the National league race during the coming season. First, because the Pittsburg team is a real pennant contender. Second, because every man on the club will be giving his best efforts. Third, because the team is sure to get commonsense management.

McKeech is a level-headed chap who served his apprenticeship with the players, is able to get on a level with them and still retain the so-called dignity of the manager.

For several years the sport sheets have featured Walter Schmidt in many a story. True, Schmidt has often played the role of holdout, a holdout, however, does not mean that a player is a bad actor. When a player refuses to sign and thereby becomes a holdout, it is merely a difference of opinion between club and player as to the value of the athlete.

Yet Schmidt has often been painted as a disturber, a player who always took the opposite view to that held by the manager. I would say that such criticism was decidedly undeserved. Certainly no player is working harder, and no player is accomplishing more.

No Chance in Lineup
The Pittsburg club has close to 50 ball players at the Springs, yet it is doubtful if any of them will cause the Pirate manager to shift his lineup of last season.

The catching will be looked after by Schmidt, Gooch and Jonnard, with two collegians, Warwick and Mattos, as great outfield prospects.

The infield will have Grim at first, Tierney at second, Maranville at short and Traynor at third. In the outfield will be Bigbee, Russell and Carey. Barnhardt will be ready for utility infield roles, while Cuyler is a great outfield prospect.

The pitching burden will fall on last year's staff. The only new recruit who looks as if he would be able to step right in and help out is Keontz, secured from the Sacramento club of the Coast league. Owner Drayfus has a bid high for Keontz and Manager McKeech says that present indications make it seem the money was well expended.

Traynor Real Star
I certainly was impressed by the work of third baseman Traynor. While Traynor did good work for the Pirates last year I look for him to do it much better the coming season. Traynor is a remarkable fielder and a dangerous batsman. He is just what the Pirates need without a question. Some of the experts are trying to belittle the punch of the club by saying "Red" Russell won't hit left handers. That is a mistake. True, Red will take more liberties with the right handers, but the catchers will find him anything but soft picking.

New York will have to keep stepping all the way, or Mettraw's ambition to win the pennant and world series will certainly be checked.

TEXTILE SCHOOL BASEBALL TEAM

The lumbering up process for candidates for the Lowell Textile school baseball team has been going on steadily under the direction of Coach Bobby Wiley and the mill men are looking forward to a successful season. Thirty-five candidates have been practicing daily in the cage and it is hoped that the weather man will be kind enough to permit of out-door practice before the opening game of the season with Holy Cross on April 11. The campus pasture will be put in shape as soon as possible and the candidates will then have ample opportunity to show their real stuff.

The following are considered the best prospects for berths on the coming season's nine: Farwell, Blanchard, Felder, Channing, Woods, Butler, Cannell, Juguid, and Joy, pitchers; Olson, Gillman, Bradshaw, and Robinson, catchers; Hoslin, Martens, and Johnson, first basemen; Mitchell, Sweet, Carr, Scanton, Boone, K. Smith and Harmon, second basemen; Capt. Fletcher, third basemen; McKinstrey, Sullivan, Flores, Brigham, Duncan and others, outfielders.

"LEFTY" WILLIAMS IN GRAVE CONDITION

CHICAGO, March 30.—Claude (Lefty) Williams, formerly pitcher of the Chicago American League Baseball club was in a grave condition from pneumonia at a hospital here early today. He was 34 years old, although part of the time was passed in a state of coma from which it was feared he would not be roused.

Williams' major league career of 11 years, star left hander, ended when the 1919 world series scandal became known. Before his banishment from organized baseball, Williams added the White Sox in winning a world's title and several league championships.

Williams was born in Chicago, Ill. He was a native of Taunton, Mass. He was a brother of Rev. Edward J. Carr, pastor at the Immaculate Conception church, this city.

MUST HAVE BOX OR SLOT TO GET MAIL

Postmaster Delisle stated today that 85 per cent. of the homes in this city are already equipped with mail boxes or slots such as are required under the ruling of the postmaster-general that went into effect on March 11. Since that time there have been only about 200 letters returned because of non-compliance with this rule.

Those who have not erected boxes or slots are mostly of foreign extraction and several of these letters which shall ultimately find their way to the dead letter office are for these folks and are from the home-land, and are their only connecting link between relatives in Europe and those who have travelled far into this land or promise. Many of these people have stated that they do not get any mail and therefore do not need a box, but when they realize that mail includes letters from their mother country they will also comply with the regulations.

REV. JAS. H. CARR OF FALL RIVER DEAD

FALL RIVER, March 30.—Rev. James H. Carr, curate at St. Patrick church, died today after an illness of two days. He was a native of Taunton, Mass. He was a brother of Rev. Edward J. Carr, pastor at the Immaculate Conception church, this city.

BOXING NOTES

Martin Flaherty, Jr., announced today that he withdrew from his bout in Boston on Monday night because it was Holy Week.

Joey Fox, English featherweight champ, has been secured by the Moody club to meet Lew Polonsa next week. Carl Laird, who was first secured to box Polonsa, withdrew from the bout because of serious illness in his family.

Adventures of The Twins

APPLE-PIE LAND

"MY, MY, MY! I'LL HAVE TO DO SOMETHING AND THAT SOON," DECLARED JACK.

The fountain on top of Nancy's head kept running and running. Mix-Up Land kept filling up and filling up with water, and Jack Straw, the rogue, became more and more frightened as he saw every thing swirling or climbing while he couldn't do either—on account of having a peg leg.

He would have turned the magic ring on his left thumb and stopped the water, but he couldn't tell where it was coming from—whether a big wave from the ocean had washed over the land, or a cloud had burst, or a river had backed up, or what.

First the grass disappeared, then the flowers, then the bushes. Everything that could swim was swimming and everything that could climb was climbing, everyone who had a boat to row in was rowing, and everyone who had a raft to float on was floating on it.

"My, my, my! I'll have to do something and that soon," declared Jack. "I wish I knew where all that water was coming from."

Nancy and Nick had long ago been covered up with water. It had gone right over the tops of their heads. But Nick was marble and Nancy was marble (being changed by magic) and so they didn't feel a thing.

Finally Jack Straw had only the tip of his nose sticking out of the water. "I do believe I'll have to turn my ring and change Mix-Up Land back into Apple-Pie Land!" he said and sighed a sighful sigh. But something better happened. The ring slid off his hand into the water and it was never found again.

Before you could say "scat" everything was set to rights. The water disappeared and there were the mountains and trees and grass and houses and pigs and chickens and cows and churches and people and wagons and everything just as it should be. Mix-Up Land was Apple-Pie Land again and King Even-Steven was on the throne in his palace.

And Jack Straw was back cobbling shoes—just as he used to be. And best of all, the Twins were little boy and little girl again, and on their way home.

ORANGE LAYER CAKE
By BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH
(Of Columbia University.)

Oranges are not only appealing for their refreshing quality, but their tastiness and flavor make them especially desirable in baking. Orange cake, for this reason, should make a delightful dessert.

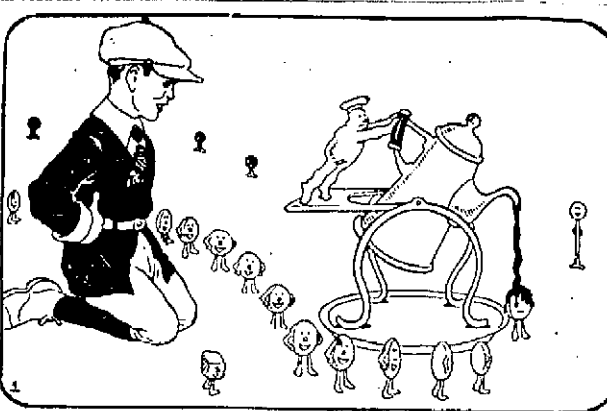

Melt one-fourth cup of butter, and a cup of sugar, then add two well-beaten eggs, and beat the mixture thoroughly. Sift one and one-half cups of flour with two teaspoons of baking powder and add it alternately with one-half cup of milk to the butter, eggs and sugar. Flavor with one-half teaspoon of vanilla, turn into two round or square layer cake tins which have been well buttered. Bake 20 minutes.

Jack Daw in Candy Land. Chapter 8

As the first Peppermint got under the spout he stopped. Then Mister Taffy stood on his tiptoes and pushed the great handle of the Chocolate Pot upwards. This sent forth a stream of fine rich chocolate and it landed on and spread all over the peppermint. Jack laughed loudly.

"Is that the way the Peppermints get their chocolate overcoats?" he asked. "Why, sure," replied Caramel. And by this time several more little candies had passed under the spout and were now standing in line waiting for the rest of the peppermints to be fixed up with new overcoats.

After every Peppermint had been covered with chocolate, they again started to march away. "Now, where are they going?" asked Jack. "Oh, they're going to take a long trip now," replied Caramel. "They'll march right down and step into a candy box choo choo train." (Continued.)

Recipes for the orange filling, to be placed between the layers and the orange filling, follow:

Orange Filling
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 tablespoon flour
1/2 cup orange juice
1 egg yolk
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon butter
Grated rind, one orange
Mix all together, and cook over water 15 minutes. Cool before spreading.

Orange Frosting
1 tablespoon orange juice
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 egg yolk
Confectioner's sugar to make mixture stiff enough to spread.
After cake is frosted, place sections of orange on top, and cut between the sections.

Fraud Alleged

Corbit, who lives in Bridgeport, Conn., alleged that a half million dollar stock fraud was perpetrated under the guidance of Mrs. Barr.

Mrs. Barr, who is now said to be in New York, came to Tulsa from Chicago several years ago and engaged in stock promotion enterprises.

Corbit arrived in Tulsa about two weeks ago with promises representing 21,000 shares of stock in the corporation, turned over to him by shareholders in and near Bridgeport, who, Corbit said, were unable to learn where their money had gone or whether the Acorn corporation possessed the assets he said were accredited to it by Mrs. Barr and her fellow promoters.

Letters and other data said to have been sent by Mrs. Barr to stockholders, was turned over to the postal authorities who are investigating. The national vigilance committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World also are investigating.

F. D. Hinckley, of Tulsa, last president of the Acorn, is alleged, admitted to Corbit that he was merely a "dummy" officer placed in the president's chair by Mrs. Barr, who is his sister. However, according to Corbit, Hinckley said he and Mrs. Barr "fell out" when she wrote him a few days ago that "you're no relation of mine."

According to Hinckley, this letter was written by his sister when he failed to inform her about Corbit's visit here. In his petition Corbit charged that Mrs. Barr obtained about $100,000 from stockholders, and that instead of purchasing the assets in the name of stockholders, she bought them in her own name.

MANY VISIT CHURCHES DEATH IN FLORIDA OF

Holy Thursday Observance—
Mass of Pre-Sanctified
This Morning

Following an ancient custom, the Catholic churches of the city were the scenes of constant visitation yesterday afternoon and last night, visits being made to the Altars of Repose, where the Blessed Sacrament was taken following the masses on Holy Thursday, and remained until the mass of the pre-sanctified this morning.

With the growth of this act of devotion the pastors of the various churches year after year have beautified the special altars and those of yesterday were no exception, the sanctuaries being elaborately dressed with electric and candle lights, with magnificent draperies hanging, while Easter lilies, cut flowers and potted plants were abundantly used in the decorative scheme.

Maundy, or Holy Thursday derives its name from the first word of the office of the washing of the feet, "Maundy," and is celebrated with solemn services in all Catholic churches. Yesterday a solemn high mass was celebrated in most of the churches, while the evening was devoted to a sermon on the institution of the Blessed Sacrament and the solemn and impressive chanting of the twelve.

Good Friday exercises in the churches this morning consisted of the mass of the pre-sanctified, the reading of the three acts of lessons by the priests at the altar, the veneration of the cross, first by the priests and then by the congregation. This evening, the office of the twelve will again be chanted, and tomorrow, Holy Saturday, the consecration of the new fire and the blessing of the paschal candle will take place, and mass will be offered.

LETTER OF DENUNCIATION

CHICAGO, March 30.—A letter from Lawrence Lyons, chairman of the republican state central committee of Indiana, to the American Unity League, an organization opposed to the K.K.K., announcing his resignation from the Klan, will be published tomorrow in "Tolerance," the official organ of the league.

This letter dated March 27, was made public by the league, reads in part:

"It is my desire to publicly denounce my affiliation with the K.K.K. or the Invisible Empire. Having acquainted myself with the purposes of the K.K.K. organization, I deem it my duty as a loyal American citizen to set forth my position as to those prescribed by the K.K.K. I am a firm believer in our government as it is now constituted, believing that all men are equal before the law and the right to a trial by jury of his peers, and the right to worship the Almighty God in whatever way he may deem fit. The K.K.K. according to their oath and constitution, does not conform to these principles. Being a man of conservative ideas and a lover of freedom, I cannot help but at this time make my position plain with the people of my state."

Mr. Lyons added that, having some responsibilities as a citizen, he felt his duty to set forth in the press his position and true feelings regarding what he termed "this un-American organization."

REGULAR PATROLMEN WILL DO THE ACTUAL WORK OF LISTING POLLS

According to a schedule drawn up by Thomas H. Atkinson, superintendent of police and chairman of the Lowell listing board, 62 regular patrolmen of the police department will do the actual work of listing polls in this city, beginning next Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock.

In discussing plans concerning the listing today, Atkinson said he will use regular patrolmen for the job as he believes they are more familiar with streets and persons than supernumeraries and will be able to complete the work more rapidly. He plans to use two patrolmen in each of the city's 31 voting precincts, although in three or four particularly large districts, a third officer may be put on as an assistant. Day and evening work as well will be ordered, for it is in the evening that the majority of people in some precincts can be found at their homes.

The patrolling of day routes will be done by supernumerary officers during the listing period and while it will be more or less a skeleton organization, the superintendent feels it will be adequate from the standpoint of protection. While regular patrolmen are doing listing work they will not be required to ring any duty calls, except in event of an emergency.

The appeal of Vicar General Butchkavitch for clemency was denied. The central executive committee, which met to consider requests for mitigation of the sentences, said in its decision that both prelates were deserving of the penalty imposed by the Moscow court, but that commutation was ordered in the case of the archbishop because a certain element of the Catholic citizens in Russia might exploit the sentence as being directed against the priests and their religion. # HISTORY OF NEW ENGLAND

About two years ago a new idea was presented to the people of Lowell, Hats and Caps direct from maker to wearer. Like all new ideas the people take to them gradually and with caution. But gradually the people of Lowell woke to the fact that they could purchase hats and caps which were not only superior as regards style, quality and workmanship, but at a price that was far below the actual value.

The originator of this new idea was The New England Hat and Cap Shop at 296 Middlesex Street.

Hats and Caps were manufactured before the very eyes of the people of Lowell. Anybody could look through the front show windows and see the machinery humming and turning out your finished Caps. Perhaps some of you can remember this familiar sight.

However, like all pioneer industries, they must begin small and educate the public to the advantages and value of the new idea. The concern finds that it must expand because of the LARGER demands of the product.

Such has been the case with the New England Hat and Cap Shop. The need for more store and manufacturing space has necessitated the removing of the machinery and equipment to a room in the rear of the store, where your Hat and Cap is now being manufactured. This enables the better handling of customers, free from noise from the humming motors and interference from the bulky machinery.

Indeed it was not a pleasant feeling to one who had been engaged for eight or nine hours of a fatiguing labor during the day to have himself reminded of a factory when he came into our establishment to purchase a Hat or a Cap. This condition has been done away with and you will be greeted by more pleasing surroundings when you come to buy of us.

Moreover, our stock is in better condition now, the stirring up of dust by busy and tireless machinery being done away with by their removal to a more advantageous and convenient spot.

Furthermore, the increased production space enables a better Cap to be turned out and in greater volume, thus bringing an added saving to you consumers.

Not only does the New England Hat and Cap Shop make Caps for stock orders, but it makes them custom made with or without your own material for those people who want to have an exact match to their suit or overcoat or for those who want to be a little out of the ordinary.

The New England Hat and Cap Shop expects and will receive your patronage in the future in their new up-to-date renovated quarters.

The biggest Hat and Cap store—always largest variety in color and shapes.

DEATH OF WELL KNOWN PRINTER

Henry Boyd, for many years foreman of the composing room of the Courier-Citizen, died yesterday at his home, 135 Sixth street, aged 60 years. Failing health caused him to give up all active work more than two years ago and the illness that resulted in his death yesterday was of that duration. He bore it with great fortitude, however, and faced the inevitable with a resolute determination that was remarkable.

Henry Boyd had made Lowell his home for the greater part of his life and entered the printing business when but a young man and was held in high respect by associates and intimates. He made a long and courageous fight against death in which he received much encouragement from the frequent visits and the sympathy of devoted friends.

Besides his wife, Lottie, he leaves one son, Harry W.; a granddaughter, Irene May Boyd; a brother, James, and two sisters, Mrs. Alfred Cates and Mrs. Andrew Adams of Haverhill. He was a member of Lowell Typographical union, 310, and Lowell Council, 8, Royal Arcanum.

PROF. BUSHNELL ADMITS FAULTS OF PURITANS

BOSTON, March 30.—"It is clearly established that in the midst of the Puritan communities there was much drunkenness, dissipation, debauchery and uncleanness."

With these words, Albert Bushnell Hart, professor of government at Harvard university, writing in the New York Times Current History for April, backs up some of the remarks made in the same magazine, a month ago, by President Emeritus Charles W. Eliot, who created a stir by asserting that there was much drunkenness among the early Puritans, and that many of the leading Puritan families went down hill through the drunkenness of their members.

Prof. Hart writes of Rev. Cotton Mather, chiefly known as a leader in the movement to maintain a law and order by the execution of witches, "He had a terrible experience with an absolutely worthless, drunken son," says Prof. Hart. "Liquor was cheap, plentiful and freely used, especially the hard kinds. The earliest colonies, therefore, began the course of restrictions and limitations of liquor selling and liquor premises, which gradually expanded into our blue laws."

About Puritan blue laws, the professor says: "Puritan penalties were in general no more severe than in the other colonies, but Massachusetts must bear the terrible responsibility for the only executions in all the colonies for witchcraft and for the heresy of the Quakers."

"Thank God the public whippings, the brandings, the mainings and the torches of fire, known throughout the American colonies as legal penalties, grew milder as the descendants of the colonists went westward. And yet nowadays those discarded cruelties have been taken up by secret societies and lawless lynchers. Lynch law is a return to all the worst that was in the law of our ancestors, without the protection of courts and juries."

Of the Puritan government, Prof. Hart says: "They made the church the state. Thus they created a government that was nowhere as free as it looked. 'The Puritans cherished strong, repulsive beliefs.' They intensely enjoyed damnation, preferably that of others; but some of the Puritan divines insisted that the highest type of Christianity was 'to be willing to be damned for the glory of God.' It was not their theology, however, that made the Puritans so strong. Their doctrine, all things considered, was not so much more severe than the present religious point of view, of, say, William J. Bryan."

Nevertheless, Prof. Hart believes that the Puritans played one of the major parts in building America. He points to Puritan influence in movements like the Antislavery movement. Then he says: "The great question with regard to the Puritans, after all, is not whether they were consistent or temperate, but how far they did their job in the world and taught later generations to do their job. As a descendant of a line of New England ancestors, the writer feels a natural pride in the part played by the Puritans in our national life."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

H. P. KEITH'S THEATRE
The matinee performance at the H. P. Keith theatre began at 3 o'clock, instead of the usual hour. The evening performance will begin at the usual hour. The bill of unusual brilliancy, with such special favorites heading it as Seed & Austin, Rae Eleanor Hall and Brother, Frank Brown & Co. and Harley & Patterson. Others on the bill are Ethel Hopkins, Lester Noel & Co. and the Roma Duo.

RIALTO THEATRE
But two more days remain in which to see "The Greatest Menace," which has been drawing capacity audiences to the Rialto theatre all this week. The picture is one of the best of the entire season and carries a decidedly strong moral. Today and Saturday are the last days.

THE STRAND
Conway Tearle in "The Referee" and Grace Darmond in "The Midnight Guest" are the contributing features to a high-grade program at the Strand. The former is the story of a referee, John McArdle, who makes good his reputation for honesty, under most trying circumstances. The second picture is also an intimate and forceful reflection of life itself. The usual comedy and weekly are good.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Only a few opportunities remain for Lowell people to see "Frankie Secrets," a notable Paramount dramatic production, starring Dorothy Dalton at the Merrimack Square theatre. The other feature of the current program is "All the Brothers Were Valiant," a Ben Ames Williams story. On Sunday the great Cecil B. DeMille spectacle, "Adam's Rib," will open a week's engagement.

Total cost of the League of Nations last year was more than $5,000,000.

CORNS

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Fingers" on an aching corn. Instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly! Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Fingers" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.—Adv.

CALVARY CHURCH HAS ANNUAL MEETING

Deacon Louis Browning was honored for faithful service in Calvary Baptist church religious work by being tendered a unanimous vote of thanks at the annual meeting of the church workers held in the vestry, last evening. He was re-elected again and informed that no one shall be elected to fill his place. This is a special honor for faithful service. William Morgan was the retiring deacon.

Rev. Henry K. Vye was moderator of the church meeting, which was largely attended. Deacon Richard Gumb acted as moderator of the church corporation meeting. These officers read reports that were promptly accepted: Clerk Charles E. Lalime, Collector Louis Browning and Treasurer Sterling B. Crosby. Mr. Brown, who is to remove from the city, was replaced by Alfred W. Phinney. The other officers chosen included Assistant Collector Eleanor G. Davis, Treasurer Sterling B. Crosby, Finance Committee Charles E. Thurston, T. Harold Hanson, Richard Gumb, auditors, John G. Gordon, Alfred Bixby, Kenneth A. Stewart, nominating committee, Mrs. Eliza Beck, Richard Gumb, George R. Myers, Sterling B. Crosby and Ernest Craig.

A rising vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Browning for his ten-year service as collector of the church. A resolutions committee to draw up and formally present a permanent expression of the members' feelings toward the departing deacon, included J. Oscar Phinney, John G. Gordon and Charles E. Lalime. At the church corporation meeting, presided over by the pastor, reports were made by Richard Gumb, Miss Collina L. Lalime and the pastor. These officers were elected: Deacons, Louis Browning, Kenneth A. Stewart, Richard Gumb, Francis T. Fletcher, Charles E. Thurston, Eugene Morrill, Samuel G. Stephens and F. Harold Hanson; superintendent of schools, Sterling B. Crosby; standing committee, Miss Mary T. Gordon, Mrs. F. T. Fletcher, Mrs. H. K. Vye and the deacons; baptismal committee, Mrs. Eliza Beck, Miss Minnie Aylward, Mrs. Helen Clement, T. A. Laporte, Frederick Flynn and Ernest Craig; chief usher, Paul Hayes; music committee, Ethel D. Gordon, Alfred W. Kennedy and Richard Gumb.

CONCERT BY BOSTON SYMPHONY ENSEMBLE

The committee in charge of the Moser Greeley Parker lectures announces that arrangements have just been made for the postponed concert by the Boston Symphony Ensemble which has been definitely scheduled for Wednesday evening, April 25, at the Lowell Memorial Auditorium. The program which was prepared for March 5 will be presented and Mr. Henry Gideon will carry out the lecture feature of the entertainment.

The committee also states that it became necessary sometime ago for Mr. B. R. Baumgardt to cancel his date announced on the second series tickets for April 1, because he was recalled by the University of California to start immediately upon his lecture tour throughout the state to prepare the people of California for an understanding of the approaching eclipse of the sun. This is an interesting experiment in which a great state university undertakes to educate all the people of the state and get them ready for the proper understanding of an extraordinary natural phenomenon. It is probable that nothing of the sort is so large a scale has ever before been attempted. The committee deemed it the proper thing to release Mr. Baumgardt in order that he should carry on this great work.

Well-paintings which have been hidden under whitewash for 600 years are now being restored at Paston church, Norfolk, England.

Diamond feels much colder to the tongue than does paste of glass.

REAPPEARANCE OF COLIN O'MORE

The coming concert by Colin O'More, the celebrated lyric tenor, is expected to prove one of the outstanding musical events of the season. Next Thursday night is the date upon which the famous artist, who made such a deep impression here on Feb. 11, is to make his reappearance by popular request. Judging from the advance demand for tickets, a great crowd will be on hand to greet Mr. O'More, who in his first season on concert tour he scored brilliant successes in New York, Boston, Providence, Lowell and elsewhere. In fact, in every city in which he appeared return engagements followed.

Tickets are on sale at Steinhardt store in Merrimack street.

FOR BENEFIT OF VETS' ASSOCIATION

Women friends of Grand Army veterans entertained in Post 120 hall, Merrimack street, yesterday afternoon and evening, the program including a successful supper and two whist parties arranged for the benefit of the Lowell association of New Hampshire G. A. R. veterans. The affair was organized by Mrs. John V. Daniels, whose husband is a G. A. R. veteran, and Mrs. W. A. Coburn. They were assisted by many friends glad to aid the entertainment planners and be of service to the war veterans and their supporters. Whist was played in the afternoon, beginning at 2.30 o'clock. Prizes were awarded during intermission at 6 o'clock. Mrs. Ada Myrick had direct charge of the supper that followed. Afterward a candy counter was patronized by many. At 8 o'clock tables were cleared for whist again. First prize, a table lamp, donated by the John L. Robertson Co., was won by Charles Barker. A second prize, bouquet lamp, was awarded Miss Amy Stanley, and a pooby prize, basket of candy, was captured by Miss Sarah Peabody. The winners of the ladies whist prizes were Mrs. J. Houston, Mrs. J. Butcher, Mrs. V. McNally, Mrs. E. M. Carpenter. Winners of the men's trophies were A. Tierney, A. Davis, H. Edwards and Howard Feller. THREE FIRE ALARMS There were three fire alarms last evening. The first was from box 622 at 8.09 o'clock for an automobile fire in Lakeview avenue. The second was a telephone alarm at 8.27 o'clock for a brush fire in Westview street. At 8.55 o'clock an alarm was sounded from box 512 for a blaze at 186 Wilder street. In Glasgow there are 10,000 marriages yearly, and only 1000 new houses available.

WINS HONORS IN ENGINEERING SCHOOL

Mr. Henry H. Harris, headmaster at the high school, has received a letter from the head of the school of engineering, Northeastern university, stating that David C. Milne, a former resident of Lowell who entered the army while attending the local high school and later was injured fighting in France, has won high honors in his department at school. Although Mr. Milne no longer resides in Lowell, there are many of his friends here who remember him and will be interested to hear of his success in the engineering school. The letter follows: Dear Sir:—You will no doubt be pleased to learn that David C. Milne is an honor student in the School of Engineering of Northeastern university for the period ending March 3, 1923. This means that he has received an average of 80 per cent or over in the subjects in the engineering curriculum pursued during the current year for the period ending on the above date. We are glad to have Mr. Milne as a student in the school. Yours truly, CARL S. ELL.

COMMUNICATION

Editor of The Lowell Sun, Lowell, Mass. Dear Sir:—I would like you to publish in the columns of your paper this letter in fullness and justice to the patrons of dances and managers of dance halls in this vicinity. For the past month at different dates, articles have appeared in our local papers on conditions at dance halls which have been a detriment to the business. Prohibition has made conditions that never existed before, but nevertheless conditions in dance halls in Lowell are better than any city in New England and much better than they ever were.

There are many young ladies and gentlemen in Lowell and vicinity who have to work for small wages and have to spend in dancing as much as they can afford. They are not in the habit of spending much money as they have to when they attend the Auditorium, where the prices are too high for their earnings. The Auditorium has been used for dancing and has been praised by your paper for the dances held there, and in one of your articles in "The Man About Town" one of your writers inferred that dances are not seen there in the Auditorium that are allowed in the other dance halls. Now, for my part, I wish to state that I have co-operated with clergy, police women and social workers on the dancing question and personally supervise all parties in Associate hall and any suggestion offered to help the morale by these people always was put into effect if possible. I have tried to give to the people of Lowell a hall second to none for dancing at the smallest admission possible and in the course of my life, which is four years, will gross a $100,000 business and it would be foolish of me to allow these conditions to exist that are being referred to now. I would like you to visit Associate hall when we have capacity crowds and see conditions as they are and notice the deportment and manners of these young ladies and gentlemen that have been praised highly by every social worker, police woman and orchestra that came here from out of town. Trusting that you will find time to give us a visit and I am sure you will find a happy, decent and respectable party, with one thought for all and that is the motto of Associate hall, "On with the Dance." Thanking you in advance, I remain Yours truly, FRANCIS J. ROANE, Mgr., Associate Hall.

NOT THIS JAMES The Sun has been requested to state that the James McMahon, who appeared in the district court on Monday, was not the James McMahon who lives at 57 Thayer street.

MITCHELL CLOTHES ARE CUSTOM CUT

Each suit and overcoat individually tailored to YOUR BODY—cut for you only—not thousands at one time.

ATTENTION!

If your garment was promised for Easter, it will positively be ready. Signed, MITCHELL.

And yet there are Men in this city who are what might be termed swell dressers—and there are those who have the idea that to be in that class they must go to Boston or New York and patronize a Fifth Avenue shop. Now I would like to dissipate that idea. I want all men to know they can get as fine service right here in this city as they can get in Boston, New York, Paris, or London, and this is not an idle statement, but an honest-to-goodness truth. Here's my proposition:—I am classed as a popular-priced tailor, and truthfully so, but I will duplicate any $50.00 garment made in Boston or any other place for $35.00. I'll fit you as well as human ingenuity and skill will permit. I'll guarantee the cloth will be the best that can be procured, and if in making the garment I fail to measure up to what you think the garment ought to be, I'll keep it and thank you for the courtesy of having given me the chance I've longed for. That's about as far as anyone can go. Think so?

I've never been ashamed of the patterns shown in my shop, and I believe I have exercised more care in cloth selection this season than ever before, and there are thousands of yards of the most beautiful patterns on display. Needless to say that every fabric will stand the acid test. When a manufacturer will weave his name in the selvedge of the cloth and the original ticket is on the bolt, it means something—and I have hundreds of such patterns. All I ask is: Look my line over; get samples before you make any definite choice elsewhere.

Suit or Overcoat to Order

My organization is ready to serve you, ready to take your measure, cut the cloth, then tailor the garment to your individual requirements, and I have over three hundred different patterns, including blacks and blues, to select from. Easter Special to order—

Indian War Has "Movie" Color

PIUTE INDIANS ENGAGED IN WARFARE AGAINST WHITES IN UTAH. INSET ABOVE IS "BISHOP'S BOY," WHOSE ARREST CAUSED THE WAR AND WHO LATER WAS KILLED. INSET SHOWS UNITED STATES MARSHAL J. RAY WARD.

By NEA Service

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, March 29.—

All the picturesque features that characterize Indian warfare as depicted in "penny dreadfuls" and wild west movies have been resurrected in what is probably America's last Indian war, now being ended in the mountains near here.

"Old Posey," reputed leader of the warring Piutes and Utes, took part in warfare against the whites when the war was young.

He is said to have surrounded himself with a body of old-time scalpers who are ready to amputate the hair of any whites that come within their grasp.

War Paint Used

War paint and the traditional war attire of the tribes is being used.

Fighting on both sides is being carried out from behind trees, stumps and rocks. The locale of the battle is the wildest part of the Utah mountains.

But this last dash of insurrection on the part of the fast vanishing Redskins is doomed to failure. For even now the mountains have been wiped almost clean of renegade Redskins by posse under the direction of United States Marshal J. Ray Ward.

There have been frequent clashes between the settlers and the Indians of San Juan county during the last few years and now the settlers are determined to rid the country of the Indian menace.

The present trouble started when "Old Dutch's Boy" and "Bishop's Boy" were seized for robbing a sheep camp. The Piute Indians surrounded the village of Blanding, opened fire on the town and rescued the two youths.

Indicator Killed

Later "Bishop's Boy" was shot and killed by the white posse.

Formerly the Indians of Utah camped close to Salt Lake city and were seen frequently in the streets. Gradually they retreated and were placed on reservation.

The Old Posey gang, composed largely of young renegades from several tribes as well as the Piute and Ute, never stayed long on the reservation.

to oppose this bill for the following reasons:

(1) Such a referendum is futile, as Massachusetts alone cannot effect a change in either of these particulars. Nothing short of a nation-wide referendum has any value, and the constitution of the United States has no provision for a referendum.

(2) For the legislature to enact this bill would discourage law enforcement.

WOMEN SHOULD ACT QUICKLY

When a woman finds herself afflicted with backache, headaches, nervousness, dragging-down pains, pain in her side, irregularities and irritability, dark circles appear under the eyes and her complexion gets sallow, she may be sure the underlying cause is some ailment peculiar to her sex. Such women should act quickly and take the great American remedy for such conditions, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and they may be saved years of suffering. For generations this old-fashioned root and herb medicine has been restoring ailing women to health, and it may be relied upon with perfect confidence.—Adv.

officers and encourage violators of the law, and place Massachusetts in a false position.

(3) Even the Constitutional Liberty League, which appeared against house 641 (the other bill), opposed house 311 at the hearing, as unnecessary. Its support came almost solely from a few individuals.

(4) The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment last year polled the senators and congressmen on the matters involved in house 314 and the electorate in their districts in effect approved their views on this subject in electing them last fall. No further referendum is necessary.

(5) If a referendum should carry in the state, but not in every congressional district, what position would a congressman then take? This shows the referendum is nothing but a straw vote.

(6) The 18th amendment prohibits intoxicating beverages. A congressman should not be asked to violate his oath to uphold the constitution by supporting a bill legalizing beer and wines admittedly intoxicating. Such a referendum, if a majority of the votes cast thereon should be affirmative, would virtual demand violation.

As to its own bill, house 641, the league writes:

"House 641 is the minimum of law enforcement. We trust the legislature will pass it for the following reasons:

(1) Because the existing state law deals effectively only with the sale of intoxicating liquor. There is no state law relative to the manufacture and transportation of intoxicating liquor, although there was a transportation law which was omitted in the recent codification of the general laws.

(2) Necessity for this legislation was strongly urged before the committee by the president of the Association of Chiefs of Police of Massachusetts. It was further urged by the attorney general and by district attorneys reporting upon the matter to the attorney general, and by representatives of organizations whose membership ran into the thousands.

(3) Without this legislation the 1000 to 2000 police officers of the state, together with the various courts of the state cannot be effectively utilized to deal with the increasing violations of the law, because of the lack of sufficient federal officers. This existing state machinery can be used with little extra expense to the state and there will be a large revenue from fines.

(4) Massachusetts ratified the 18th amendment and is now one of the only two states that have failed to pass concurrent legislation. It is clearly the duty of the legislature to have Massachusetts keep faith with her sister states by passing house bill 641.

(5) In house 1567 of 1922, a minority of the committee on legal affairs opposed to the enforcement act upon the ballot last November stated in section 3 of their report: By amending the law as it stands now with the insertion of the words 'manufacture' and 'transport' in the appropriate sections to make it a crime to manufacture and transport intoxicating liquors, the commonwealth of Massachusetts could have all the enforcement of the law which the 18th amendment demands.

"In drafting house 641 this year, the petitioners kept in mind the suggestions of the minority members of the committee on legal affairs of last year."

YOUNG ACTRESSES APPEAL TO FANS

BERLIN, March 30.—Germany's Hollywood lies in the very heart of Berlin. It is on the edge of the zoological garden and is overlooked by the Kaiser Wilhelm memorial church, which the Kaiser used to attend before his hurried flight to Holland.

Films are produced also in Munich and several other places in the German republic, but the greatest film-producing company has its indoor and outdoor studio together in the very center of the best section of Berlin. Many street car lines converge at this point and passengers are able to see over the stone walls surrounding the outdoor studio.

It is not uncommon for Julius Caesar, Lucretia Borgia, Frederick the Great, Henry the Eighth and Mary Queen of Scots and their supporting companies to appear before plastic walls and plaster palaces with as great a gallery watching over the walls as may be found outside an American ball park when a championship series is on.

The movie park is not as large as Universal City and many of the other plants in California, but it has a background of beautiful forest trees and shrubbery and the adjoining zoological gardens afford a great variety of animals.

Elephants, camels and giraffes can be produced on short notice for Hamlet and the Pharaohs. There are also small lakes within easy reach for water scenes.

Potsdam, with its many palaces, is a favorite place with moving picture producers. Sans Souci palace, especially, is frequently used as a background for French dramas of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, and the Potsdam city palace, with Frederick the Great's old parade ground, is a popular setting for German films with a military background.

Actors and actresses of the legitimate stage are used in the German movies far more than they are in America. There is not the same demand here for extremely youthful heroines that exists in the United States, and the Germans like to see their favorite legitimate actresses in films even if they are not as beautiful as the juveniles who have claimed the spotlight in the American movie world.

But there are indications that the taste in Germany is changing with the importation of more recent American stars which feature actresses in their teens. Illustrious and character films which afforded excellent opportunity for actors without either youth or beauty, have been somewhat overdone, and the German movie fans are turning toward lighter pictures.

FARMERS' SUCCESS SETS NATION'S PACE

WASHINGTON, March 30.—The urgent need for a better understanding between the important groups of citizens engaged in agriculture, in industry, and in general business is forcefully pointed out by Henry C. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, in a statement discussing their relationship.

"As our civilization becomes more complex," he declares, "the relationship between agriculture, industry and general business becomes more and more intimate. What hurts the one will certainly hurt the others. In general, what helps one will help the others. They must work together for the common good."

"There has always been a tacit recognition of our national dependence upon agriculture. We have given an intellectual assent to such statements as, 'the farmer is the backbone of the nation,' 'a prosperous nation depends upon a prosperous agriculture,' 'agriculture is the basis of national life,' and so on. The truth of such statements has never been driven home to us so effectively as during the last two years."

The drop in prices which began early in 1920 is familiar history. Farmers were the first to suffer and suffered most. Taking prices of 1912 as representing 100, the prices of farm products in May, 1920, stood at 233. During that month they began to fall, and before the decline could be arrested they had dropped below the 1912 level, standing at 94 in December, 1921. Then we had a terribly vivid illustration of our dependence upon agriculture and the intimate relationship between agricultural prosperity and business prosperity. Many farmers could not pay current expenses. The ratio between prices of things the farmers produced and sold and prices of the things they bought was so distorted that they were forced to practice the most rigid economy and reduce their buying to absolute necessities. Great industries which depend directly upon farm buying were plunged almost immediately into profound depression. Thousands of manufacturing plants had a similar experience. The railroads suffered through reduction in freight on things farmers buy. Business of every sort shared the disaster. Hundreds of banks failed. Thousands of banks tottered along the edge of bankruptcy. Perhaps three million men were thrown out of work. The financial depression was widespread.

"The turn was reached in the winter of 1921-22, since which time there has been a gradual increase in the prices of farm products. Gradually farmers have been able to pay some of their debts and resume their buying. As a result there has been a steady improvement in business, until now there is general optimism. The ratio between prices of farm products and prices of other commodities is still abnormal. Until this ratio becomes more nearly normal the full measure of prosperity will not be restored."

"While the experience of the last three years has brought sharply to our attention the intimate relationship between business and agriculture, the existence of such intimate relationship is no new thing. A comparison of the farmer's purchasing power with business failures during the last third of a century tells the story in graphic way. During the 10 years 1890 to 1900 the purchasing power of the farmer was below the 30 year average; the percentage of business failures was considerably above. From 1900 to 1920 there was a gradual increase in the farmer's purchasing power. From 1900 to 1905 this purchasing power was almost the average of the 30 year period, while from 1905 to 1920 it was considerably above. The percentage of business failures dropped below the 30 year average from 1890 to 1920 with the exception of two short periods, one in 1908 and the other in 1914 and 1915."

"We have about 6,000,000 farmers. More than one-fourth of all our people who are engaged in gainful occupations work on the farms. The capital invested in farming is about 70 billion dollars. The money invested in farm buildings, machinery and live stock, not including the value of the farm land, would buy all the railroads in the United States and in addition a considerable number of the mines."

"The number of people engaged in farming is 30 per cent greater now than in 1870, but the volume of crop production in 1920 was 265 per cent greater than in 1870."

"Business and agriculture are dependent upon one another. A prosperous agriculture means a prosperous nation. It is to the advantage of the business man that the farmer be fairly prosperous. Conversely it is to the advantage of the farmer that business be fairly prosperous. It is not to the advantage of either that either the one or the other should be so prosperous that it stimulates speculation and waste is stimulated, because adversity always follows such a period."

Fight for Cemetery Waged By Farmers and Oil Men

VIEWS OF THE CHURCH AND CEMETERY AT PRAIRIE VIEW, OKLA., BASIS OF A FIGHT BETWEEN FARMERS AND OIL INTERESTS. NOTE THE DERRICKS PUSHED UP TO THE VERY BORDER OF THE CHURCH GROUNDS. INSET: SAM MCKEE, FARMER MADE RICH THROUGH OIL, WHO IS FIGHTING WITH THE FARMERS AGAINST THE OIL INTERESTS.

By NEA Service
PRAIRIE VIEW, Okla., March 29.—With the possession of a country church—a white frame structure—and its adjacent cemetery as an issue, armed warfare has broken out in this hitherto peaceful community between two rival groups.
On the one hand are the farmers of Prairie View, who have resolved the sanctity of their church and of the last resting place of 250 pioneers of this region shall not be desecrated—and they are ready to back up their determination with shotguns.
They are opposed by a powerful oil corporation which claims it has secured a lease to the property occupied by the church and graveyard and demands the right to sink oil wells on the hallowed ground.
In rich oil region
Prairie View is in the heart of the rich Tonkawa petroleum region. Where wheat fields peacefully waved two years ago, a gaunt forest of derricks stands today.
Farmers have become millionaires over night. Derricks rear their heads to heaven in the very back yards of farmhouses. Oil wells were sunk within a few feet of the church and cemetery fence.
Farmers watched all these changes come and were not disturbed until—
One oil company announced a few days ago it had secured the right to drill on the land occupied by the United Brethren Church, built in 1901, and the churchyard where the bones of this community's ancestors have been consigned to rest.
A representative of the oil company advanced into the churchyard and started an excavation. A group of farmers arrived, picked the oil man up by the seat of the trousers and deposited him unceremoniously outside the confines of the sacred soil.

Armed Guards Posted

Then the farmers organized a body, armed with revolvers and shotguns, to maintain a 24-hour watch daily over the sacred spot.
At the same time the oil interests answered by posting a patrol on their property adjoining the church.

So today on one side of the fence the farmer patrol paces ceaselessly while on the other side the oil company's watchers mount guard, making the humble churchyard fence take on the appearance of an international boundary.

J. B. Thompson is captain of the farmers' guard. He has divided his men into groups and four are kept on "picket duty" at all times.

Sam McKee, a farmer who has made thousands in oil royalties, is one of the leaders in opposing desecration of the cemetery by oil interests.

While the armed guards continue their patrol, the whole matter is being threshed out in court. The circuit court has just issued a temporary order restraining the oil interests from drilling on the church property. A further ruling is expected within a few days.

PLAN WORLD'S LARGEST ELECTRIC PLANT

CHICAGO, March 30. (By the Associated Press.)—Electrical engineers the world over are watching Chicago in her attempt to rear the largest electric plant in the world—a station whose ultimate capacity will be approximately 600,000 horsepower, or 600,000 kilowatts. The largest plant now in operation anywhere has a capacity rating of 230,000 kilowatts.

The new colliery, the project of the Commonwealth Edison company, purveyor of things electrical to almost the entire Chicago territory, is expected to be in operation by August, 1924. The generating room, which is to house 10 huge steam turbine-generator units, each capable of producing 40,000 to 60,000 kilowatts, will be slightly more than 800 feet long, and 125 feet wide. Each generator will produce 60-cycle energy at 12,000 volts. The entire plant, comprising three principal units in addition to the turbine room, will occupy 72 acres of city property. Storage space for 300,000 tons of coal is provided. Fuel requirements for the anticipated normal operation, which is expected never to exceed capacity, will be about 133 cars of coal daily or approximately 2,000,000 tons a year.

Economy of fuel was a chief aim of the designers, and to what extent their efforts in this direction were successful is indicated by the announcement that the same electrical output under the most efficient operating practices developed 10 years ago would have required close to 2,500,000 tons of coal, or 50 per cent more than will be required in the new plant.

Availability of super-high-pressure steam boilers with which to operate the turbine-generators was the principal factor in the selection of the higher mechanical efficiency. The specially designed steam plant will feed the turbines at 550 pounds to the square inch, which compares with a pressure of 325 pounds in the local station of the Commonwealth Edison company, the largest, and generally accepted as the most efficient fuel-power producer now in operation. Fifty boilers, five to each generating unit, make up the energy center. Five steel smoke stacks, 19 feet in diameter and 175 feet high will carry off the smoke from their insatiable throats.

Still another superior appendage of the new plant will be its primary feed cables to other generating stations, designed to facilitate the switching of loads during abnormal "peak-draw periods" at the smaller plants. These cables, 10 in number, and entirely underground, will be spaced at 35,000 volts, to four small power houses.

ASK EQUALIZATION OF HOURS AND PAY

Employees of the water works have asked the board of public service for an equalization or adjustment of working hours and pay with that of men of the street department and the matter will be taken up for discussion at the board meeting next Thursday afternoon. Ash division men also request an adjournment of working hours and this, too, will be talked over next week. Both requests were received by the board yesterday at a meeting held after a motion picture demonstration of a tractor snow remover.

City Engineer Stephen Kearney was instructed to prepare loan orders for $40,000 for paving, $50,000 for sewers, and $10,000 for sidewalks for presentation to the city council.

Supt. Robert Gardner of the water works submitted a report on the West Sixth street pumping station and stressed the need of a new boiler. His report was tabled for later consideration.

Engineer Kearney reported the condition of the Allen Street bridge and recommended repairs at an early date. He was asked to submit an estimate of proposed work at the next meeting.

Routine matters were disposed of and a batch of sewer and sidewalk petitions were referred to hearing on April 12, at 7:30 p. m.

Brydon and Wentworth, directors, have been in Lowell recently arranging for the groups of singers and dancers. It is expected that the leading parts will be assigned during the coming week.

Many invitations have been sent to the men-folks asking their attendance at the Saturday night invitation dance and it is expected that Saturday's party will be one of the best. Miss Whiffery Haggerty will be hostess at this party.

BIG TREAT IN STORE FOR MUSIC LOVERS

Warrenrath, the baritone, who is shortly to appear here under the management of the Lowell Choral society has long been a favorite in Boston where he has sung many times, in recital, with orchestra and in oratorio but never did he receive such an ovation as when last November he appeared with the Boston Symphony orchestra, singing some new songs by Daniel Gregory Mason. The critical comments were extraordinarily enthusiastic. Philip Hale in the Herald said: "It is not easy to forget the singer in speaking of Mr. Mason's songs. Mr. Warrenrath has made them his own, what would other baritones do with them? Mr. Warrenrath's part in the performance was worthy of the highest praise. The singer recreated Mr. Mason's music." H. T. Parker in the Transcript wrote: "If Mr. Mason has done his feat of illustrative music still more has Mr. Warrenrath done his of characterization in tones. All his powers of voice, command of songs, vigors of imagination join together to this single end and accomplish it. The propulsive force that poet and composer miss he summons. They are heard and noted. He vanishes, while through him these Russians speak." The other papers spoke in like manner of these performances.

Later during the season, in the hall-dance, he was summoned to Boston to sing in the performances of "The Mas-sachusetts" given by the Handel and Haydn society. Of his performance the Herald said: "Especially noteworthy was the singing of Mr. Warrenrath because he made the aria which so often are sung as mere decorations take on a thoroughly emotional character. Surely the cyclonic Handel would have relished the spirit and the gusto and the intelligence of this singing."

THRILLING RESCUE AT SOUTH BOSTON FIRE

BOSTON, March 30.—Lieut. Thomas F. Twomey of Ladder 13, who lives at 47 Etna street, Brighton, was rescued by his comrades yesterday afternoon from what seemed sure death in the flames, while fighting a fire in the lumber drying building of the J. P. Paul company, 81 Bristol street, South End. At the height of the fire he was on the roof of the four-story building, directing the work of his men, when the roof fell in and he was carried headlong into the mass of burning lumber below. His men, acting with great coolness, turned their line of hose upon him and he was covered with a curtain of water. Lieut. McKeever then lowered a plank to him and, aided by a life line and bolt hooks, Lieut. Twomey was pulled out of the fire. At first it was feared that he was seriously burned, but he was reported as being in no danger following treatment at the City hospital. He suffered painful burns on the face, however.

The English language contains about twenty thousand words which are of French origin.

$200,000 DAMAGE

Typhoon Struck Island of Guam—No Lives Lost

AGAMA, Guam, March 30 (by the Associated Press).—A typhoon of moderate intensity struck the island of Guam last Saturday, raged for four days with varying degrees of velocity and finally receded without causing loss of life, but leaving in its wake property damage estimated at $200,000.

Opals are so soft when first taken from the ground that they may be pulled apart with the fingers.

MINERS THREATEN TO STRIKE IN HALIFAX

PITTSBURGH, March 30.—Philip Murray, international vice president of the United Mine Workers was in close touch today with the labor situation in the Halifax district, where dispatches said, union miners were threatening to call a strike in sympathy with the steel workers.

"The situation in the Halifax district has been called to my attention by Harry Barrett of Glouce Bay, N. S.," he said, "and I have wired him that no strike can be called without violation of the international constitution until it has been investigated under our laws by officers authorized to do so. If the district organization makes the complaint there is no reason why the investigation should not be ordered immediately. If there is a strike without authorization—well, that is a bridge we will cross when we reach it."

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

The play without a title has been unusually successful at the Lowell Opera house this week. It is one of the brightest and cleverest plays that has been produced in some time. The lines are bright and sparkling and the situations are the kind that get the most out of the story development. The plot is based on the successful efforts of a young inventor to produce a substitute for gasoline despite the many obstacles in his way. Mary Anne Dentler and Richard Morgan in the leading parts give thoroughly artistic portrayals and Arthur de Lord as the young inventor, shows exceptional ability. Next week the famous Hawaiian production, "The Bird of Paradise," will be presented, with the original Hawaiian quintet assisting. The advance sale for the show is already very heavy and patrons are requested to order their seats as early as possible in order that they will not be disappointed.

CLAIMS for an oil mean nothing—Tests tell the story!

There are just two kinds of tests that mean anything to the motorist—

One of these is the experience of other motorists. The other is an actual scientific test, made by a capable chemist with a delicate apparatus that gives a positive, definite result.

Judged by either of these—Coburn's CE-BE-CO MOTOR OIL Proves its superiority as a lubricant for pleasure cars, motortrucks and motorcycles!

CONFER AT MILAN

Mussolini and Skrzynski in Conference

MILAN, March 30.—Premier Mussolini had a prolonged conference here yesterday with Foreign Minister Skrzynski of Poland. The officials discussed the general political situation and economic questions affecting both countries. It is stated semi-officially that the meeting is expected to have the best practical results.

COLLIE PUP HAD RIVER ADVENTURE

Considerable excitement was caused this morning in the vicinity of the East Merrimack street bridge over the Concord river when a dog was seen floating down the river on a piece of driftwood. Police and Humane society officials were notified and Mr. Baker, an agent of the latter society, went in haste to the rescue of the animal. Upon his arrival there he saw that the dog was out of danger, being in shallow water near the side of the Massachusetts mill's dye house. He went to the dye house and, with the aid of Edgar Ally, an employee of the mill, lowered a ladder down to the shallow water. Mr. Ally donned a pair of rubber boots and waded from the ladder to the dog and passed it to Mr. Baker, who had remained at the foot of the ladder, and he carried it to safety. The dog was a collie pup and had no collar, so Mr. Ally kindly volunteered to take the dog and give it a home.

While the rescue was being effected and just prior to it, a great crowd had gathered on the bridge and along the walks of the Auditorium and a great sigh of relief went up from this gathering as they saw the dog rescued.

The dog did not appear to be exhausted when found, and as collies are considered exceptionally good swimmers, it seems odd that the pup made no attempt to reach shore, unless it was that he had spring fever and desired to travel to new scenes and considered a trip down the river on driftwood much easier than walking.

India has a small fish, the gourami, which gives an audible croak when on the surface of the water.

Who Chased Them—Escaped in Auto

BOSTON, March 30.—Fur thieves who took a valuable coat from the rack in Lamson & Hubbard's store on Boylston street, today, fired a shot at Carlisle Prout, a clerk who chased them, and then escaped in an automobile which they had left nearby.

The two men entered the store together and, while one discussed a sale with Prout, the other took the most valuable coat in sight, and started for the door. Prout pursued and the second man, overtook and passed him, ordered him to stop and then fled. Prout escaped injury.

SCHOONER CONDEMNED AND SOLD

FLEET LOST IN STORM

HIGHLANDS, N. J., March 30. (By the Associated Press).—The queen of the Highlands rum running fleet was lost during the heavy northwest gale Wednesday.

The queen ship, the largest and fastest putting out from Highlands to the rum armada, off shore, was lost while making her second trip to the maritime liquor mart.

When she started for shore with 100 cases of liquor having an estimated retail value of $7500, she encountered a 48-mile gale which forced her to return to the later, a British steamer which once served as a yacht for Robert Goetz from which she had purchased her cargo.

The runner managed to come alongside the later and her water soaked crew was taken off. The boat, valued at $3000, foundered with her cargo.

The later took care of the crew until the gale abated. Then they were landed by a rum-runner from New York.

376TH INFANTRY

The officers of the 376th regiment are holding a supper and get-together at the Hotel Bellevue in Boston tomorrow evening. Major General Andrew Brewster, commanding officer of the First Corps Area, Col. Bowles, commanding officer of the 376th and

Lieut.-Col. Doyle, executive officer of the 376th are to be present and will address the gathering on various subjects relative to their work in the Organized Reserves.

Several officers of this regiment are located in Lowell and have received invitations to be present. One company is located here and is under the command of Capt. Joseph Kelly, and four second lieutenants.

The local officers do not know just what form the entertainment will take but it is expected that it will be in the form of a theatre party after the supper.

HELD MEETING IN WORCESTER

B. Gaston Campbell, secretary-treasurer of the Merrimack Valley Farm Loan association, attended the meeting of secretary-treasurers of the various loan associations of New England, which was held in Worcester yesterday. The meeting was conducted in the Horticultural hall and in attendance were 29 men from various points of New England.

Several important items concerning the associations were discussed and particularly the so-called "New Rural Credit System" bill, which was recently enacted by the federal government at Washington, and which has to do with the federal land bank. The meeting proved of great interest to all present.

British boys will be sent from England to Australia at the rate of $50 a month if a scheme of emigration recently launched by the Australian government proves successful.

Seek House-Breakers

to the lake cottage to secure some of his valuables and bring them to Lowell.

The former police official today offered a reward of $5 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the house-breakers who made the Mount Dale Goodwin camp cottage a riotous place while they remained there, recklessly turning the house contents upside down and breaking valuable articles of furniture besides carrying away many personal belongings.

Included in the loot carried away were stores of eggs, butter and crackers, 15 pounds of sugar, jewelry of value and personal trinkets, including a valuable pearl necklace and a prized jade bracelet.

Although former Inspector Goodwin had visited the cottage at the lake-side just off Bowen avenue and not far from the park pavilion, no later than Sunday last, as has been his habit nearly all winter, there was no evidence of anyone having been in the cottage before that time, with the exception of one day late last fall, when gloves broke in but took little of value. The break is believed to have been made Wednesday night of the present week. Entrance was effected by smashing a low cellar window in the rear. The cellar door was locked, but two axes were found and the main door was broken in.

A regular meeting of the Painters' union was held last evening in Trades & Labor hall, Central street with Pres. Shaw in the chair. There was a large attendance, routine business was transacted and the proposed wage increase question was discussed.

readers quickly smashed the door panels and gained entrance to the hallway. They forced the other doors to the different rooms easily, and looted the house from top to bottom.

The former police official kept numerous articles of clothing in the cottage regularly, as he visited the cottage frequently during the winter, going back and forth sometimes twice a week.

The thieves first started fires in the stoves and cooked at least two meals of eggs, using crackers and plenty of creamy butter as "fillers." The floors and tables in the kitchen were covered with debris of dried food scattered about.

From the Goodwin wardrobe were stolen a dress coat, a pair of new shoes, trousers, neckties, handkerchiefs and other articles of everyday clothing. Other rooms were visited and considerable jewelry that had been left there temporarily in what was thought to be a safe place, was found by the thieves and carried off.

Mr. Goodwin found the electric lights burning both in the cellar and upstairs when he visited the place yesterday. The thieves must have turned them on freely when working through the various rooms, and failed to turn them off when they departed from the house.

The kitchen table was found to contain various weapons of defense carefully laid in a row when Mr. Goodwin visited the place and discovered the break. Two axes, newly sharpened, lay across one side of the table, a four-foot poker lay close by. And a huge bread knife also rested on the table for apparent emergency in case of a sudden surprise.

The beds had been slept in at least one night, the authorities report. From the imprints of shoes in the snow still remaining just outside the lake cottage, the police say there must have been at least four men or boys in the house-breaking party.

None of the cottagers in the vicinity remember anyone walking earlier in the week toward the little cottage—Mount Dale camp—is located. Visitors to the pond shores are usually scarce in the winter time, although fishermen travel through the lonely streets and fields occasionally in order to reach the shores of Mascuppie and fish through the ice.

Frank Goodwin joined the Lowell police department March 2, 1872, and although retired on half-pay 12 years ago, proudly claims the honor of having never been officially relieved from police duty and is subject to call any time, he proudly claims. He still wears on his "daily vest" a solid gold police badge that was presented to him by a Lowell newspaper that conducted a contest for the "most popular Lowell policeman." Goodwin made an easy win, securing just 292,400 votes. During his life-time on the local force, when he was advanced from patrolman to sergeant and then inspector, he patrolled districts down in "The Acre" and elsewhere. He was for years on the "liquor squad." He has won other local contests for popularity "first" and captured such prizes as a full uniform, badges, caps, belts and arms.

Luckily, the former inspector said today, the "scamps" who got away with his other valuables from the Mascuppie camp, didn't get their fingers on his prize clothing and badge. That badge is something that he highly prizes along with the other mementoes of his police work of a former period in the life of Lowell.

Spectacular Gun Battle

cause of one of the most spectacular street gun battles here in years.

It was a case of two members of the force, strangers to each other, one a detective, the other a police sergeant, both in plain clothes and both off duty, who mistook his fellow officer for a bandit. The sergeant, James McDade, escaped unhurt.

Sergeant McDade and a woman companion were promenading when the policeman noticed two men whose appearance aroused his suspicions. When they darted into a cigar store, McDade watched them through the window.

He did not have a clear view of the whole room. If he had, he would have seen the two step up to the counter to make a purchase. He did not see what Detective Cordes saw. For the "suspects" were Cordes and his brother Harry.

Cordes saw three men, two of them fumbling near the store safe. He knew them for bandits so he drew his revolver and said: "Stick 'em up!"

What Sergeant McDade saw was Detective Cordes just out his gun. He thought he was a bandit, so he darted in and, standing behind Cordes, said: "Now you stick 'em up!"

Thinking McDade was the "outside" man of the burglary, Cordes wheeled to fire. He met bullets from the bandits and from McDade. As he fell he grabbed the legs of one of the fleeing bandits and shot the other, Whitten, in the abdomen. As Cordes lurched, McDade fired at the detective's brother, striking but not wounding him seriously.

The other hand, was caught by pedestrians.

LEW CODY AS ARTIST R. R. HIGGINS SKETCHED HIM AND AS HE APPEARS IN (TOP TO BOTTOM) "SECRETS OF PARIS," "WITHIN THE LAW," "VALLEY OF SILENT MEN," "JACQUELINE" AND "RUPERT OF HENTZAU."

By JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, March 29.—Lew Cody, fresh as a daisy and with California's famous sun burned deep into his face, opened the door, grabbed my hand and parked himself on the corner of my desk.

Having grown somewhat pasty and irascible in this sunless New York of the past few months, Lew's crisp appearance made me somewhat tense. "Pretty soft for you!" I growled at him. "You movie guys run out to California for the winter, make a picture or two and get enough to live the life of Riley for the next six months. Then you come around here to make a putty-faced, hard-working devil like me feel—"

"Now wait a minute!" Lew interrupted. "Let me tell you what I've been doing and you'll see it hasn't been so easy as you think."

"I've just finished making three pictures at the same time and rushed on here to start work in 'Lawful Larceny' right away. No rest for the wicked, you know."

"That's right. I've never seen you in a film in which you weren't wicked."

"Well, I like my role in 'Within the Law.' You see, as Garson, I give up the woman I love and die a martyr."

"What else you been doing?"

"I was playing Rupert in 'Rupert of Hentzau' when I started on 'Within the Law.' I told Rupert Hughes, who was producing 'Souls for Sale,' about my mustache problem and he obligingly inserted a scene showing me cutting off my mustache to disguise myself."

"Was the disguising episode in the story?"

"No, my character wasn't even in the story."

"That's a good one. Author changes his own story for the movies. Shades of Fanny Hurst and 'Star Dust!' Say, written story. The screen story isn't anything like the printed story. The story as Hughes wrote it wasn't much force as picture material, so Hughes changed it."

Low, when you see Rupert Hughes, you tell him he's about the only writer I know of who retained his common sense after going into the movies. He's the only one who seems to realize that the screen has a form of expression distinctive from the expression of the printed word."

STINNES JOURNEY TO ROME WAS A FAILURE

ROME March 28.—(By the Associated Press) Indications are that the journey of Hugo Stinnes to Rome was a failure. Everybody seemed afraid of being approached by him, fearing that a meeting might be misunderstood.

It is learned authoritatively that Premier Mussolini has not seen Mr. Stinnes, and it is doubtful whether the visitor saw Elbert H. Gary. In fact the only certain point is that Stinnes had a conversation with Fred I. Kennerly of the Bankers' Trust Co. of New York. Judge Gary is on the way to Spain.

ENGINEERS CONTINUE STUDY OF SNAKE RIVER

The study of the power resources of Snake river begun in 1920 by an examination of the river between Huntington, Ore., and Lewiston, Idaho, by engineers of the U. S. geological survey of the interior department was continued in 1922 by a similar examination of the river in southern Idaho, between Milner and Waler.

The report on this work will not be published for several months, but in the meantime in order to make the data that it contains available manuscript copies of it will be open for public inspection at the office of the geological survey in Washington, D. C., and at the office of the district engineer at Boise, Idaho, in room 614 of the Idaho building.

In its western course across southern Idaho Snake river has cut through the basalt and the stratified sediments that make up the extensive plains bordering the river, and between Milner and Waler it has a total fall of nearly 2000 feet. Of this drop 140 feet is concentrated at two points—Twin falls, where the fall is 140 feet, and at Shoshone falls, where it is 200 feet. At high stages of the river both these falls compare favorably in grandeur with Niagara. Shoshone falls is now utilized for the development of power, but Twin falls and many other places, which are fully described in the report, are valuable potential power sites not yet developed.

Prior to 1854, when the main line of the Oregon Short Line railroad was completed across southern Idaho, the Snake river plain from Pocatello westward was a sagebrush desert. Boise had a population of about 50, and other points at which there are now large villages or cities were little more than stage stations. By 1890 the total population of the plain was perhaps 15,000, and a small amount of land was being irrigated. About 1900 the country began to realize that desert lands could be reclaimed by irrigation, and between 1900 and 1910 many extensive government and private irrigation systems were put into operation in southern Idaho and in other western states. Tracts in southern Idaho amounting to more than 1,200,000 acres are now being irrigated.

The report contains maps and descriptions of 19 sites at which 250,000 horsepower could probably be developed, even during times of low-water flow. It sets forth the amount of water available for power development and the schemes by which the fullest use may be made of the water. Chapters of the report are devoted to the physiography and geology of the river valley and to the springs along the river.

"PAGEANT BEAUTIFUL" AT THE AUDITORIUM

Final arrangements for the "pageant beautiful" at the Midway Temperance Institute's Easter Monday party have been completed and everything is in readiness for the big event. The following teachers of dressmaking in the evening vocational schools have entered their classes in the competition: Mrs. Katherine Burns, Mrs. Mary Duval, Mrs. Helen Rouse, Mrs. Elvina Wince, Miss Caro Allen, Miss Mary Bradley, Miss Marion Lawler, Miss Katherine Macdonald, Miss Orla Morgan, Miss Mildred Mulkenney, Miss Margaret Turgeon, Miss Dorothy Ward, Miss Rose Ward and Miss Helen Zoltinger. Teachers and pupils have been extremely busy of late putting the finishing touches on the costumes and now that they are completed, are anxiously waiting for Monday night's test. Great secrecy is still maintained regarding the nature of the costumes and supreme confidence is expressed in every quarter relative to the outcome of the competition.

The unusually strong concert program which will be an additional attraction will be announced tomorrow. Among those who have consented to participate will be found several of the city's favorite entertainers, all of whom were commended with the season. The long dance program, always a popular feature, will extend until 1 o'clock, with the latest dance music featured by an orchestra which is very popular with the dancing public. The advance demand for tickets indicates a record attendance, and the Mats are confident that their first Easter Monday party in the Auditorium is to be an unprecedented success.

MILK WAGON IS REGULAR SALOON

WARE, March 30.—John Pubgalski, a farmer who lives on the so-called Sturtevant farm in the west part of Hardwick, yesterday morning fell into the clutches of Wale and Gilbertville police about two miles outside of Ware on the Gilbertville road.

A search of the cart revealed 20 quarts of moonshine in cans, mixed in with the milk cans, and this was confiscated.

The officers then proceeded to the Pubgalski farm and found one room of the farmhouse equipped for distilling purposes, a large still being in operation. Moonshine was found in many containers.

Detective Cordes a Tragic Victim of Policemen's Zealousness to Duty

Two Members of N. Y. Force Mistook Each Other for Bandit

NEW YORK, March 30.—A tragic victim of policemen's zealousness to duty, Detective John Cordes was in a critical condition today in Presbyterian hospital with four bullets in his body, while alongside him lay an 18-year-old boy, James Whitten, the Reception to Secretary (Continued) his entertainment and reception on next Monday afternoon. Benjamin Pouzner, chairman of the committee, opened the meeting and discussed several methods of making Secretary Davis' visit to Lowell one of the greatest affairs in the city's history. Various members of the committee were delegated to notify the various societies and labor organizations of the city and urge their co-operation and interest.

Sec. Davis is in charge of the labor department of the federal government and his talk will be of the greatest importance to the workers of Lowell. It is to these people, more than anyone else, that his visit is of interest.

Sec. Davis will be entertained at luncheon at Liberty hall at 4 o'clock and will give his address at 5:15. Secretary Davis' arrival in Lowell will mark the first visit of a cabinet officer to Lowell for many years, and as he is considered the best speaker of the cabinet, his address will be well worth hearing.

Secretary Wells of the chamber of commerce is to see to it that the chamber is well represented, and Roy Parthout is to take the matter up with the Middlesex Women's club and endeavor to have them present in a body at the Auditorium. Each and every person in the city who can get into the Auditorium will be welcome Monday afternoon and there is little doubt but what the hall will be filled to capacity. Students of the high, Normal and Textile schools are invited to attend also, and announcements will be made to them when school convenes next Monday to this effect.

The committee which met today consisted of H. Hutchins Parker, president of the Rotary club; Dr. Horbert E. Davis, vice-president of the club; Willard Parker, Roy Parthout, Alvah H. Weaver, George F. Wells, Harry G. Pollard, Benjamin Pouzner, and representatives of the various papers of the city.

PROBE REPORT FIRE SET FREE STATE GOVERNMENT

Theory That Blaze at Nantasket Was Work of Incendiary Being Investigated

BOSTON, March 30.—A theory that the fire which burned most of Paragon Park and several scores of houses at Nantasket beach Wednesday night was the work of an incendiary, was still under investigation by the state fire marshal's staff today. There were reasons for believing that the fire was set, possibly in several places. It was said. The officials explained that they were proceeding on the assumption that if the fire was set, it was the work of a maniac rather than of a person who might have been financially interested in Paragon Park, where flames started.

NO ATLANTIC LANES FREED OF ICEBERGS

WASHINGTON, March 30.—As a result of the beneficent activities of the Gulf stream the North Atlantic steamer lanes have been freed for the time being at least of the menace of ice fields and bergs drifting down from Newfoundland. The coast guard cutter Tampa, on ice patrol duty has informed the navy department that "the bergs and growlers" recently reported are in the Gulf stream and slowly disintegrating.

South Street Tailor "Sewed in" by Federal Officer

also sew on a button for an additional 25 cents. There were two other men in the shop at the time, according to Officer Sullivan's testimony, with whom he had some conversation on subjects far removed from liquor. One of the men left eventually, and when the sewing operation had been completed, the other man in the party whispered to Schliebus about a little drink. The federal officer "smelled a rat" and followed the proprietor and the "other man" into an adjoining room where the federal officer requested that he be allowed to have a drink, too. "Let me pay for the drinks," he said, and handed Schliebus 50 cents for a round of three.

"Did you take a drink yourself?" questioned Attorney Edward J. Tierney. "I did not," replied Agent Sullivan. "Schliebus offered me a drink, saying, 'this is good stuff,' but I told him I was going to catch a train at the depot and that when I kissed my wife good-bye, I didn't want her to smell liquor on my breath. But I'll take a half-pint if you'll sell it to me."

Schliebus said the federal agent, thereupon procured a half-pint, for which he received 55 cents, payment being made with a marked dollar bill. Agent Sullivan then left the shop and signaled Officers Hagley and McElroy. All three entered the store, Sullivan reminding the proprietor that he forgot to tell him he was a federal agent. The proprietor denied having seen the man or having sold any liquor. He was asked to produce the marked dollar bill and he replied that he had not received any money from Sullivan. It was then that Officer Bagley picked up the missing bill from behind a near-by stove. Schliebus stoutly denied having thrown it there. "You put that marked bill there yourself, Mr. Sullivan, did you not?" queried Atty. Tierney. "I did not, I did not," emphatically replied Mr. Sullivan.

"Do you mean to say you didn't throw that money there, and didn't you take four drinks from Schliebus while you were there?" "I have never tasted of liquor, your honor," was Mr. Sullivan's response. Mr. Sullivan then added, and his testimony was corroborated by Officers Bagley and McElroy, that defendant, while being taken to the police station in the wagon, had boasted his fate, saying it was a shame that his family should be disgraced in such a manner. He also said, according to the officers, that the occasion in question was the first time he had sold any liquor.

Speaking for himself, Schliebus testified on the witness stand that he was a married man and has been living in South street since 1915. On the particular day in question, he said, the federal agent and another man, a friend of his, Gus Ellison by name, entered his store, Ellison introducing Mr. Sullivan and asking that his coat be sewn. Ellison then proposed a round of drinks, and all drank, he said.

"Did Mr. Sullivan drink?" "Yes, he drank a little, saying he didn't want his breath to smell," Schliebus further stated that the bottle afterwards, in Mr. Sullivan's possession was taken from his friend Ellison, to whom it was originally given by him. The bottle containing liquor, he said, he had picked up out of an ash barrel in a nearby alleyway. He denied talking with the officers on his way to the police station, but admitted to Deputy Downey that he was the Otto Schliebus who was arrested, convicted and fined $100 for illegal keeping on Dec. 6, 1920. Bonds were fixed at $500 for his appearance in the superior court on the first Monday in April.

WILL HELP DEFRAY EXPENSES OF CENSUS

At a largely attended meeting of the members of the Pawtucketville Social club held last evening in the quarters of the organization in Moody street, it was voted to donate the sum of $50 to the permanent naturalization committee to help defray the expenses of the census which will soon be conducted under the auspices of the committee.

The plan of the naturalization committee is to make a thorough canvass of Lowell to ascertain the number of French-speaking residents and also the number of those whose names appear on the check list as well as those who are eligible to vote. To help along its work the committee has requested the various local social and fraternal organizations to help in the building of a fund, and the Pawtucketville Social club has left the march by voting a $50 subscription.

President Alphonse J. Fortier was in the chair and considerable business was transacted. Three new members were initiated, several applications for membership were received and the committee in charge of the smoke talk for the benefit of the Boston & Maine strikers announced that April 18 has been set as the date for this event.

CHANGE HOME-RAIMENT IN SPRING

Now that spring is officially here, spring and summer raiment for our homes as well as ourselves must be considered. Many a window is fairly mourning to have its heavy winter wear taken off and some light, new draperies supplied.

Down should come even the light taffeta curtains now so popular in well furnished homes, particularly for the bedroom.

And up should go the lightest, airiest, thinnest nets to be found, for soon the heat will be upon us, and every window will be counted upon to do its bit toward cooling the room behind it.

Net Curtains

The handsomest net for living rooms, dining rooms and halls is undoubtedly the now popular square meshed net called tuscan. It comes in a most beautiful and practical dull acro, that shade best loved by the interior decorators because it looks so well in all most any room with any kind of furniture and at any type of window—from the tall, narrow window set in a deep recess to the sauciest of short casement windows.

For the room furnished in antique pieces of either walnut or mahogany, a finer curtain of sampler lace net on easement net is more suitable, because these types of net have quaint, fairy-like done fillet figures which harmonize perfectly with the spirit of the antique.

One of the newest and best window coverings now on the market is a sturdy, yet dainty, net known as Oxford cross. This comes in a delightful sunshiny effect, the main threads being a golden cream, but an occasional thread of dull rose or blue being woven into the mesh.

Can't Look In

These curtains are practical for the whole house, and while being almost unbelievably transparent to one indoors, they positively shut out all view of the house interior to anyone outside.

Overdrapes for summer should be simple and dainty rather than rich. Cretonne is always good style if the colors chosen are harmonious and their cool greens, restful browns and delicate yellows with soft gray and taupe and tan for backgrounds.

GENARO LOOKS FORWARD TO QUITTING RING

NEW YORK, March 30.—Fate almost decreed Frankie Genaro, the 21-year-old New Yorker who recently toppled Sambo Villa, the champion, off his American heavyweight throne, that it would be difficult for many people to look at the bundle of energy that is Genaro, with his boyish, smiling face, showing two front teeth broken off, and not wonder if he weren't in his first long trousers. Frankie, however, a veteran of 30 professional ring battles, is the father of two children, Marie, 2, and Anthony, 1. He was married when he was 17.

His father died when he was young and Genaro went to work driving a butcher's delivery wagon. His slight build and knowledge of the nag he rode prompted a friend to suggest that Frankie try jockeying for a living.

But after two days at the track at Coney Island he was thrown off the horse for beating several other jockeys into submission. As the Paulist fathers look after an athletic club named in their honor Father Morris suggested that Genaro try boxing.

It was a success from the start. Nick Florio, a club trainer, took pains with Genaro and within a year and a half had his protégé in shape to represent the United States on its boxing team at the Olympic games. He won the world's amateur title for his country, defeating J. Divo, of Denmark, in the final bout.

Upon his return to the United States Genaro became a professional, and after three years has reached all but the top rung of his class; the world's title is held by Jimmy Wilde, of England.

Still one of his mother's financial supporters, the new champion is anxious, he says, to hurry through his boxing career, win the world's title and take the lucre that goes with it, and then sit down and think up something for a business man to do.

CANDIDATES FOR ELECTION BOARD

It is expected Mayor John J. Donovan will announce an appointment to the board of election commissioners tomorrow, the day on which the term of J. Ormer Allard, clerk of the board, expires. His Honor had nothing to say on the matter today except that every candidate in the field is bringing a great deal of pressure to bear in an effort to land the place.

In Section 115 of the Acts and Resolves of 1921, relative to the election commission, it says: "The mayor shall in February or March of 1922 and every year thereafter appoint one member of the board for a four-year term."

243 MILES AN HOUR IN PLANE

Maximum Speed for One Trip Was 281.4 Miles an Hour—Average 243

DAYTON, Ohio, March 30.—(By the Associated Press) Lieut. Lester J. Maitland, army aviator, winner of second place in the Pulitzer cup races at Detroit last fall, today will be declared holder of the world's airplane speed record, accomplished yesterday when he piloted a Curtiss racing plane over a one kilometer course four times at an average speed of approximately 243 miles an hour.

Maitland's maximum speed for one trip across the course was 281.4 miles an hour, the fastest any human has ever traveled, according to officials of the United States Army air service connected with McCook and Willard Wright fields here. In attaining this speed he was aided by the wind.

The record made by Maitland beats the previous record of 233.01 miles an hour held by Sadi Lecoq of France. As an official of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, Orville Wright, co-inventor of the airplane, is expected to certify Maitland's record today. The speed trials were held over the same field on which the Wright brothers perfected the first heavier-than-air machine. Shortly after Maitland established his record, Lieut. R. J. Maughan, winner of the Pulitzer races last fall, established a record better than that of Lecoq, when he averaged 236.5 miles an hour in four laps.

A new propeller, designed and built at McCook field, is said to be responsible in part for the record.

PRES. HARDING CONSIDERS FARM SITUATION

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 30.—Congress having moved, just before adjournment this month, to assist to a greater degree the agricultural and livestock interests of the country, President Harding, it was said today by members of his vacation party, is giving considerable attention to the farm situation.

The prompt selection of Henry M. Dawes of Chicago to be comptroller of the currency, which was announced last night, although it had not been expected for several weeks, was interpreted as an indication of the president's desire that the government render all possible aid to the farmers and livestock men.

As comptroller of the currency Mr. Dawes, who is a brother of Charles G. Dawes, a former comptroller and later budget director, will have supervision of the formation of the agricultural credit corporations provided for in the recently enacted Capper-Lankford-Anderson bill.

Pending the time when such credit institutions can begin to function, the war finance corporation will continue to make agricultural and livestock advances, and the policies to be pursued by this governmental agency were the subject of a conference here, this week between the president and Fred Starck, acting managing director of the corporation.

Mr. Starck is making a trip of in-

EXPECT HAGEN TO WIN NORTH AND SOUTH TITLE

PINEHURST, N. C., March 30.—Walter Hagen, American holder of the British open golf title, seemed certain today to have another title before nightfall—North and South open champion.

Having won various tournaments and broken sundry records in his leisurely tour northward toward New York, whence he sails in a month or so to defend his British crown, he started the big field in the 72-hole tournament here by doing the first 36 holes yesterday in 10-21, four strokes under par and seven ahead of his nearest competitor.

Investigation through southern states.

"I have found thus far on my trip," he said, "that agricultural conditions are rapidly improving in the south, and I believe that if the ravages of the boll weevil are not widespread in the cotton sections, not many applications for advances will be received from this section during the coming year."

"Conditions in both the cotton and livestock industries in the south and New Mexico have shown great improvement since the war finance corporation began to operate as indicated by the fact that nearly 60 per cent of the total advances of nearly $90,000,000 made in that section have been repaid, and this is about the average throughout the United States."

CONFERENCE OF HEADS OF RESERVE BANKS

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Although conditions bearing on the possible need for increased federal reserve rediscount rates, were generally admitted to have been discussed, the semi-annual conference of the governors of the 12 reserve banks appeared today to have developed no immediate prospect of an increase.

Beyond a formal statement issued with the concluding session of the conference yesterday in which members of the Federal Reserve board participated setting forth that credit conditions among other matters concerning the Reserve Bank operations had been discussed, the governors themselves declined to disclose the views expressed on present inflation tendencies.

That attention had been given, however, to the possible need for increased rediscount rates should this condition continue was indicated by the board's statement that members had discussed with the governors the conditions of reserves open market rates for various classes of paper and credit demands at the present time.

Deliberations at the concluding session also dealt with amendments to the board's regulations now being drafted to carry out provisions of the new farm credit act, these amendments being indicated as in general of a perfunctory nature.

RICH MAN DIES OF BULLET WOUND

F. W. Burnham, Wealthy New York Contractor Shot by Girl Who Killed Herself

Tragedy Believed to Have Followed Girl's Discovery That Man Was Married

NEW YORK, March 30.—Frederick W. Burnham, 44, a contractor, socially, financially and professionally prominent, died early today, the victim of a gun in the hands of Miss Helene Zeigler, 26, daughter of a well-to-do Riverside Drive family, who shot herself dead after having mortally wounded Burnham in his office late yesterday.

The tragedy was believed to have followed the girl's discovery, after a 10-year friendship with Burnham, that the contractor was married. After having lunch with Miss Ida Murphy, a girl friend, Miss Zeigler went to Burnham's office in the Grand Central Terminal yesterday but he was too busy to see her. The girl returned two hours later, when the terminal was thronged with commuters. Then Miss Zeigler gained access to the office and Miss Murphy waited outside.

Miss Zeigler was inside 15 minutes when H. S. Cox, the employee who had admitted her, and Miss Murphy outside, heard two shots. Miss Murphy ran away and disappeared. Cox summoned M. E. Ames of Yonkers, one of Burnham's superintendents, who he left the office a short time before. Mr. Zeigler found the two on the floor. Miss Zeigler was dead. A pistol wound her right temple, a small hand. Dr. Finger in her clenched hand. Burnham was shot in the right temple. He was still breathing. He died at Bellevue hospital at 1 o'clock this morning without having regained consciousness.

Twenty Million Women and Girls In Europe Denied Husbands and Homes

By MILTON BRONNER
NBA Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1923, NBA Service, Inc.)
LONDON, March 30.—Nearly 20,000,000 girls and women in Europe are doomed to die old maids.

They are sentenced to sex-starvation; no husband, no home, no motherhood.

It's a situation without precedent in history. It's the biggest human interest story in the world.

Yet governments whose eyes it, statesmen and politicians ignore it, reporters and authors avoid it. It's too vast in all its aspects—political, economic and moral—for them to grapple with.

There are 20,000,000 more females than males in Europe today because of the vagaries of the birthrate, the survival of more girl infants than boy babies, the depletion of men by war and the heavier toll of males taken by famine and pestilence.

These millions of so-called superfluous women are creating questions involving everything of fundamental importance: the sanctity and preservation of the home, the social and political equality of women, work and wages, and the next generation's heritage of good or evil.

In the British Isles the superfluous woman number 2,000,000. In Russia, 5,000,000.

Through the 10,000,000 sisters are scattered throughout the other countries.

Not only are there no legitimate mates for these 20,000,000 superfluous women but eligible young men are deterred from marrying by lack of work, cuts in wages, scarcity of houses, higher cost of necessities and threats of new wars.

The result is that a spirit of after-the-war recklessness pervades Europe. Men and women alike spend more of their wages, they are keener in pursuing pleasure, they are more defiant of the conventions and lax in their morals.

The male is supreme. At dances he has six girls to pick from, where formerly he had to compete for a partner. Everywhere you see many girls dancing together; hostesses giving balls have a hard time getting as many men as women.

A new type has developed: the paid male escort. In Paris, in Nice, even in Monte Carlo you'll see him dancing with well-to-do women of middle age while charming girls are waitresses. In every class of society girls will put up with almost any sort of a man for the sake of having him to go out with.

To make themselves companionable girls smoke, drink, bet and risk other indiscretions.

More children are being born out of wedlock than ever before. In England the increase has engaged parliament's attention, but the latest official figures show England least badly off in this respect.

Out of every 10,000 babies born, the number of illegitimacy was as follows:

England and Wales ..... 465
Scotland ..... 211
France ..... 879
Italy ..... 471
Belgium ..... 641
Holland ..... 213
Norway ..... 609
Sweden ..... 1494
Denmark ..... 1043

Throughout Europe is an increasing

movement to assist unmarried mothers and to give children born out of wedlock rights they never had before.

Maud Royden, the great British woman preacher, says:

"The right to motherhood is a claim based on the belief that the creative impulse is more—or more consciously—present in the sexual nature of a woman than of a man; and that in consequence the satisfaction of that impulse is to a great extent the satisfaction of a need which makes the disproportionate number of women in any country a real tragedy."

"I realize the quality of a civilization in which war and its accessories create an artificial excess of women over men and in consequence deprive many women of motherhood."

"To attribute the increase in illegitimacy to this yearning for motherhood is at least the charitable viewpoint."

Legislation has been undertaken in several countries including England, Norway, Sweden and Germany to require fathers to support children born out of wedlock and to make such children's right more broad and secure.

But France and the Latin countries are doing nothing along this line though legitimate births decrease while illegitimacy increases.

The various countries are striving in diverse ways to stimulate the birth-rate among the married. In France, for instance, 53 business associations combine to pay a million employees bonuses for each child. Christiana, the capital of Norway, pays pensions to widows, women divorced or separated from their husbands and unmarried women who have children.

Single girls and women who must support themselves are finding it increasingly difficult to obtain employment or to hold jobs.

Millions were engaged in war work or in replacing men who went to war; the armistice, the return of the soldiers and the industrial slump threw the majority of these out of jobs.

Those that remained had to compete with men. They found the soldiers demanding their jobs back. Those that held their places found their pay cut. Many were given the choice of showing personal favors to unscrupulous superiors or seeking work elsewhere.

Laws passed for the protection of women workers proved a handicap to them; employers rather than comply with statutes requiring creature comforts, or forbidding night work discharged the women and hired men.

Willingness of many women to work for less than men demanded soon developed. This resulted in many instances in reduced wages for men supporting families. It kept single men from marrying.

Unquestionably thousands of women have died of starvation, or of diseases bred of hunger; but many others have taken "the easy way," with the result that divorce records, as in England, show more homes broken up by unfaithfulness of husbands.

The woman lucky enough to have a husband has to fight to hold him stand in the path of political progress of their own sex.

The law of supply and demand seems to operate here as elsewhere. The more women there are, the less the men can get for themselves.

So women politically have added little to the gains they made in the way of suffrage and equal rights before the war. They have less political influence, if anything, France, for instance, recently voted down woman suffrage.

In 40 or 60 years—after two or three generations—matters probably will readjust themselves. Europe's attitude despite the religious forces at work, seems to be very largely "let nature take its course."

JAPAN APPROPRIATES FOR ROADS
Tokio, March 30.—The Japanese government contemplates spending 300,000,000 yen, or approximately $18,000,000, during the next 3 years to improve the roads of the empire. This includes the new Yokohama-Tokio and Osaka-Kobe automobile roads now under construction, which will eventually form part of a main road connecting Tokyo, Yokohama, Nagoya, Kyoto, Osaka and Kobe, the width of which will be 30 feet near the cities and 30 feet in the country.

At present motoring is made difficult in Japan owing to the narrowness of the roads and the fact that they pass through thickly populated villages.

GERMANS SAVE POSTAGE STAMPS
BERLIN, Mar. 30.—One of the most popular forms of investment for Germans anxious to guard against depreciation of the mark has been the collection of postage stamps. Large sums have already been spent in this way by the well-to-do, and the stamp business in Germany has made new records.

The German government has established an official department for stamp collectors, which supplies stamps to subscribers as soon as they are issued and attempts to revive as many of the old issues as possible for sale purposes.

DRUG STORES CLOSE WEDNESDAY EVENING

In view of the fact that the annual banquet of the Lowell Druggists association will be held next Wednesday evening, all the drug stores of the city will close at 7 p. m. on the evening of that day. The banquet committee of that day consists of William H. Noonan, Charles Devine and Frank Winer. Among the speakers who have already signified their intention of being present are State President Timothy Shea of Worcester and Attorney James C. Cavanaugh of Boston.

BODY OF MISSING WOMAN IN RIVER

BALDWINVILLE, March 30.—The body of Mrs. Christine S. Smith of Athol, who disappeared on the afternoon of Jan. 23, was found shortly before 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in Otter river, near the shore, a short distance above Baldwinville common. The search had been made for her.

The body was discovered by Earl C. Wilson, who is employed in construction work on the new high school. It was viewed by Medical Examiner Edward L. Sawyer of Gardner, who pronounced death due to suicide by drowning.

Mrs. Smith suffered a mental breakdown following the birth of her second child and had been under treatment in a sanitarium. She left the sanitarium and came here to be nearer her husband, Arlington Smith, who is a foreman in charge of construction on the high school.

On the day following her disappearance, searchers saw traces in the snow near the river's edge the words: "I can't make it. Good-bye, Arlie." Mrs. Smith was the daughter of Mrs. Parke B. Smith of the Millers River National bank of Athol.

LOWELL BOSTON COLLEGE CLUB

At a recent meeting of the Lowell Boston College club, it was decided to hold the annual dance in Associate hall on the evening of April 5, and the following officers were appointed to take charge: General Manager Timothy Tully; assistant general manager, Walter Shea; floor director, Fred Leary; assistant floor director, James Brown.

The Boston College dance is always looked forward to by the younger set of the city and is one of the most popular social events of the season. This year's affair is being planned with an enthusiasm which surpasses that of any previous year, and the officers feel assured that success awaits their efforts. The affair will be informal.

Modern Miracle Performed By World War Antiseptic

Zonite Clears Infection of Five Years' Standing From Throat of New York Child

Nothing in connection with the tremendous success of Zonite has given its manufacturers as much satisfaction as the letters which come to us in every mail describing the experience of the public with the World-War antiseptic.

The following report is from Mr. W. L. Larned, Vice President of The Ethridge Company, 23-25 East 26th Street, New York City.

"Our family has had two interesting demonstrations of the invincibility of Zonite. To us it is more than a name—more than 'something in a bottle'."

"For five years our little daughter has been afflicted with a baffling throat trouble. Its inception seemed to be rooted in the removal of her tonsils, for an aggravated and diseased condition dated from the operation which would not respond to either home treatment or expert medical skill."

"Everything humanly possible was done. But it became obvious to us at least that chronic bacterial infection had fastened on the child's throat. It was always red and inflamed and frequently coated with white, dangerous patches. This continuous inflammation produced a ragged throat-clearing habit objectionable to her and to those around her which was steadily growing worse."

"More as an experiment than anything else a solution of Zonite was made up and the child made to gargle her throat unfailingly three times a day. At the expiration of the fourth day the patches had disappeared, the inflammation gone and a healthy, normal throat purged of all infection had resulted."

"The throat trouble has gone, so has the irritation and its consequent habit of throat clearing. Naturally we are as grateful as we are profoundly impressed that there was much of the miracle in what took place."

"With all good wishes for the continued success of your remarkable product."

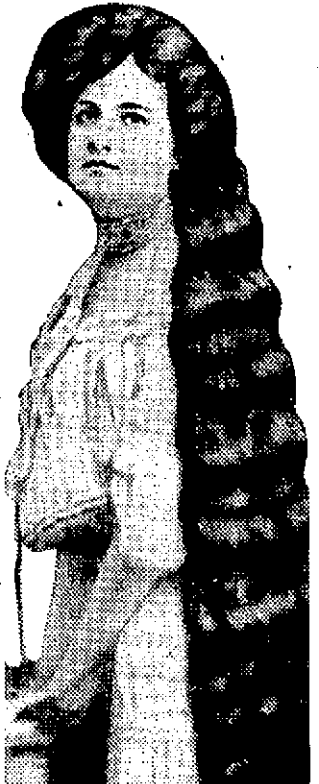

Very truly yours,
W. L. LARNED.

During the great war and afterwards in hospitals throughout the civilized world the form of antiseptic of which Zonite is an example has been working miracles in the hands of expert surgeons. The above letter indicates what this miracle fluid is accomplishing now that it is available for use in the home.—Ad.

rescuing occupants of the blazing ten-years. The dead firemen are Julius ements.

The fire was declared by Chief Ken-Jon to be the worst he has seen in V. Spanlar and William Alelio. Span-lar was instantly killed by the falling wall. Alelio, buried beneath the debris, was uncovered alive but died in Bellevue hospital without regaining consciousness.

The blaze started in a four story brick building occupied by a laundry and several paper box concerns. The flames spread to the five story build-ing occupied by the Triangle Sheet & Metal Co. In a short time both buildings were a mass of flames.

Twelve families in adjoining ten-ments fled in their night clothing. An explosion of gas blew a tottering brick wall into the street and buried a score of firemen.

At one time when it appeared the Bellevue hospital, a block and a half away, might be endangered by flames, the call was sounded for fire drills and nurses and physicians prepared to re-move the patients.

A Bellevue hospital ambulance was smashed by falling bricks and Dr. Elizabeth Wright, a Bellevue surgeon, was lightly injured.

A sudden shift in the stiff wind car-ried the flames from the blazing build-ings to the rear of the three story building occupied by the J. H. Tooker Printing & Lithographing company in East 27th street and this structure was wrecked.

When the fire was finally checked, six buildings and the two upper floors of a tenement had been destroyed. Early estimates of the loss ranged from $500,000 upward.

AUTHOR TELLS SOCIAL STORY OF CLOTHES

Have you ever thought of the social aspect of your clothes, outside of mak-ing a good appearance at a party or dance?

Few have, says Miss Katherine Ger-wick, author, and to introduce those who haven't to life behind the clothing industry she has written a book called "The Social Aspect of Clothes."

She takes her readers from the west-ern plains of the United States, the sheep farms of Australia or the great ranches of the Argentine, to the fac-

"MODEL AND BEAUTY" CONTEST MONDAY

Associate hall, on Easter Monday night, will be the center of attraction for the beauty of Lowell as the "Model and Beauty contest" will be held there on that evening.

Dancing will start at 8 o'clock and continue without interruption until 11:15, when a 15-minute intermission will be held. This first dancing period will permit the judges to select 20 girls as contestants in the voting contest. Each person attending will receive a ballot with twenty spaces, and each will vote for ten of the twenty chosen by the judges. Each contestant will be numbered and this will do away with any possibility of error in the voting. The girls receiving the great-est number of votes will receive suit-able prizes.

The judges will select the first 20 from the floor and the gallery and will not interfere at all with the dancing. The only break will be the 15-minute intermission held for voting purposes. Following intermission dancing will continue until 1 o'clock. Music for dancing will be furnished by Min-Doyle's orchestra.

Death Sentence Commuted (Continued)

garded that the evidence in the case of Monsignor Butchkevitch showed his direct treasonable connection with an enemy of the state.

The decision was signed by Presi-dent Kalinin and Secretary Sapronoff. It read as follows: "The court had fixed the guilt of Citizen Zepiak, who had been acting contrary to the in-terests of the working class, and to the fundamental gains of the proleta-rian revolution. By consistently di-rected action he had made use of the laws which guarantee equality for everyone's freedom of religion.

"These actions are very heavy crimes in the revolutionary republic which as before is surrounded by nu-merous enemies. There cannot or could not be another penalty except that which was fixed for Zepiak by the court.

"However, taking into consideration that Zepiak is the representative of such a religion, which at the time of the late czarist government and at the time of the Bourgeoisie republic was suppressed, application to him of a penalty very well earned might be in-terpreted by a certain backward el-ement of the Catholic citizens of soviet Russia, whose religious feelings he tried to exploit and direct as directed against the priests and their religion.

"We, therefore, as an exception from the penalty policy of the republic have decided to change the sentence fixed by the court to 10 years' impris-onment in strict isolation.

"As regards Citizen Butchkevitch, who in criminal activity on the ground of religion, combined very clear coun-ter-revolutionary action with a direct connection with an enemy Bourgeoisie state, and who used his position as a priest to carry on a direct and active state treason, the request for a re-prive is left without consequences."

"Hands Off" Says Soviet Press

MOSCOW, March 30.—(By the As-sociated Press) The newspaper Pravda says today that the Central executive committee "complying only with the revolutionary conscience and the revo-lutionary welfare" has commuted the sentence of Archbishop Zepiak.

The journal adds that the same standard could not be applied to Monsignor Butchkevitch because he "was the agent of the Polish govern-ment and carried on his activity, not because of religious fanaticism, as did Archbishop Zepiak, but in the inter-ests of a foreign state."

Both Pravda and Izvestia publish lengthy replies to the foreign protest against the sentencing of the Catholic prelates, sounding a general warning: "Hands off."

Izvestia interprets the activities of the Polish diet and the British par-liament as constituting clear inter-vention in the internal affairs of Russia. The newspaper gives notice that what-ever cover the counter revolution might take it always meets with a merciless repulse by the soviet regime.

"To the threats of the Polish premier, Gen. Sikorski," said Pravda, "we can answer 'Hands off.' Please do not think that you can to the slightest degree in-fluence the decisions of the soviet gov-ernment."

KICKED BY HORSE

John Anderson, a resident of this city, employed by John Brady, was kicked by a horse in Church street in front of the Church street garage shortly after noon today and sustained a painful injury to the left leg. The ambulance removed him to St. John's hospital.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Hollis Barton of this city and Miss Dorothy Dickinson of Chelmsford were married March 28 at the parson-age of the Chelmsford Street Baptist church, the officiating clergyman being Rev. A. B. Clarke. The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hickey.

CAT RESCUED

Humane society officials received a telephone call the other day to the effect that a cat was up a tree on Sooch street and couldn't get down. Mr. Baker of the society cranked up the trusty machine and dived his way up to Beech street and found that the telephone message had been cor-rect. The cat was about 40 feet up an elm tree and either couldn't or wouldn't come down. After a tour of inquiry throughout the neighborhood, he located a long ladder at the Var-num school and returned to the scene of activity. He finally got within reaching distance of the feline after a long and dizzy travel up the ladder and found that the cat did not treat him as a rescuer should be treated. After coaxing the cat for a while Mr. Baker finally managed to get it to the ground without receiving many seri-ous scratches.

If You Haven't a Poke Bonnet for Spring Wear—Get a Veil

By MARIAN HALE
If your spring hat is a poke bonnet, good. If it isn't, buy a veil—the hat doesn't matter!

To be sure, the poke bonnets are many and various. They range from tight little shapes with round brims cut off in back to daring styles that extend 12 inches or more beyond one's bangs.

They are made of all manner of straws and fabrics, no one of them more fashionable than another. What of the days when straw was the only thing one wore in summer and velvet the only winter wear? For the spring season of 1923 there are straws, tulle, felts and printed fabrics—and every single one of them is right.

Flair applique flowers are used for trimming dashing bows, trailing ribbons, small flowers and fruit. The brims of the poke bonnets are often lined with a color to contrast with that of the hat.

Green is popular.

coming second—then sand color and gray. What if you can't wear a poke bonnet? What if you're just letting your bobbed hair grow and it shows in wisps under the short edge of the hat?

Simple enough! You buy a veil. Not the veil of other years—cut off by the yard and sold for 50 cents.

These veils are alluring, clever, from the "mask veil" that just covers your face, leaving oval openings for your eyes, to the voluminous veil of silk mesh and heavy embroidery that drapes itself over your hat and falls in cascading drapes to your waistline. If you can wear a veil you must—and the gayer, giddier and more unusual it is the better.

Deley, agents of the department of correction, who took him to Lowell at the request of Elmer Giles, superintendent of the state prison camp in Tewksbury, from which institution Fafe is alleged to have wilfully and intentionally escaped on the evening of March 24. When taken into custody the prisoner displayed only minute symptoms of indisposition and it was not until some time after his confinement in the local station that the symptoms began to assert themselves to the fullest extent. He sat in his cell apparently resigned to his fate and calmly and mutely reviewed his humble surroundings. Suddenly he began to froth at the mouth and fell violently to the floor where he remained in a convulsive mood until eventually restored to partial consciousness by court officials.

Believing the man to be secure, he was left temporarily alone, and it was the vigilance of Officer Lamoureux on one of his occasional visits to the cell that prevented the possible suicide, for Fafe had removed his overalls and the lining of his coat, tied them in a knot and wound them around the cell door, and was in the act of placing the noose about his neck when the officer interfered. Without the least resistance, Fafe was subdued and sat back in his cell to await the arrival of a physician. If his condition warrants, he will be taken back to Tewksbury.

Fafe was transferred to Tewksbury some months ago from the New Bedford house of correction where he had been committed for one year on a conviction for breaking and entering and larceny. He has also served time in the Rhode Island state prison and the Springfield house of correction.

Girl and Seven Cats in Ghost Mystery That Parallels the Famous Nova Scotia Case

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
LONDON, March 29.—Ghost experts are at loggerheads. They can't agree about the Scrimshaw spook. Weir and his uncanny happenings in Joseph Scrimshaw's farmhouse in Cambridgeshire, paralleling the famous Nova Scotia case that stirred America a year ago, still remain a mystery.

Night after night, always after 12, these things happened: Chairs toppled over. Tables moved. Crockery fell and broke. Pictures fell from their pegs. The 400-pound piano did a jazz from one side of the room to the other. Chests of drawers fell and spilled the contents. A clock that had not run for years suddenly ticked and tolled seven.

Espiritualists, experts in witchcraft and representatives of the London psychical research society descended upon the farmhouse. They held seances, kept all-night vigils, and questioned Scrimshaw, his aged mother, and his 16-year-old daughter, Olive.

Still the mystery of the haunted farm remains unsolved. The spiritualist stop for a while and then begin again.

Three different kinds of ghosts have been "seen," spiritualist investigators say:

A little old man with white hair carrying a brown jug.
A woman with bandages around her head.
A tall, dark young man, supposed to be a dead relative of Scrimshaw.

"Never had such a relative," said Scrimshaw. "I'm a churchman and I don't take stock in ghosts and seances."

The farmer takes the entire affair phlegmatically and refused to consider seriously a letter signed Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, famous novelist and lecturer on spiritualism, suggesting that the daughter, Olive, might be the unconscious agent of vapory forces described as "mischievous children of the psychic world."

Olive, who owns seven cats, was heard by investigators to utter a sharp cry at the same moment that heavy rumbling was heard in another bedroom. But she declared she had slept soundly.

Neighbors are keeping clear of the haunted house. Sightseers from London call the weird pranks a hoax, and point to the statement of a woman spiritualist who declared the ghost of her little man with the brown jug came to her kitchen window next door, said "boo!" and promptly vanished.

LOVE QUADRANGLE SEEN IN DEATH OF FIREMAN

By NEA Service
CHICAGO, March 29.—In the shooting of a city fireman here police believe they see the climax of the most unusual love plot with which they have ever dealt—not a triangle but a quadrangle.

Michael McGinnis, the fireman, is dead from a revolver shot. Annabelle McGinnis, his widow, and Miss Myra Ploch, her sister, are being held without bail booked on a charge of murder.

And two youths, Francis Nee and Charles Schade, both 18, are held in $10,000 bail as accessories.

At the coroner's inquest Mrs. McGinnis testified the shot that killed her husband was fired in self-defense when he sought to attack her. As a result of this testimony, both women were released after the inquest.

When police questioned the two youths, however, the women again were taken into custody on the strength of the boys' statements.

With these statements and other evidence, police will attempt to prove Mrs. McGinnis and Miss Ploch shot McGinnis in order that the two women, untroubled, might enjoy the love of the two youths—Miss Ploch that of Nee and Mrs. McGinnis that of Schade.

MYRA PLOCH (ABOVE) AND MRS. ANNABELLE MCGINNIS (BELOW).

They use, and they pay them a wage.

"The cure for this evil of monopoly is a reversal of the whole procedure, and an attempt again to scatter private property and to create as many small owners as possible."

"It seems extraordinary that there is no organ of opinion to express this idea, and all the more because it is the most sane and simple and ordinary of all human ideals. There is nothing particularly faddish about saying that a field should be of reasonable size, or that the family farm should belong to the family."

CHESTERTON PREPARES TO COMBAT MONOPOLY

LONDON, March 29.—Gilbert K. Chesterton, the author, is going to start a new weekly magazine to combat monopoly and support his stand for scattered property with as many small owners as possible. "There is no organ today that presents this view," Mr. Chesterton explains. "and there should be one."

"I think that the modern evil is monopoly," Mr. Chesterton continues. "My objection to socialism is that it is really only the culmination of capitalism, and my objection of capitalism is that it is likely to turn into socialism, because what they have in common is that they both make wealth impersonal and centralized."

"The point is that both forms in the modern world, and particularly the industrial world, tend to keep power in the centre, because either in the form of socialist officials, as in Bolshevik

DONAHUE THE GREATEST EVER, SINCE MATTY

By NEA Service
ORLANDO, Fla., March 30.—"The greatest pitcher that has broken into the National league since the days of Blawie."

The greatest replica of "Big Six" I ever expect to see. He reminds me of Matty every time I see him wind up. There is ease and grace to every motion.

The remarkable thing about that fellow is that he stepped right from the college diamond to the big league, a finished pitcher.

There you have the opinion of Joe Tinker, relative to Pete Donahue, star pitcher of the Cincinnati Reds. It was an unsolicited testimonial as Donahue was busy pitching in batting practice.

Pete Donahue is the youngster who joined the Reds several years ago direct from Christian Brothers college in Texas and won fame overnight. After his first game he was voted a star recruit, a real big leaguer, and he has since lived up to that reputation.

Donahue is expected to carry much of the Cincinnati pitching burden this year. He is a trifle heavier than last year, which is good news to Manager Moran, who would like to add even 15 pounds more to his star pitcher's weight, well realizing that Donahue has a busy season ahead of him.

"A great pitcher and a fine boy," is Manager Moran's slogan of Pete Donahue.

EAST VS. WEST IN WRESTLING MEET
AMES, Ia., March 30.—The East and West, ancient foes of the gridiron, diamond and truck, will meet here tonight in what was regarded as another test of athletic supremacy between the two sections.

Iowa state has won every dual meet entered this season.

AL MELLO MAKES HIT

Lowell Boy Put Up Great Battle in Amateur Bout—Award Not Popular

BOSTON, March 30.—"Red" O'Grady, champion of the U.S.S. Florida, had the battle of his life in the final of the 147-pound class last night at the Boston hotel of Elks amateur tournament, when he clashed with Al Mello of Lowell.

In the first round, after an exchange of blows Mello knocked O'Grady through the ropes. The second round also went to the Lowell boy, but in the third O'Grady, who appeared to be the stronger, went to the front.

While O'Grady received the decision, many of the spectators thought Mello should have been given the award.

Twelve bouts were staged and there were five knockouts. There was also an exhibition bout between Sam Fuller and Young Spark Plug Belmont of the North End, a comedy affair of three rounds which the large gathering enjoyed.

The results in the finals of the five classes follow:

112-pound class—Sam Fuller, Boston, beat Johnny Vaca, Newton, in three rounds.

118-pound class—John Moore, North End, beat Joe Moore, Allston, in one round (knockout).

126-pound class—Terry Parker, North End, beat Vincent Donovan, U.S.S. Florida, in two rounds (stopped).

135-pound class—John Larkin, Watertown, beat George Cassell, Charlestown, in three rounds.

Will File Claim for $15,000 For Failure of Pitcher Holling to Report

BOSTON, March 30.—The Boston American league club will file a claim for $15,000 from the Detroit club for the failure of Pitcher Carl Holling to report, according to advice from Hot Springs, Ark. Holling was traded to the Red Sox with Pitcher Howard Blunk and Babe Hartman in exchange for Sox Captain Del Pratt and Pitcher Rip Collins. Holling was informed the Red Sox that he preferred to stay in California and play independent baseball.

At the St. Petersburg training camp of the Braves the team was hard pushed yesterday to defeat the St. Petersburg Saints in a 11-inning contest. Jocko Conlon, former Harvard captain, figured in the victory, going into the game in the sixth inning and singling in the 11th to score the winning run.

Wheat Rejects Contract
NEW YORK, March 30.—Zack Wheat, veteran Robin outfielder and star slugger, today generally conceded to have lost his final chance to sign up with the Brooklyn club because of President Ebbets' refusal to add to his last year's salary, which was $3800.

The Robins left Clearwater, Fla., yesterday for the north and Wheat was left behind. Wheat told his erstwhile mates that he would return to his "hole, Mo., home today if Ebbets hadn't changed his mind on the salary advance by nightfall. Ebbets has also refused to accede to Wheat's request for a two-year contract at last year's salary.

Two of the Yankees' young pitchers went down under a bit fusillade delivered by the New Orleans Pelicans at New Orleans yesterday, losing their game, 10 to 2.

Babe Ruth cheered up the American champions, however, by lifting one for a home run.

The Giants, who yesterday remained idle because of continued rain at San Antonio, will depart tonight for Dallas, where they will meet the White Sox Saturday and Sunday.

All this week the athletes have been kept from the ball park either by rain or cold. The game with the New York National league club at San Antonio was called off yesterday because of rain.

BROWN PITCHER IS STRIKEOUT WONDER

By NDA Service
BRADENTOWN, Pa., March 31.—The experts in discussing my club are overlooking one of the best bats among my recruits, Pitcher Fred Wigington," says Branch Rickey, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Wigington is a big husky right hander, who pitched for Hastings in the Nebraska State League last year. With a club that finished third in the first half of the pennant race, with a percentage of .377, Wigington managed to win 18 and lose 11 for an even big mark, and fifth in the second half with a percentage of .377. Wigington managed to win 18 and lose 11, for an average of .221, far in advance of his club's record.

However, the most remarkable feature of Wigington's work was his strike-out record. Working in 261 innings, he struck out 280 men, an average of better than a man an inning, a truly remarkable performance, that stands out as the banner feat for the year in this respect in organized ball.

While Wigington lacks experience, and may not prove to be of any great value to the Cardinals this year, he looks like a great prospect.

Manager Rickey has turned Wigington over to the veteran catcher, Joe Judge, who, like Rickey, expects great things of the husky youngster as soon as the rough spots are polished off.

It is the intention of Rickey to work Wigington in the spring exhibition game so that he can get a good line on the big fellow. It is expected that he is almost certain to be carried among the select 25.

GAME TRANSFERRED TO SHAWSHOEN

Because of the soggy condition of the playing field at Forge Village, the scheduled soccer game for tomorrow between the Abbot Worsteads and the Shawshoens has been transferred to Shawshoens. The contest is one in the state cup series and the play-off of a scoreless tie engaged in between the two teams last December.

PRACTICE BY COLLEGE TEAMS
CHICAGO, March 30.—Baseball practice in the western conference starts off in major league style today. The University of Illinois squad, invading the south for a series of games with leading university teams, is scheduled to play its first game, meeting the Mississippi A. & M. at Starkville, Miss. Illinois will play eight games in the south.

Wisconsin which is also expected to be a strong contender for "Big Ten" honors, will start a trip through the south next week, while Michigan, always a dangerous entry for diamond honors, will invade Dixie for practice games April 6.

SARAZEN HAS 18 CLUBS
IN GOLF BAG

Golf experts tell you that it is foolish to carry too many clubs in your bag. Most of them say that a half dozen is plenty. Others stretch the figure to 12, allowing for duplication of certain clubs in case something should happen to your driver, brassie or mid-iron.

Most professional players say that the amateurs are too fussy about their clubs, that the moment they go bad they blame the slump on the clubs rather than their poor playing. Of course such a system makes business good for the club professional and they really shouldn't offer any advice to the contrary.

While most of the leading professionals insist that a club is only a pa around, few of them live up to the doctrine they preach. The next time you attend one of the big tournaments count 'em.

At a recent tournament in the south, it was noted that Champion Gene Sarazen had his club weighted down with 18. When some friend commented on the number, Sarazen replied: "The boy is traveling a bit light today, four sticks are in my club house locker."

In golf you hear a lot of things that don't mean what they seem to.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Willie Stars sent in the following announcement:
Springing, Editor, Lowell Sun.
The Willie Stars, who claimed the 16-17 year-old championship last year by defeating the Belmonts, the only boys' champions, three out of five games, have reorganized and are out to meet the best in the state at the age of 18.

This team which is composed of boys from the Ave is one of the fastest in Lowell, having won 42 out of 50 games played. They are now out to better this record.

Bill, who is a veteran, will do the receiving. Conter of the champion Green school team with 11 catches, a much sought-after youngster, will do the hitting. Ladham, a Vocational school star will hold down first base. Nowak, who will enter the Twilight league this year, will take care of the keyhole sack. Davey, to whom the Belmonts have made all kinds of offers to sign with them, will play short stop. Chase, of whom little need be said as he is well known, will take care of the hot corner. In left field is Tom Boyle, the most likely-looking youngster in the high school squad. Center and right field are taken care of by Hesdon and Cropper, two boys who have hung up some enviable records as fielders.

There may possibly be some change in this line-up as there are numerous candidates trying out for the team. Thanking you for your valuable space, I remain yours
EDWARD BELL,
Manager, Willie Stars.

Billy Evans Says Pittsburg Club
Will Make Giants Step Some to Win

HIMSELF, ONE OF TEAM'S MAIN STAYS, THE OTHER PLAYER IS DAN TAYLOR, A YOUNG OUT-FIELDER.

HOT SPILLING, ARK. March 30.—Mingling with the Pittsburg Pirates takes you back to the good old college days.

Enough musical equipment to outfit a jazz orchestra is carried by the Pirates. Several of the boys finger a moon bango and guitar, while there are enough good voices on the club to shame some of the highly touted quartettes that are playing big time.

Manager Bill McKechnie is strong for music. Bill has a fine voice himself, and is a much sought after individual when the athletes get ready to put on some close harmony.

Once upon a time, not so long ago, there existed a rumor that the Pittsburg club was honeycombed with cliques, that discipline was a lost art, and that training rules were made to be laughed at.

Pirates One Happy Family
Possibly such a condition once existed, but no more. The Pirates are one happy family. On the training trip, with the day's grind over, music forms the chief recreation of the athletes. A dozen of the players take an active part, and the music bath such charms that the others stick around to listen.

There are no specific rules on the Pittsburg club. It doesn't seem as if any are required. McKechnie is a real manager. The players are strong for him.

In return McKechnie simply puts it up to the players to behave themselves, emphasizing the fact, however, that the player who fails to do so will suffer, not only because he has affected his own play but more so because his selfish actions have injured the chances of his teammates, who are giving their best efforts.

Kind Words for Schmidt
The Pittsburg club is going to be very much in the National League race during the coming season. First, because the Pittsburg team is a real pennant contender. Second, because every man on the club will be giving his best efforts. Third, because the team is sure to get commonsense management.

McKechnie is a level-headed chap who served his apprenticeship with the players, is able to get on a level with them and still retain the so-called dignity of the manager.

For several years the sport sheets have featured Walter Schmidt in many a story. True, Schmidt has often played the role of a clown. A clown, however, does not mean that a player is a bad actor. When a player refuses to sign and thereby becomes a headline, it is merely difference of opinion between club and player as to the value of the athlete.

Tel Schmidt has often been painted as a disturber, a player who always took the opposite view to that held by the manager. I would say that such criticism was decidedly undeserved. Certainly no player is working harder, and no player is accomplishing more, Schmidt is a finished catcher. It is impossible to compute his value in developing young pitchers aside from his regular work.

No Change in Lineup
The Pittsburg club has close to 50 ball players at the Springs, yet it is doubtful if any of them will cause the Pirates manager to shift his lineup of last season.

The catching will be looked after by Schmidt, Gouch and Jannard, with two collegians, Warwick and Mattox, as great outfield prospects.

The infield will have Grim at first, Tierney at second, Maranville at short and Traynor at third. In the outfield will be Biggs, Russell and Carey. Barnhardt will be ready for utility infield roles, while Cuyler is a great outfield prospect.

The pitching burden will fall on last year's staff. The only new recruit who looks as if he would be able to step right in and help out is Koontz, secured from the Sacramento club of the Coast League. Owner Drayfus had to bid high for Koontz, and Manager McKechnie says that present indications make it seem the money was well expended.

Traynor Real Star
I certainly was impressed by the work of third baseman Traynor. While Traynor did good work for the Pirates last year I look for him to do it much better the coming season. Traynor is a remarkable fielder and a dangerous batsman. He is fast and strong. In a year or so I look for him to be one of the most discussed players in the National circuit, a real star.

The Pirates are a constant contender without a question. Some of the experts are trying to belittle the punch of the club by saying "Red" Russell won't hit left handed. That is a mistake. True, Ted will take more liberties with the right handers, but the southpaws will find him anything but soft.

New York will have to keep stepping all the way, or McKechnie's ambition to win a third pennant and world series will certainly be checked.

TEXTILE SCHOOL
BASEBALL TEAM

The lumbering up process for candidates for the Lowell Textile school baseball team has been going on steadily under the direction of Coach Bob Wiley and the mill men are looking forward to a successful season. Thirty-five candidates have been practicing daily in the cage and it is hoped that the weather man will be kind enough to permit of out-door practice before the opening game of the season with Holy Cross on April 11. The campus pasture will be put in shape as soon as possible and the candidates will then have ample opportunity to show their real stuff.

The following are considered the best prospects for berths on the coming season's nine: Farwell, Blanchard, Finkel, Channing, Woods, Fowler, Cannell, Duguid and Joy, pitchers; Olson, Gilman, Bradshaw, and Robinson, catchers; Haslin, Martins and Johnson, first basemen; Mitchell, Sweeney, Carr, Stanton, Ryan, K. Smith and Harmon, second basemen; Capt. Matheer, third basemen; McKinstrey, Sullivan, Pierce, Belham, Duncan and others, outfielders.

MUST HAVE BOX OR SLOT TO GET MAIL

Postmaster DeJelle stated today that 95 per cent. of the homes in this city are already equipped with mail boxes or slots such as are required under the ruling of the postmaster-general that went into effect on March 11. Since that time there have been only about 200 letters returned because of non-compliance with this rule.

Those who have not erected boxes or slots are mostly of foreign extraction and several of these letters which shall ultimately find their way to the dead letter office are for these folks and are from the home-land, and are their only connecting link between relatives in Europe and those who have travelled far into this land of promise. Many of these people have stated that they do not get any mail and therefore do not need a box, but when they realize that mail includes letters from their mother country they will also comply with the regulations.

"LEFTY" WILLIAMS IN

CHICAGO, March 30.—Claude Williams, formerly pitcher for the Chicago American League club, was in a grave condition from pneumonia at a hospital here early today. He was passed in a state of coma from which it was feared he would not be roused.

The major league career of Williams with Holy Cross and the 1919 world's series became known. Before his banishment from organized baseball, Williams added the White Sox, Boston, Cubs, and several league championships.

HAIR GROOM
Keeps Hair Combed

Even obstinate, unruly or shaggy hair stays combed all day in any style you like. "Hair Groom" is a dignified, combining cream which gives that natural gloss and well-groomed effect to your hair—that final touch to good dress both in business and on social occasions.

Greenhouse, stainless "Hair-Groom" does not show on the hair because it is absorbed by the scalp, therefore your hair remains so soft and pliable and so natural that no one can possibly tell you used it.—Adv.

MANY VISIT CHURCHES DEATH IN FLORIDA OF VASILIOS GIAVIS

Holy Thursday Observance—
Mass of Pre-Sanctified
This Morning

Following an ancient custom, the Catholic churches of the city were the scenes of constant visitation yesterday afternoon and last night, visits being made to the Altars of Repose, where the Blessed Sacrament was taken following the masses on Holy Thursday, and remained until the mass of the pre-sanctified this morning.

With the growth of this act of devotion the pastors of the various churches year after year have beautified the special altars and those of yesterday were no exception, the sanctuaries being elaborately dressed with electric and candle lights, with magnificent draperies hanging, while Easter lilies, cut flowers and potted plants were abundantly used in the decorative scheme.

Maundy, or Holy Thursday derives its name from the first word of the office of the washing of the feet, "Mandatum," and is celebrated with solemn services in all Catholic churches. Yesterday a solemn high mass was celebrated in most of the churches, while the evening was devoted to a sermon on the institution of the Blessed Sacrament and the solemn and impressive chanting of the tenebrae.

Good Friday exercises in the churches this morning consisted of the mass of the pre-sanctified, the reading of the three acts of lessons by the priests at the altar, the veneration of the cross, first by the priests and then by the congregation. This evening, the office of the tenebrae will again be chanted, and tomorrow, Holy Saturday, the consecration of the new fire and the blessing of the paschal candle will take place, and mass will be offered.
